Foreign Aid to Help National Economy, Treasury Chief Says

Dillon Urges $8.8 Billion Development Loan Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon promised today that 80 percent of the economic portion of President Kennedy's $4.8 billion foreign aid program next year will be spent for U.S. goods and services.

Instead of the program having an adverse impact on the United States balance of payments situation, Dillon told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, this policy will have "an increasingly favorable effect" on it.

Dillon gave full backing to Kennedy's five-year, $8.8 billion program for economic loans abroad as an "essential tool" of American foreign policy. He strongly championed its financing by borrowings from the treasury.

The development loan program is a key feature of the foreign aid bill.

Asks Authority for Loans
Kennedy is asking authority to borrow $900 million from the treasury for the economic development fund for the first year. He also wants authority to re-lend an additional $300 million from repayments on prior loans.

In addition, Kennedy seeks long-term authority to borrow $1.6 billion a year over each of the succeeding four years to replenish the revolving fund and the right to use an additional $300 million a year from loan repayments for re-lending.

The treasury secretary testified against a background of congressional demands for sharp cuts in the program and opposition among many to by-passing the congressional appropriations procedure for financing the loan program.

Dillon said that the country can afford spending $4.8 billion for foreign aid during the next fiscal year starting July 1, since it "amounts to less than 1 percent of our gross national product, a figure that is certainly well within the capacity of our domestic economy now and in the years ahead."

Not only will 80 percent of next year's economic aid be plowed back into the U.S. economy, Dillon said, but the preponderant part of all foreign aid, including the $1.8 billion asked for military assistance to allies, will be spent at home.

17-Year-Old Dies When Car Hits Culvert

Companion Coming From Reception

Eugene E. Liebergen, 17, died at 8:35 p.m. Saturday in a one-car crash on a town of Kaukauna road. He lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Liebergen, route 1, Kaukauna.

Another rider in the car, Joan Geenen, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Geenen, route 1, Kaukauna, was in shock and had bruises on the face and chest.

Liebergen's death was one of 12 fatalities on Wisconsin highways over the weekend. The state toll now is 321, compared with 302 on this date a year ago.

The Liebergen car veered off Farrell Road about four miles north of Kaukauna onto the grassy shoulder and smashed into a concrete culvert. It swerved in a circle, throwing Liebergen out, Outagamie County Patrol Sgt. George Elise and Patrolman William Block said.

Returning Home
The right wheel and left side of the auto were sheered off. The steering wheel was bent and windshield shattered.

The two apparently were returning home from a wedding reception near Freedom, Outagamie County. Coroner Bernard H. Kemps was told.

Liebergen died in an ambulance en route to Kaukauna Community Hospital. The body was taken to

Fire Destroys 2 Oconto Buildings

OCONTO (AP) — Fire swept through two buildings in Oconto's business district early today, destroying one and badly damaging another. Oconto Fire Chief John Reed was overcome by smoke while directing firemen from Oconto and nearby Peshtigo who battled the blaze for more than six hours.

The blaze, discovered at 2:52 a.m., leveled the two-story frame building occupied by the Oconto Milling Co., a feed firm, then spread to the adjoining two-story structure housing the Rasmussen Furniture Co.

There was no immediate estimate of the loss or the cause of fire.

Reports to Macmillan on Discussions in Vienna With Premier Khrushchev

LONDON (AP) — President Kennedy today told British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of the Vienna summit talks. He arranged to give the American people a radio-television report tomorrow night.

The President's talks with Premier Khrushchev at Vienna, ending last night, brought an agreement to maintain East-West contacts but limited results otherwise. Today communist delegates to the Geneva conference on Laos continued to brush aside talks about cease-fire violations despite the announcement that Kennedy and Khrushchev recognized the importance of an effective truce in the Southeast Asia kingdom.

Kills Wife in Fit of Rage

Man Arrived Late
From Fishing Trip

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN (AP)—A 62-year-old man whose wife attacked him with a stick when he came home late from a fishing trip, shot and killed her Sunday, then turned the gun on himself and inflicted a fatal wound.

Leo Adams died at 7:25 a.m. today in Prairie du Chien Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Kathryn Adams, 57, the mother of five grown children, was shot in the face and killed by a single bullet from a .32-caliber revolver.

Adams, according to Police Chief A.C. Tichenor, had been fishing most of the day with Otto Hopkins, 52, of Clinton in Rock County who witnessed the shooting.

Portage County Man Perishes As Home Burns

STEVENS POINT (AP) — A Portage County man was burned fatally early today in a fire that demolished his farm home 12 miles northeast of Stevens Point. The body of Chester Liss, 40, was recovered from the smoking ruins at 8:20 a.m. by members of the Portage County Sheriff's Department.

The blaze was discovered at 5 a.m. by Albert Budzinski from his home on a farm about a mile away. He found the doors of the burning house locked and broke a first-story bedroom window.

Budzinski dragged Frank Liss, 57, out of the house and revived him. Both tried to get back inside to rescue Chester but could not fight past the flames.

A third brother, Benny Liss, was working and was not home at the time.

The Portage County forest ranger station sent a tanker truck to the scene. Police also helped fight the fire, which was extinguished at about 8 a.m.

The cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Truman Plans TV Programs

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman announced today that he will do a series of 26 one-hour television programs dealing with historic events of the present age and the period when he was President. "I will do the talking and I will be the show," he told a news conference. "I propose to illustrate and supplement my comments with films from many sources... adhering with complete fidelity to historic facts."

The taped shows will be produced by David Susskind and presented weekly.

Susskind said a sponsor has not been signed yet but he hopes the series can be started next February.

OAS Inquiry Dominican Official Offers Cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Dominican Republic offered its cooperation today to an inquiry by a committee of the Organization of American States (OAS) into conditions in that Caribbean nation.

The offer came from Dominican Foreign Minister Porfirio Herrera Baez at a meeting of a special, seven-nation committee of the OAS which discussed the situation behind closed doors.

No final action was taken by the committee.

Ambassador Augusto Arango of Panama, OAS Ambassador Arturo Morales Carrion, and Uruguayan Ambassador Carlos Clulow were named to confer privately with the Dominican foreign minister on a plan of operations for the special committee which would go to the Dominican Republic.

Group to Report
This group is to report back to the full committee late today when formal action is expected designating the special commission to the Dominican Republic.

The Dominican Republic indicated an urgent desire to cooperate with the committee by dispatching the foreign minister to Washington unannounced last night.

Mickey Cohen Aide Wounded From Ambush

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Mickey Cohen aide was wounded seriously early yesterday in a shotgun ambush outside a West Los Angeles bar.

Two blasts caught Max Tannenbaum, 49, in the face and neck. Doctors say he may lose his left eye and most of his teeth.

A police guard is stationed outside his room at the UCLA Medical Center.

Cohen is on trial here on charges of income tax evasion. In testimony at the trial last month Tannenbaum was mentioned as a Cohen associate.

Cohen declined comment on advice of his attorney, Jack Dahlstrom.

Dahlstrom said he could see no link between Cohen's trial and the shooting.

Goldfine to Serve Year, Pay $110,000

BOSTON (AP)—Industrialist Bernard Goldfine was ordered to prison for a year and a day and fined $110,000 today on charges of income tax evasion.

U. S. District Judge George C. Sweeney also placed him on probation for five years.

The judge put Miss Mildred Paperman, Goldfine's secretary, on probation for three years on a similar charge.

As a term of their probation, Judge Sweeney ordered Goldfine and Miss Paperman to disclose "all information of whatever character" on cash transactions of Goldfine's Strathmore Woolen Co. and his other textile firms.

He said more than $600,000 was taken in cash or checks written to cash from Goldfine's firms "and it is the intent of this court to compel disclosure of where this money is and where it went."

Goldfine was indicted for evasion of nearly $800,000 in personal and corporate income taxes. He pleaded guilty May 15. The judge today refused to allow withdrawal of that plea and to order a new sanity hearing.

Miss Paperman had pleaded guilty to evasion of $340,000 in corporate income taxes, as chief accounting officer of Strathmore Woolen.

Result of Tractor Deal

Public Opinion Turned Against Fidel Castro

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The prisoners for tractors deal has brought Latin American public opinion against Fidel Castro and has "profoundly shocked" Latin Americans who did not take Castro seriously before the trade offer.

This conclusion was voiced in an interview by Alexander A. Klieforth, who today started a new assignment as program director for the Voice of America. Klieforth, a 1940 graduate of St. Norbert College, was the commencement speaker at the college Sunday and received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

In the language of overseas public opinion, Klieforth said Castro's men for machines swap turned out to be "counter productive." This is an awful phrase, Klieforth acknowledged, but that was what happened in Latin America.

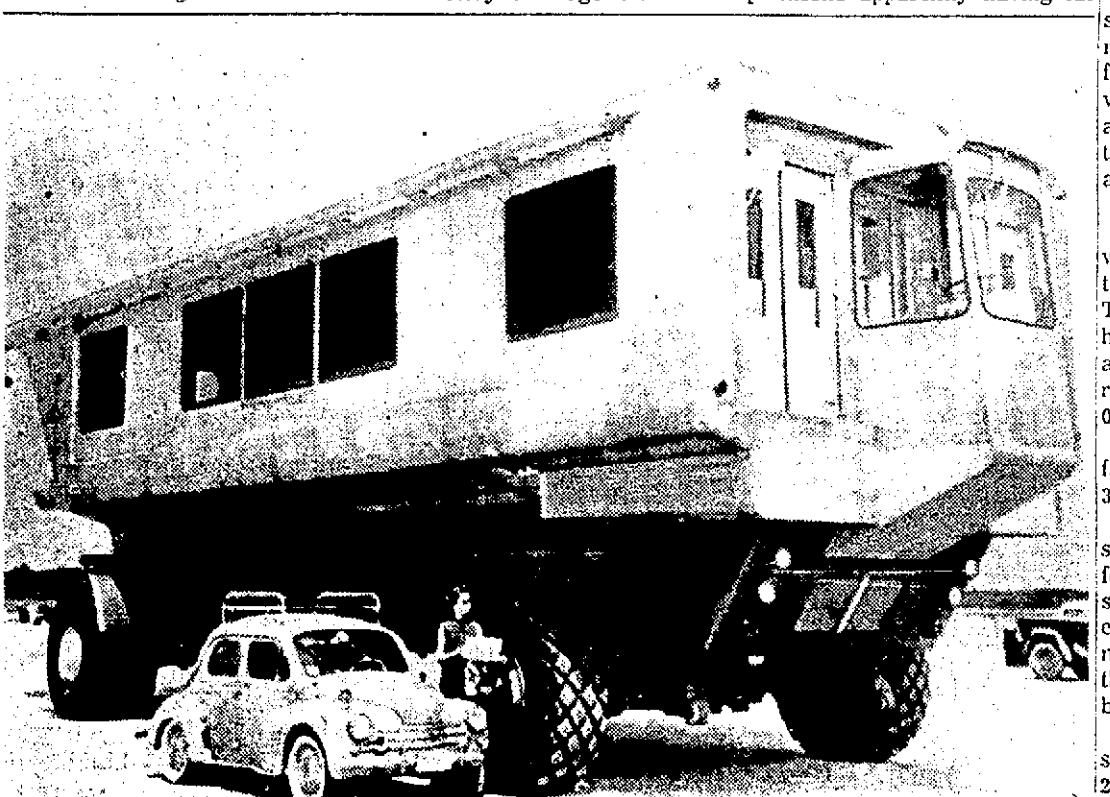

Fantastic Response
"The response has been fantastic. Dowagers are collecting money in the streets. That sort of thing is unheard of, even for local charities," Klieforth said.

The same reaction is being recorded in Europe, where the collection of money for tractors makes Americans appear "very generous contrary" to the headlines from Alabama," he said. Castro's trade offer came at a time when the United States was suffering in public opinion because of the Cuban invasion fiasco, he said.

New Era in Rocketry

Built-Up U. S. Missile May Have Thrust Up to 21 Million Pounds

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—More power capability than any U. S. scientists have opened a new era in rocketry with a built-up missile apparently having far

Two days ago the Americans successfully test-fired a captive rocket only 30 feet long and 8 feet 4 inches in diameter that developed more push than the giant Atlas and Titan missiles heretofore fired from Cape Canaveral and Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Built Up By Sections

The modest sized test rocket was made up of segments something like a sectional bookcase. The segment were stacked three high to make the total height about 30 feet, and the rocket was rated as developing nearly 500,000 pounds of thrust.

The Atlas and Titan, 60 to 90 feet high, developed respectively 360,000 and 430,000 pounds.

With the segmented technique, say the developers, a rocket 200 feet tall or even taller can be assembled, and it can be fattened enormously by clustering segments around each other and then piling up the clusters like building blocks.

They are talking now about assembling rockets right away with 12 million pounds of thrust, and about eventually producing assemblies with a total thrust of 21 million pounds.

Thrust is the rocketeers term for power, and it is mainly what this country needs to overcome Russia's lead in putting big payloads into space.

The term is difficult to define, but there is a rule of thumb which goes something like this: If a rocket is traveling at 360 miles-an-hour, each pound of thrust it produces adds about one horsepower to its strength. How this horsepower affects its range and velocity depends upon the size and weight of the projectile.

But 21 million pounds of thrust, the goal of experimenters here, or even the two million pounds they talk about as being available soon seemingly outclasses anything the Russians have.

There are no reliable figures from behind the Iron Curtain, but engineers at Aerojet General Corp., which produced the new segmented missile, have calculated that the Soviet rocket which put Maj. Yuri Gagarin into orbit may have been an assembly of six rocket motors developing a total thrust of about 1.8 million pounds.

Cheap and Safer
The test rocket differs from this country's biggest rockets in that it uses solid rather than liquid fuel. Solid fuel rockets have one particular disadvantage.

They cannot be turned off and on like liquid fuel rockets, but their power can be varied by using fuels that burn at different speeds in a given rocket.

An advantage over liquid fuel assemblies is that their solid loads into space.

Ike Urges Full GOP Attack on High Spending

Former President Sees Chance of Economic Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has urged Republicans to go all out in their attacks on what he calls the "fiscal irresponsibility" of the Kennedy administration.

In recent conferences here, the former president painted for party leaders a grim picture of consequences he said could stem from any inflationary spiral touched off by government spending. He said the result could be similar to the economic crash of 1929.

Eisenhower found an approving audience among Republicans of all shades of opinion for his budget-balancing rally calls. But how much the GOP members could accomplish in this field remained problematical.

Substantial Portion

Rep. William E. Miller, the party's new national chairman, conceded that President Kennedy is likely to get a "substantial portion" of his basic New Frontiers program through Congress.

Miller was asked by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a television program taped for New York stations Sunday if this was likely to put the government further in the red.

"Well," the chairman replied, "if his program is adopted for housing and for education and for depressed areas and for all these increases which he is proposing in the military and in economic aid and assistance, it's going to increase governmental expenditures in the next fiscal year well over $5 billion and would result, therefore, in a deficit of some $7 or $8 billion."

Increased Taxation

"This can result only in increased taxation or deficit spending which leads to inflation. There can't be any other answer to it."

In contrast to this, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, a former Eisenhower administration official, estimated the deficit for the year beginning July 1 at about $3.7 billion.

Dillon said on a television program with Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., the Kennedy administration is counting on a big increase in tax revenues eventually to balance the budget, take up the added costs of the New Frontiers program and to open the way to a tax cut.

Case and Williams were not so optimistic. They questioned

Marquette Grads Told to Continue Self-Education

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Marquette University's record 1961 graduating class of 1,254 was told Sunday to continue self-education in the quest for wisdom and virtue.

The Very Rev. Edward J. O'Donnell, university president, said, "It would be tragic indeed were you to turn aside now, were you to leave the paths that lead to wisdom because of a mistaken notion that your work will not permit you to complete your self-education, or that you can postpone your responsibility and resume it at a later, more convenient time."

Six honorary degrees were presented to the Most Rev. Egilide Vagnezi, Washington, D. C., apostolic delegate to the United States; Judge Mary H. Denlen of the U.S. Customs Court of New York City; Dr. Francis D. Murphy, Wauwatosa; Louis Quarles, Milwaukee; Ben Regan, Chicago, and Sir Hugh Scott Taylor, dean emeritus of the Princeton University Graduate School.

Mayor Wagner In TV Defense Of Government

Declares His Administration Has Been a Good One

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner and 23 of his city department heads appeared before television cameras for two hours Sunday night in an extraordinary election-year defense of his administration.

"I believe we have a good government," Wagner said near the end of the metropolitan area telecast from the studio of WNTA-TV in Newark, N. J.

Wagner, a Democrat who has not announced whether he will run in the Nov. 7 election for a third four-year term, will appear with his aides on the station again tonight to answer questions submitted by the public.

Lack of Foresight

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a Republican, recently accused the Wagner administration of "competency, indifference, indecision and lack of foresight."

In defense of his administration, Wagner said: "As mortals, we have possibly failed to achieve perfection. As mortals, we are not all-seeing, ever-present, ready to pounce with evidence whenever and whenever a faithless employee slips a surreptitious $10 bill into his pocket."

"But we have cracked down on that to the best of our or anyone else's ability. We have as clean a government, in aims and purposes, practices and results, as any at any level in this world."

Dr. John J. Theobald, superintendent of schools, said it is the policy of the board and himself to make public "the bad along with the good." He said he accepted responsibility for administration failures in the city school system.

Buildings Commissioner Peter J. Reidy said charges of dishonesty had been made against 90 of his staff of 1,200 inspectors, since he took office in 1958. Hearings have been held on 40 of these cases, he said, and 25 more hearings have been scheduled.

A taped appeal by a policeman, inserted into the TV program, asked the public not to judge all 23,500 members of the force by the dishonesty of a few.

Rockefeller has been active with city GOP leaders in working out a city election ticket, which is expected to be headed by State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz as the candidate for mayor.

Four Killed as Train Hits Car

SUWANEE, Ga. (AP)—The air-conditioned car's windows were closed to keep out the Sunday afternoon heat. They also kept out the blasts of a passenger train's whistle as it approached a crossing.

The train rammed the car, state troopers said, and dragged it about 60 feet down the track. The four passengers were killed instantly.

The victims, all Atlantans out for a pleasure ride, were identified as: Barron U. Wiggins, 42, his wife, Irene, 40; Cooper Cecil Welch, 52, and his wife, Wanslie, 49.

Senate, House Tussle With Housing Bill, Other Money Matters

Leaders See Mid-Week Passage For All Major Legislative Items

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House fixes its attention on appropriations bills this week while the Senate tussles with the administration's omnibus housing bill.

More than $20 billion ride with the measures, with passage seemingly certain.

There are two money bills up for early House action—$5.9 billion in annual appropriations for agriculture and an $8.4-billion catch-all money measure for a score of independent federal agencies.

House leaders look for passage of both by Wednesday.

Target date for final action on the housing bill, carrying more than $6 billion of loan and grant authority for a wide variety of programs, is late Wednesday or Thursday.

Thumbs Down

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., is managing the big housing bill on the Senate floor. He says he's confident the Senate will turn thumbs down on most of the Republican-backed amendments to trim the bill.

So far, Congress has been slow in putting over the 16 annual appropriations needed to keep the government in business for the next 12 months. These bills run over $80 billion. Five have cleared the House and only one of these has also made it through the Senate.

Aware of the heavy work load ahead, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, has abandoned hope of adjournment near the end of July.

In the Senate, there are these other scheduled items of business this week:

Hearings Tuesday and Wednesday by the Finance Committee on a highway bill to finance the interstate system. Aim to have

Nikita at Vienna Grave, Subdued

Far Different Man From One That Blew Up Paris Summit Conference

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN

VIENNA (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev of the Vienna summit was a far different man from the one who blew up last year's summit in Paris and made a shambles of a U.N. General Assembly session in New York.

The man who talked face to face with President Kennedy over the weekend was for the most part grave and subdued.

How Dangerous

Probably there were good reasons. Khrushchev came to Vienna for a specific purpose.

Diplomatic sources say his main purpose in seeking a meeting with the President of the United States was to have an opportunity to size up the young man who has taken over the leadership of the world opposition to Communist ambitions.

These sources add that the Soviet premier is likely to feel that he accomplished that mission. He talked with the President, and from the talks got a better idea of just how dangerous future Communist expansion by direct pressure may be.

Khrushchev also demonstrated with startling clarity that he is a man who is fully in control of himself. By his sober performance in Vienna he provided ample evidence that he knew just what he was doing when he took off his shoe and banged it on his table at the U.N. session last fall, and when he stormed and raged in Paris a year ago.

When it suits his purposes, Khrushchev showed, he can take on the appearance of a careful statesman, too.

Berlin Quarrel

One of the most significant results of the exploratory summit meeting here was the report that Khrushchev did not push urgently on the potentially explosive quarrel over Berlin.

Khrushchev has been threatening to take steps soon to sign a separate peace treaty with Communist-ruled East Germany and thus declare ended the rights of the allies in isolated West Berlin.

The Soviet leader's own words had made that a chief issue facing the two men. He had even indicated his own prestige was at stake in delivering on his promise to "normalize" Berlin.

But he probably found the young man from Washington stonily unyielding on that issue. Khrushchev seemed to have decided not to heat it up at this time. The Kremlin, it would appear, feels it can wait for a more opportune time, perhaps when the Western allies are more divided—perhaps when there is no De Gaulle of France nor Adenauer of Germany to help fashion a Western wall of opposition.

Simmer Down

The situation in the world has been extremely dangerous in recent weeks. The Kremlin may come to the conclusion that it is time now to let it simmer down a bit and thus remove the danger of explosion.

Khrushchev did express himself publicly as agreeing to the need for an immediate and effective cease-fire in Laos, where a Communist-sparked civil war has the nerves of all Southeast Asia on edge. But unless this promise is followed up by performance, it means nothing.

Kennedy Trip Helps Improve U. S. Image

mation agency program in West Berlin for two years, said Europe has the feeling of confidence in young leadership it had when President Kennedy replaced Dwight Eisenhower, despite the Cuban adventure. The president's trip last week confirmed this attitude, he said.

Voice of America now broadcasts news in 37 languages and prepares material for local stations in 62 languages. New emphasis is on programs for Latin America, the Far East, and Africa, including, Klieforth noted, African dialects for which there is no written language.

Report All News
Klieforth flinches at the use of the word propaganda, "because it is misused so much."

"We report all the news, even when it hurts. But we do a lot of backgrounding, explaining how this sort of thing came to pass. We explain and try to educate," he said.

The Communist propaganda program is so massive, Klieforth said, that our effort sometimes looks like a drop in the bucket. The Russian program is getting more subtle and particularly in the field of providing cheap books to people starving to read is bound to have an effect, he said.

"The Russians spend more for jamming the Voice of America than we spend on our entire information program," he said.

Best Message
In general terms, Klieforth said, the best message the voice has to broadcast is the opportunities provided by our system for personal improvement in education as well as material things.

Klieforth agreed the American institutions of free discussion and the free press make it a lot easier for the Russians in pointing out our troubles. The Russians lan spent nearly three hours mapping Western strategy in the East-West cold war. They dispensed with all advisers and officials for most of their high strategy session.

Better Understanding

It took place in an austere study in Admiralty House. Outside, American and British security men and London policemen kept a watch on a crowd which at one time numbered nearly 5,000.

The nub of the President's report to Macmillan, diplomats said, amounted to this:

The Vienna exchanges produced better understanding of the rival positions — but no firm agreements beyond a decision to keep on talking.

U S television networks and the mutual radio chain are scheduled to carry President Kennedy's report to the American people tomorrow night. He will speak from 6 to 6:30 p.m., central daylight time, from the White House.

Wednesday Kennedy is to address the U S Naval Academy commencement in Annapolis, Md.

The President, whose father was a target of bitter criticism as ambassador to Britain at the outset of World War II, had luncheon with Macmillan. Tonight he is receiving the highest hospitality the nation can offer, dinner with Queen Elizabeth II at Buckingham palace.

Other Guests

Guests at the luncheon include U S Ambassador and Mrs. David Bruce, the British foreign secretary, Lord Home, and the countess of Home, the chancellor of the exchequer, John Selwyn Lloyd; the British ambassador to Washington, Sir Harold Caccia; the British ambassador-designate to Washington, David Ormsby-Gore; and Prince and Princess Radziwill.

C of C Opposes New Tax Plan

Proposal Would
Foreign Investing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Council of the International Chamber of Commerce objected today to tax proposals it said would hamper private investment abroad.

In testimony prepared for the House Committee on Ways and Means, a council spokesman said administration proposals would limit sales of American products and endanger domestic employment.

Proposals for taxing foreign income on both corporate and individual levels represent "a serious backward step in our relations with the rest of the free world," said Fred W. Peel of the council.

Peel criticized particularly a ton tonight, Kennedy also will be godfather at the christening of the daughter of Princess Radziwill, Mrs. Kennedy's sister. The Kennedys stayed at the Radziwill home last night. Mrs. Kennedy is remaining in London for a week's visit with her sister.

Macmillan went to London airport to greet Kennedy as he arrived by jet with his wife from Vienna.

Heated by Cheers

"We had a long and varied journey, and it is a great pleasure to come to this ancient country," Kennedy said.

The beaming young President obviously was warmed by the cheers and waves of 250,000 Londoners who lined the 15-mile route from the airport.

Kennedy is no stranger to the British. He was constantly in and out of London while his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, was ambassador from 1938 to 1940.

According to diplomats in Vienna and London these are likely to be the highlights of Kennedy's rundown for Macmillan.

Berlin and Germany—No great crisis seems imminent. Khrushchev still wants a new status for Berlin in the absence of a peace settlement for all Germany. Kennedy warned that the allies will resist any Red threats or thrusts to rob them of their war-torn rights. Another East-West negotiation seems unavoidable.

Discussion on Laos

Laos—There was an exchange of new assurances that each side wants the torn kingdom neutralized, reunited, independent, pacified. But Kennedy thinks it's still up to the Reds to call off the shooting and so strengthen the cease-fire.

Banning nuclear tests and disarmament—The outlook is murky. Khrushchev favors combining the two sets of negotiations which in the past have been going on in parallel. He also wants a Communist-neutral-Western directorate of the control machinery, with each member having a veto. Kennedy insisted this was unacceptable.

East-West relations — Although there was little common ground, neither side seemed to have suggested its own position was unchangeable.

proposal he said would tax income of United States subsidiaries in developed nations—before the funds are repatriated.

Also criticized was a proposal to deny an income tax exclusion to United States citizens working in developed nations, and limiting this exclusion to a maximum of $20,000 in underdeveloped nations.

He said increased personal income tax liability would handicap the use abroad of highly trained top management personnel.

Should American firms fail to maintain their position in Europe, said Peel, their place will be taken by "European-owned companies which may not have the same affinity for American goods and services."

French Police Hunt Algerians As Terrorists

PARIS (AP)—Police threw a dragnet over three boroughs of Paris today in an effort to trace Algerians who took part in a shooting affray which claimed at least 11 lives this morning.

Police said 11 Algerians had been killed, four of them soldiers serving with the French army. Four other Algerians and five Paris policemen were wounded.

Eighty Algerians were questioned by police, then taken to a special detention center set up at Vincennes east of Paris.

The first attack came soon after midnight when Algerian commandos in two light trucks shot up a police car in the 13th arrondissement with automatic arms and grenades. Three police in the patrol car were wounded.

The attackers escaped into the subway.

An hour later a police car was fuel, mainly polyurethane plus some secret additives, is cheap (about $1 a pound) and safe for handling.

Another advantage is that the segments will be made in cylindrical shapes about 11 feet in diameter — a size that permits loading on freight cars or trucks. This means a train could transport enough material to build a rocket that would carry several men to the moon with enough equipment to establish a base there.

The test work at Aerojet is being done for the U.S. Air Force. Less than 100 miles away the United Technology Corp. also has successfully fired segmented fuel rockets, but in the shape of cones rather than cylinders.

This means the rockets taper off in diameter as their height is increased.

The Aerojet segment being cylindrical makes the finished rocket as large in diameter at the top as at the bottom, and it can be built up to 200 feet high for a 21 million pound thrust, say the developers.

attacked at the corner of the Boulevards Magenta and Strasbourg and two policemen were wounded. Then comrades opened fire and two of the Algerians fell dead after a chase among the trees along the boulevard.

The police shot down three more Algerians near the Bonne Nouvelle (good news) subway station further west.

California Beach Party Ends In Wild, Bottle-Tossing Riot

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A wild brawl ended a Saturday night beach party, planned for a few thousand rock 'n' roll fans, at which more than 25,000 showed up.

One girl was raped, another was beaten to the sand and stomped by rioters, and a third suffered a serious eye injury when a firecracker was thrown in her face.

14 Youths Arrested
Fifty sheriff's officers and highway patrolmen braved a barrage of rocks, beer bottles and cans to break up the mob. Fourteen youths were arrested.

Rioting members of the vast throng ripped plumbing out of public rest rooms and tore parts off lifeguard towers to build giant bonfires. Singer Fabian, who was to entertain at the party, refused to go on when it began to get out of control late Saturday.

A Los Angeles radio station, KRLA, planned the party. It was held at Zuma Beach, a county facility 20 miles north of here. The violence began as the formal party ended at 11:15 p.m.

"It was a milling, drinking, ugly crowd of 25,000 to 30,000 young people on the beach in the dark," said Capt. Kirby Temple of the county lifeguard service.

"They were fighting, shouting, grabbing girls, and tearing each other's clothes. You name it and they did it."

Blame Drinking

Law officers blamed the trouble on drinking. There was no race problem, they said. Most of the youths arrested were charged with drunkenness, bringing alcohol into a county park or juvenile possession of alcohol.

Herb Heiman, KRLA program director, said the trouble started when the program ended and the crowd didn't want to leave.

He blamed the riotous incidents on "a handful of toughies."

Man Stabs Husband of Former Wife

GAYS MILLS (AP)—A 36-year-old man broke into the bedroom of his divorced wife early Sunday and stabbed her new husband seven or eight times with a jack-knife. Crawford County Sheriff Brude Hutchins said.

James Johnson Jr., 35, was stabbed in the neck, chest and legs. He was taken to a hospital at Viroqua and then transferred to University Hospitals at Madison for emergency treatment. He was listed as satisfactory.

Hutchins said that Donald Lassie of Elgin, Ill., had signed a statement admitting the stabbing. Lassie told the sheriff he had returned several times to visit his former wife since they were divorced five years ago and did not know that she had remarried recently.

Lassie was taken into custody in Richland County and was held in the Crawford County Jail at Prairie du Chien.

5 Weather Records Established in May

It will be a cold day in May before Wisconsin experiences record low temperatures to compare with those recorded last month.

John Kurtyka, Wisconsin Michigan Power Company weather observer, today reported five new temperature records were established last month—the coldest May since 1954.

New Record
The 28 degree reading on May 1 set a new record for that date and tied the all time low reading for May established May 3, 1950 and tied May 7, 1954.

Other new record low temperatures were set on May 25, 26 and 27. It was during this three-day period that the coldest cold wave on record for that late in May hit the state and set new record low temperatures for most stations in Wisconsin.

On the other end of the ladder, according to Kurtyka, the 83-degree reading on May 13 surpassed the previous record of 82 set in 1949.

But it was, for the most part, a cold month. The mean temperature of 54 was 2.5 degree below seasonal normal.

Precipitation was light totaling 1.70 inches, 1.30 inches below normal.

The average wind velocity was 11.1 miles per hour with a peak of 35 miles per hour during the month's only thunderstorm on the 14th.

May contributed 346 heating degree days and 439 growing degree days, Kurtyka said.

Gen. Forrest Wouldn't Know Them

A creditable eyewitness to the brutal melee at the Montgomery bus depot identified a part of the mob as members of the Ku Klux Klan. The uniform seems to have changed. The witness indicated an open collar has replaced the bedsheet hood.

If the testimony is reliable, the Klan has come full circle with glaring mutations in the process although, with some distortion, its aims seem to be pretty much the same.

Brutal outrages have been so much of the pattern of what is called the KKK for so long that the genuine organization has lost its identification. In fact, the real Klan only lasted from April, 1867, to some time in 1871 when the Grand Wizard, Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, suppressed the "secret police" he had organized throughout the South.

All the suppression did was remove control of the Klan from those who really revered the symbolical Confederate ghosts, and let in the hoodlum element with which popular history identifies the Klan.

From an extreme southern viewpoint, conditions today are quite similar to the Reconstruction days of the real Klan's birth. But the difference is distinctive. The irritant that fused the Knights of the Golden Circle, the Order of the Camellia and the Pale Faces into a confederation was in many ways as unworthy — although quite legal — as the hysterical stubbornness of today.

The radical Republicans in power in Congress and, in fact, many of the rank and file Unionists — especially in the border states — were bent on making the South pay dearly for tearing the Union apart and for losing in the attempt. There were three weapons at their hands — the disenfranchisement of the Confederate leadership, the freeing of millions of unprepared, bewildered, easily-handled slaves, and the unbridled use of militia often for personal ends.

Without legal, trained and experienced leadership, haunted by years of fear of internecine disorder from the freed slaves held in dishonorable bondage with due process of law denied them, the beaten but not humbled rebels took extra-legal measures for what they considered was their protection.

The membership was selective to avoid irresponsible elements. Gen. Forrest, testifying before Congress in 1871, declared, "My information was that they admitted no man who was not a gentleman, and a man who could be relied upon to act discreetly; not men who were in the habit of drinking, boisterous men, or men liable to commit error or wrong, or anything of that sort . . ."

The "prescript" or constitution of the Klan bore out the famed — or infamous — cavalry general's testimony. It held "Chivalry, Humanity, Mercy and Patriotism" as its controlling genius and set forth a 4-fold object of action: to protect the weak, the innocent, and the defenseless from indignities, wrongs and outrages; to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, and "to aid and assist in the execution of all constitutional laws, and to protect the people from unlawful seizure, and from trial except by their peers in conformity with the laws of the land."

The methods used grew out of a prank by bored Confederate officers in Pulaski, Tenn., in December of 1865. They formed a secret society and, dressed as ghosts of Confederate dead, played on the superstitions of the Negroes. Gen. Forrest, drawing on his magnificent genius for military organization, added the persuasive political element of dealing from strength by stating quite honestly that, if need be, he could put himself at the front of 40,000 men, and even the most rabid Unionist had had enough of the man who could capture a flotilla of gunboats with a company of cavalry.

When President Grant was re-elected in 1872 and reconciliation started to take the place of armed reconstruction, the South was returned some of its legal recourse and the Wizard realized the Klan's clandestine job was ended and he became the "most reconstructed man in the South."

However, the secrecy proved a perfect cloak for the unruly gangs that replaced Forrest's 40,000 "gentlemen" and the extra-legal Klan became an outlaw organization in every sense of the word despite the protection provided the gangs by demagogues who made use of it for political gain.

Today the South contends its due process rights have been infringed upon by moves to enforce integration fiat by the Supreme Court. The facts fail to substantiate the charge, and the cry of injustice is far from unanimous in the area.

The weapon of today's Klan is not superstition. Its Negro targets today are often better educated and trained than its own members.

Without a legal or morally substantial grievance, lacking complete public backing and disarmed by the courage and education of its targets, the present day gangs of hoodlums dishonoring the trappings of the original Klan are fighting a senseless rear-guard action destined to failure from the very brutality being employed.

Gen. Forrest's Klan with its code, discipline and purpose achieved its end and dissolved. Despite its waves of strength, the latter-day Klan has been on a continual decline.

Unless the South can produce another leader with the wisdom, prudence and courage of Nathan Bedford Forrest to see the inevitability of the future, the South — and the nation — is going to suffer a Gotterdammerung whose fires will besmirk momentarily but finally weld the shield of national decency and justice torn asunder a century ago.

er governmental regulation is too harsh or too mild. It points out that in the past when business was in the doghouse with government, many new regulatory laws were enacted. On this occasion, however, it apparently feels that there are enough laws on the books today to regulate any business if they are enforced. Therefore, it looks for more enforcement of the present laws with possibly wider interpretation of some of their clauses and the use of executive orders in implementing some provisions.

The article warns businessmen specifically that it will be of little use for them to protest against unfair treatment as they often have in the past. It points out that while indictments are not evidence of guilt before the law, they amount to that in the public mind and business must now concern itself with what is in the public mind.

Editorially the magazine warns business that it is being asked to see that every good marketing device and all approved business methods are used and finally to see to it that the company's policy meets the standards required by society today. This, it says, must be done by voluntary action on the part of business. It's a big order but apparently the magazine believes, as so many other business advisers, that this is the course to follow. Willis Gale, Commonwealth Edison Company chairman, Chicago, recently expressed some surprise when he noticed that many of his company's stockholders appear to be sympathetic with the manufacturing companies in the recent price fixing case involving electrical companies. In this connection he warns both the stockholders and the electrical companies that "everyone of us should give serious consideration to what kind of an economic society we would have if competition were to be replaced by informal cartels." Competition may be rough but it is much better than prices fixed by government which inevitably would become the alternative, he says.

Thus when two friends of business speak out words of warning, business should pay attention.

Appleton, Alabama Viewpoints On Discrimination in North, South

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I read Mrs. Gentile's letter to the Post-Crescent, and I also read the rather fallacious editorial reply to this letter. It is difficult to say which saddened me more, the fact that an Alabama woman should be able to point to us and say, "What about you?" or the Post-Crescent's brushing aside this condition as "completely false" and an "old rumor."

The basic issue here is racial prejudice. We all seem to agree that this prejudice has no place in a free country, and the supreme court has established the unconstitutionality of radical discrimination on several occasions. Not only are such acts of discrimination against Wisconsin law, but apparently against the Constitution of the United States. These laws do not prevent prejudice or discrimination primarily because they are not enforced. We decry this lack of enforcement in the South, but condone it in our own city, supposedly. I gather, because any act of discrimination in Appleton is the work of a small minority.

I am a citizen of Appleton. I was born here, spent my childhood here, graduated from public high school here, and graduated from Lawrence College here. After a few years absence, I returned to Appleton and am a teacher in the same public high school. I will be glad to spread the true facts. I have witnessed many acts of discrimination in this city; the number of these acts is limited only by the fact that Appleton has no permanent Negro residents. This discrimination has taken place in hotels, bars, restaurants, stores, and taverns. I have never known any of the supposedly few individuals or firms that committed these acts to be punished in any way. It would seem, rather, that these acts were defended and any publicity that might result politely muffled. (Few of these incidents ever reach the local paper, since those involved don't press charges. I note that the Milwaukee Journal's coverage of the recent tavern incident in Appleton was considerably more factual, including the names of the people involved; the Post-Crescent offered no such information.)

The truth of the matter is Negro guests are anything but a common sight at Appleton's hotels or anywhere else in Appleton. The first time I ever saw a Negro in my youth was not in Appleton, but on an infrequent trip to Milwaukee. The few colored ball players and college students are recent additions to Appleton, and they are still limited in their activities. When I was a student at Lawrence, one of my professors was an exchange teacher from India. His skin was dark, like that of a Negro. He had a great deal of trouble finding a room, meals, and haircuts. There were no colored college students then, but there were Negro entertainers, and they weren't staying in hotels or even the YMCA. Where was that important difference between Wisconsin and Alabama? Surely not in Appleton.

Perhaps the saddest part of the entire story is the basis for local prejudice. The knowledge of the Negro is, with little exception in Appleton, acquired second hand. Few local residents have had any real contact with colored people, and none, I would venture, have any sound reason for discrimination. Yet it will take more than a Wisconsin law or a Post-Crescent editorial to give Appleton a good name. It will take, among other things, our acceptance of the Negro as our equal, and that's a long way off, locally. In discussing this matter with my students, I find many of them, who confess to having no contact with colored people, feel that Negroes are dirty, stupid, and dishonest. Of course, some of them feel the same way about Indians and Orientals. These are Appleton's citizens of tomorrow. I fear they draw their values from the society around them.

I suppose you could say that this is my "home town," but you couldn't say I'm proud of it in this respect.

Former Northerner

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Answer to "Montgomery and Appleton" and Peoples Forum letters of Wednesday, May 24.

The mob violence shown recently in Alabama which your James Zwerg was an unfortunate victim, has deeply shocked the law-abiding citizens of this state who abhor violence the same as the people of Wisconsin. Believe me, the handful of "despicable" involved in this act of brutality are by no means representative of the people of Alabama who pride themselves on their "southern hospitality." The beliefs and convictions of the northerner and southerner may be contrary in several respects, but there are a few troublemakers, whether they be from Alabama, Wisconsin, or any state that do not respect the laws of common courtesy and decency towards their fellow man. These bigots, incorrigible "trash" are an undesirable element of every society and will make themselves known whenever their so-called "way of life" is threatened. Be assured, those responsible have been apprehended and will be punished by the authorities.

On the other hand, while I admire the courage and spirit of Mr. Zwerg, and do not doubt the sincerity of his purpose, I firmly believe that the majority of these self-styled "Freedom Riders" are sent here to agitate and stir up resentment between the races.

This is confirmed by the attached article from U. S. News and World Report (June 5) concerning a statement made by Sen. Eastland of Mississippi. If you do not publish the article I quote from it: (Reference to CORE) — Organizers of the Freedom Rides

"Since its inception its creed has been lawlessness and its tactics have followed the pattern set by Communist agitators the world over. I have been informed that the 'Freedom Ride' was devised deliberately as a prelude to various high level meetings in Europe as a propaganda method to embarrass the government of the U.S. in the handling of international affairs. Mr. Peck (leader of the Birmingham Freedom Riders) ran afoul of the law when he and a former navy captain attempted to sail a ketch into the Pacific Ocean. Lucifur testing area in 1956 to protest the nuclear bomb test. During World War II, Mr. Peck declared himself a conscientious objector and spend 3 years in the federal prison. In my judgment this man is a Communist agitator and organizer of the most dangerous kind."

Evidently some of these "riders" who are sincere in their purpose are in reality being duped into being Communist agents, along with their subversive comrades who actually are devoted Communists. The adverse publicity caused by their agitation certainly adds fuel to the cold war and causes the U.S. further embarrassment before the eyes of the world.

Incidentally, I suggest Mr. Zwerg and his companions "clean up their own house" first. Being a former resident of your area I recall city ordinances which forbade Negroes lodging in city hotels, service in public restaurants, owning property, being off the streets after dark, etc. I wonder what the reaction of the citizens of Appleton would be if 15,000 - 20,000 Negroes from Chicago (approximately the same percentage as the Negro population of Alabama) converged on Appleton to reside and seek work there? It is easy to sit back and criticize from the grandstand!

"The people of Alabama welcome travelers to Alabama or any other state as long as their purpose is peaceful. But when they are here to stir up strife and turmoil and threaten the safety and tranquility of a community, I think the right of the community takes precedence over the right of the individual." (Quotation from James E. Mills, Editor Birmingham Ala. Post Herald) (U.S. News and World Report June 5 - P. 47).

Where 'Beer Lobby' Gets Its Strength

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The word "lobby," to describe a special interest group organized for political action in a legislature, is a good one.

It is descriptive. It is accurate. The agents of such a group characteristically inhabit the legislative lobbies, but not holding representatives to see a point of view.

Yet it always has carried a connotation of disapproval, of scorn and criticism, as shown by the curiously selective way it is applied to some groups, and never used in discussion of others.

On a typical morning in the state senate recently, a legislator with an eye to the press galleries and the composition of his district, delivered a carefully contrived stricture against the "beer lobby". The phrase was intended to conjure up a picture of beer barons fattening on the amoral distribution of their product to anyone wanting to buy it — in this instance teenagers.

There is a fiction carefully developed by those who don't like the beer or liquor industries or anything associated with it, that this lobby is the most powerful in the statehouse and that literally everyone else is blown down before it when it resolves on a particular course of action.

THE CONTRAST

The beer lobby is formidable enough, as anyone acquainted with the legislature knows. It is well led, well-financed, represents the interests of a couple

Insult to Dignity

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We read with dismay and chagrin of the incident of the two Negro ball-players who were ordered from a bar by the owner. We wish to protest this action promptly and vigorously as well as to apologize to the two men who were the victims of discrimination. Not only was the bartender acting in violence, but the police were derelict in their duty to inquire into possible assault and battery. The Appleton Post-Crescent should also have published the names of the bartender and of the two ballplayers.

More important than any of those indictments, however, is the insult to the dignity of two men, be they Negro ball players or Jamaicans or any other person of any race or nationality. Our country by law is a free nation for everyone. There are no second class citizens in the United States and it is the duty and responsibility of every citizen to make sure that the rights he enjoys for himself are extended in concrete terms to every American citizen, and that ordinary courtesy be extended to all guests.

It is our strong feeling that the bartender involved missed a fine opportunity and privilege to participate in a very direct way in the present struggle in which Negroes are engaged in securing the rights and privileges in which they are entitled by birth in this country. We sincerely hope and expect that if another opportunity presents itself that he will show his guests his best qualities and will welcome them with courtesy and restraint.

Wrong Approach

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In the interest of real progress in the field of racial relations I question whether support of CORE is the method of getting desired results. In a recently published letter, Mrs. Cherkasky has appealed for support of this organization which sponsors and organizes the sit-ins, Freedom Rides, and other similar programs throughout the South. While these methods dramatize the problems they do not contribute to their solutions.

Progress and understanding in racial relations come about through social evolution, not social revolution. CORE's activities will inevitably generate the type of physical violence which all of us deplore. Granting CORE the right to engage in Freedom Rides, the wisdom of conducting such rides is, at best, doubtful. Freedom Riders bring together the extremists on both sides and emotional tempers explode into violent physical contact.

Unfortunately the large group of moderates — both white and Negro — are not getting the same types of recognition as CORE for the progress they are making without violence and publicity.

For the people of Appleton interested in peaceful solutions to of hundreds of thousands of attentive citizens, and has a training in political affairs born of its awareness that it represents a trade completely under the thumb of the governmental power. Few economic interests have the incentive, indeed, to organize into a lobby that has the beer and liquor industry.

Yet it is illuminating to remember how rarely some of the other obviously powerful special interest groups are called by the scornful term of "lobby".

There is, in fact, a school lobby, a lawyers' lobby, a farm lobby, a labor lobby, a city and village lobby, a city of Milwaukee lobby, a University lobby, a state college lobby, a state department lobby, a civil servants' lobby. Name an important organized special interest group and you name an active, professional, militant lobby on the sidelines of the law-making process.

Several of these have powers that, in any fair definition, exceed those of the more notorious, such as the beer "lobby". That they are not often identified or pointed to in public speeches, or written about in the public press, does not mean that they are not as selfish, or as skillful, or as resolute, but that they are more popular.

THE FULL STORY

The repetitive denunciations of the "beer lobby" are tiresome, not because they may not be accurate, with respect to the political power of the group, but because they are almost always incomplete.

The brewers' man in Madison has repeatedly been pictured as a kind of master operator, a mysterious fellow pulling the strings behind the stage, by some of the critics of the political process who believe in the conspiratorial theory of history and politics.

Yet the real source of his strength is rarely told, as the fact that he speaks for an interest that includes not only a comparatively small handful of beer producers, but thousands of tavernkeepers, delivery men, distributors, wholesalers, tavern supply men and, most of all, and almost always played down, the powerful brewery workers union.

Two years ago the so-called "beer lobby" defeated Gov. Nelson's plan for a modest increase in the state tax on beer so decisively that he didn't even bother to bring up the proposition again this year.

The brewers' association lobbyist got the credit for the deed. Doubtless he enjoys the prestige among his own clients. But he knows, the Democratic party knows, and the leaders of the brewery workers union know what happened.

racial questions in America (including all of America) I have these two suggestions:

1. Lend your support to an organization sponsoring more intelligent action in the approach to social change.
2. Form now a citizens committee of Appleton to plan for the near future so that Appleton may be spared the incidences of racial discrimination which have appeared in other cities of the North as the Negro population of such cities has increased.

Some Questions

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Citizens of Appleton: All is left unsaid: all is left undone — and thus the world is. Why? I wish to ask all people who profess to believe in democracy, and all who profess to believe in God, why, why has nothing been said or done about the incident of Tuesday night when two Negroes were forced from a tavern.

People of this city seem to have as much backbone as jelly fish. The North is supposed to be the great advocate of equality for all races, for all men — where are we, North? Have not our working men enough guts to say what they believe to help this "equality" reign? Is there to be no judge because a hall club would rather bow in shame and use good players, but only use them, afraid to aid them and Appleton and mankind — just so the hall club can have a "good" name by not becoming involved? By not standing up for freedom they have lost their dignity, and lost their name. And our democracy-loving councilmen and mayor, where are they — vacationing on the South Sea Islands?

I wonder, to those who profess to believe in God, what difference it makes if a man, God's child, is a "damn Jamaican", a Negro, or a White afraid to stand up and fight, and if need be give his life for the cause, or progress towards the cause, in which he believes.

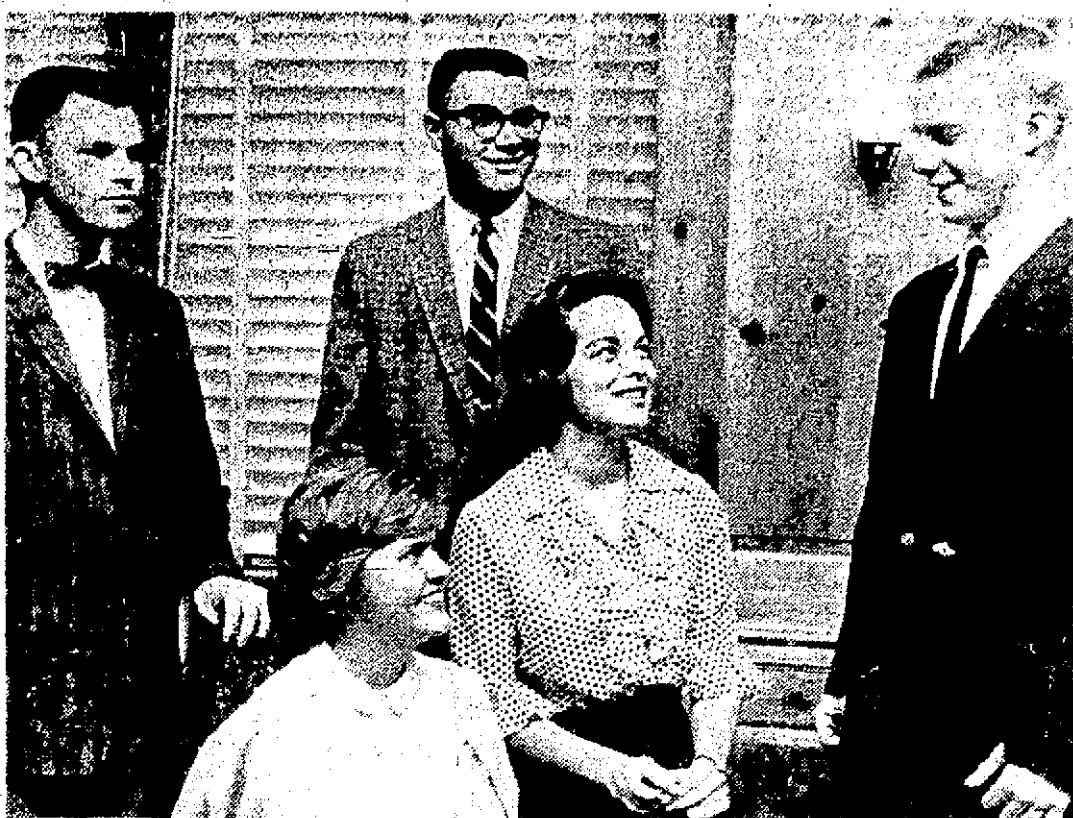

Citizens of Appleton. Why?

Small Computer Developed by Westinghouse

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A computer one-tenth the size and weight of a conventional transistorized computer with the same capabilities is under development at the Westinghouse Electric Corporation's Air Arm Division, a spokesman said Sunday.

Dr. Patrick Conley, manager of the Air Arm Division, said the computer — dubbed Mol-E-Com — would weigh less than 15 pounds and occupy less than one-third of a cubic foot. The present model weighs 175 pounds and is three cubic feet in size. The set has no tubes or transistors, Dr. Conley said, but instead operates on a solid semiconductor crystal.

Appeal From Missouri Volunteers

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for June 6, 1861.

Fellow Citizens in Free States:

ST. LOUIS — Placed on an advanced post of liberty in the present struggle for the maintenance of the Union, men of courage have organized four regiments of volunteers from Missouri.

As citizens of a State whose first Executive is, as you well know, opposed to the Government of the United States, we as a matter of course cannot expect support from him or the State Government for furthering the purposes of our Federal Government.

We are compelled, therefore, to appeal to the sympathies of our fellow citizens in the Free States for the necessary means of providing our first equipment. Many of our men are destitute of the means to purchase necessary uniforms, blankets and other equipment. Having no claim on the general Government until after three months' service, we appeal to our Union-loving fellow citizens for support, fully satisfied that a part of patriotic liberty so freely shown to their own volunteers will not be withheld from us.

Anticipating such sympathy and help, we will strain every nerve to uphold the authority of our Federal Government in this remote and important post of the great West against treason and rebellion in order that the wishes of the patriots and Union-loving men may soon be fulfilled and the cause of justice be triumphant over treason and secession.

Gov. Gustavus Koerner, of Belleville, Ill., has kindly consented to act for us as receiver and disburser.

"...the Bank with the Personal Touch"

Democratic Leader of Senate Likes Judgeship in Milwaukee

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The young second term Milwaukee state senator who is quarter-backing the state senate Democratic minority is apparently looking beyond the confines of the legislative chambers as he blueprints his career.

Colleagues report that William Moser has hinted to Gov. Nelson that one of the Milwaukee court vacancies would be attractive to him.

Chances are that if the governor considers the candidacy of his friend in the state senate, it will be after some reshuffling of the existing judicial manpower in the county. Two circuit judgeships will be vacated soon, but Moser at 33 may appear young for such judicial rank. There are men senior to him in the inferior courts of Milwaukee who might be promoted to provide an opening.

Labor leaders have virtually abandoned hope that the present legislature will enact any meaningful changes in the labor-management relations laws, although they were making announcements about such objectives earlier in the year. Assemblyman Allan Flaigan of Milwaukee, chief spokesman for union labor in the state assembly and the 1959 chairman of the Democratic-controlled assembly labor committee, has declared in a public speech that the liberalization of benefits under the workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation laws will be the significant labor gains of the year in Wisconsin.

Public service commission rate regulation cases continue to illustrate the significant effect of taxation levels on consumer rate-making. A Wisconsin utility a fortnight ago was granted authority to raise rates more than a million dollars, in order to attain the conservative rate of return supported by the present commission.

The principal beneficiary of the rate order was government, state and federal. The company got less than half of the gross amount of the rate increase. The PSC has repeatedly emphasized the relation of taxes to public service corporation service rates, evidently persuaded that the average rate-payer is not aware of it.

After several proprietors failed, the idea of a restaurant inside the state capitol was abandoned years ago. But the clerks of a legislative post office for several years have had a lively sale of pastries and coffee, as a sideline to their mail sorting. They sell more coffee to legislators, visitors, lobbyists and assorted customers each day than do some of the formally organized eateries in the capital city.

Howard Meister, the Milwaukee county Democratic chairman, continues to drop hints that he may run for the state party chairmanship at the convention of the party delegates in the fall. But the belief of party insiders is that he is mostly interested in needing Pat Lucey, and knows that he probably cannot win the post from him. Lucey intends to stay in politics for a while, enjoying his close relationship with the Democratic national administration considerably and already taking a long look at the Kennedy re-election problem in 1964.

One of the last acts of the legislature before it winds up its session will be to reorganize the Council which was under Democratic control during the last legislative interim. The Republicans will assert their mastery, and will probably also hold down the number of interim committees and the number of interim committee assignments—not all of which have been convincingly urgent in recent years.

Under the informal rules of organization a state senator will be chosen chairman. Sen. Jess Miller of Richland Center could have the gavel if he wants it, but that is doubtful.

The revival of the Good Roads Association, after a half dozen years of hibernation, points to some kind of an expanded state highway financing program for the 1963 legislature, in the view of highway affairs experts. Meanwhile, it also provides a convenient forum for one of its officers, Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells, who is determined to run for the Republican nomination for governor next year, whether the Republican state convention in 1962 backs him or not.

Chief author of the highway planning bills being pushed through the legislature is G. H. Bakke, former Dunn county assemblyman and assembly highway committee chairman, who is a Republican hold-over member of the state highway commission. Bakke would be highway commission chairman, in all probability, if the Republicans recapture the governorship.

The first cloud in the legislative horizon for Gov. Nelson's $50,000,000 recreational lands acquisition and development program has turned up in the form of a substitute amendment by powerful Sen. Frank Panzer.

The Panzer substitute significantly recalls some of the earlier objections of conservation department officials to the governor's program, and would in effect give control of the program to the conservation commission.

The governor has indicated that he is willing to negotiate changes in some of the details of his plan, but he won't budge on his insistence for a separate identity and general supervision of the "crash" effort by an independent advisory or overseer committee. But if Panzer insists upon his version, the Nelson program could be in trouble. He is president of the state senate, and generally has his way on matters that are important to him.

Charlie's in Wilderness, but Phone, Highway Just Five Minutes Away

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

ON THE CRYSTAL RIVER — I sit now, a few hours after dawn, and I am alone in the wilderness.

The red canoe, Ranger, dances in the stream in front of me. My canoe partner, Tom Mullen of Appleton, is wading upstream in search of the wily trout which may serve as our breakfast.

Strong coffee, aromatic and pungent, is on the camp fire and, added to the fine smell of wood smoke, makes the morning wonderful.

A cardinal high in a nearby white pine is caroling and I hear a blue wing teal protesting some transgression far down stream.

Wild cherry blossoms, a few feet from me, are nodding, nodding. The leaves of aspen trees nearby are all a tremble in the quick morning breeze.

Across about 10 feet of the little Crystal River a red wing blackbird is riding a bobbing cattail. Two blue jays have flickered their way in the brush to scold me.

I'm in the wilderness — but not really. Less than a mile away traffic moves on U. S. 10 and I can hear it. The outskirts of Waupaca is a scant half-mile from this lovely pine covered campsite and this trout-laden stream.

Inside Civilization

Tom Mullen and I have chosen this canoe trip — from the cross-road village of Little Hope to Fremont — to let you know of a wilderness trip inside of civilization.

The journey, about 40 miles over the route of meandering streams, is a splendid canoe trip for a weekend.

The river, from Little Hope to the point of our first encampment, flows at about four miles an hour. There has been no wild water, but sunken boulders, sharp turns and a few deadfalls in the stream forced vigilance on the canoeists but only enough to make the trip stimulating.

A husband and wife team or a father and son could make the trip easily and with joy.

Riding Current

We paddled an hour and a half Saturday, just riding the current, and we made camp on the rim of The Shadow Lake Retreat, a Lutheran church camp which abuts both the nearby lake and Crystal River.

We pitched our Himalayan tent beneath the pine trees and we built our camp fire on the bank of the river, ready for trout which we have not yet taken.

Over coffee we had two pleasant visitors—the Rev. R. M. Paulson, executive director of the Bethany Home for the Aged, Waupaca, and The Shadow Lake Retreat, and caretaker-Scoutmaster Donald Jensen.

They drank our boiled coffee with never a scowl or grimace—sure proof of great courtesy.

Now, in this not so remote wilderness, a catbird perches in some nearby shrubs and he warbles a little like the mockingbird he is and then he meows.

Not So Alone

The aspens quake and the wind rustles overhead, a trout leaps upstream and smacks at the surface of the water, and as I write a turtle climbs onto a deadfall across the stream.

And I am therefore not so very much alone in the wilderness—for an easy, five-minute walk from a telephone.

A 2 per cent wage increase and other benefits covering 20,000 pulp and paper mill workers at 40 plants in Washington, Oregon and California have been agreed upon by negotiators for 19 manufacturers and two pulp and paper mill unions in Portland, Ore.

Journeymen's wages will rise to $3.14 an hour from $3.08 if the agreement is ratified by members of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers Union and the United Papermakers & Paperworkers Union.

The union vote will be taken June 9, with the increase effective June 1, if approved.

Funeral leave with pay of up to three days for a death in a worker's immediate family is among the fringe benefits. Deaths of mothers-in-law and fathers-in-law are included, as well as death of mother, father, child or wife. Grandparents' deaths aren't included.

The increases come under a re-opening of a two-year contract negotiated last year by the two unions and the Pacific Coast Association of Pulp & Paper Manufacturers. The two-year agreement originally provided for a 12½ cent-an-hour package increase given last year. No increase had been called for this June 1. However, the two-year contract provided that either the unions or companies could call for the re-opening of negotiations for the year beginning this June 1.

ties to the publications and organizations in his field, he has been elected to executive positions in various organizations in the insurance field."

Rugland is a 1929 graduate of Luther College. He holds an M.S. from the University of Iowa, joined AAL in 1943 and became president in 1958.

Madison Industrialist Dies in Arizona

MADISON (AP) — A.J. (Tony) Fiore, 69, who began his business career as a penniless immigrant railroad worker and became president of several local firms, died Sunday at Scottsdale, Ariz. after a long illness.

Fiore, who came to Madison when he was 14, was president of Fiore Oil and Coal Co., and several other companies. He moved to Scottsdale in 1960 when he was stricken with multiple sclerosis.

Honor Civil War Dead

Wisconsin, South Tie Knot of Union Tighter

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The solidarity of the South and the North was tightened by the members of the Elliott Grays Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and the citizens of Wisconsin Dells, Wis.

For the past decade, members of the local chapter have sent a memorial wreath to be placed on the grave of Belle Boyd, a Virginian and a Confederate spy who died at Wisconsin Dells in 1900 while on a speaking engagement.

This year, Wisconsin is becoming a part of the chapter's annual commemorative service at the monument honoring the Civil War dead of the 36th Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry.

Unity Day Mayor Ernest Jantz, wrote Mrs. Sherwood Carter, chapter president, that the city had sent a memorial wreath to be placed at the foot of the Wisconsin monument near Ellerson in Hanover County.

"I am proclaiming June 1 as official South-North unity day in the city of Wisconsin Dells," he wrote. "You ladies have been most gracious in honoring the dead of our own state each June 1."

The work of the Elliott Grays Chapter has come to the attention of Gov. Gaylord A. Nelson of Wisconsin, too.

He is sending Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. of Virginia an official Wisconsin state flag to be presented to the chapter for use during services at the monument each year.

The gesture reciprocates one Virginia made to Wisconsin in 1952.

At that time, Gov. John S. Battle sent the Old Dominion's official flag to Wisconsin Dells for use in the annual ceremonies honoring Belle Boyd.

The late Mrs. J. W. Phillips, chapter founder and president for a number of years, Mrs. Thomas J. Nelson and Mrs. J. S. Vassar went to Wisconsin Dells for the service "and were wine and dined royally for a week," Mrs. Carter said.

Keeps Grounds The monument, completed in October, 1924, is a 10-foot Vermont granite marker. It was erected by the late Charles A. Storke in memory of his Wisconsin comrades who fell in action at the spot in 1864.

After the monument was finished, Storke deeded the one acre of land he had bought and improvements to Hanover County, which is now responsible for the upkeep of the grounds and marker.

"Well, I wonder how far this week's pay will go?"

"Another pair! The children sure grow out of things fast."

"Food, the car, the mortgage, there's always something to pay."

"How would Mary and the kids get by without me?"

Sooner or later, most fathers ask themselves this troubling question. Practically all of them find the best answer lies in life insurance. It's the one means by which a man of even modest income can give his family basic financial protection immediately. Through the same policy, he can begin building substantial funds—for his retirement, perhaps, or to send the children to college, even for use in an emergency.

Lawrence Says

It's Sad Hour For Democracy And Liberty

President Traveled 4,000 Miles to Kowtow to Soviets

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy got what he wanted—international attention, political publicity at home, and a firsthand study of the personality of the world's most powerful dictator. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev got what he wanted—worldwide attention as the man who holds in his hand the fate of many nations, publicity at home as the champion of the alleged superiority of communism over capitalism, and a chance to size up the new president of the United States.

Lawrence

Did the meeting advance the cause of peace? There was no armistice declared in the "cold war." Even as the two leaders conferred, the communist-inspired commanders in Laos were violating the "cease fire" and communist agents were active in Cuba—in fact, in countries on every continent as they were continuing to spread their subversive movements and to instigate demonstrations of friction between factions and races.

Holds Trump Cards

For what, indeed, has the Soviet premier to fear from such conferences? It is he who holds the trump cards and can make the decision to strike "the first blow." He deals from strength against a Western alliance weakened by conflicting purposes of the leaders and also by the steady erosion of the spirit of resistance. Was the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting worth while? It could result in more harm than good for the West in world affairs. For Khrushchev is revealed as the man of strength, while the Western leadership is portrayed both by the communist press and by newspapers in "neutral" countries as cringing and fawning.

About the only gain that can be chalked up now for Mr. Kennedy is on the political side within the United States. He had been regarded as youthful, inexperienced, immature, if not brash and perhaps impulsive. It was important from his standpoint to dispel such impressions. What better way than in a "summit" conference in which no other Western leader participated and in which Mr. Kennedy was pictured before the voters of his own country—through television and the newspapers—as the sole spokesman of the free world?

Get-Acquainted Affair

Time was when a "summit" conference included the prime minister of Great Britain and the president or the prime minister of France and when the chancellor of West Germany was nearby to be consulted. But this meeting of two heads of state was billed as a "get-acquainted" affair, and the other Western leaders politely stood aside to give him the chance. It was regarded officially—perhaps with tongue in cheek—as having no "agenda" and as not a "negotiation."

The spectacle of one man talking for the West—and, indeed, during certain periods of the conference Messrs. Kennedy and Khrushchev were alone except for interpreters—is alien to the tradition of democracy. Theoretically, a congress or a parliament or even a secretary of state plays a part in the making of important agreements or in the conduct of negotiations between governments, including commitments in the development of international policy. It all seemed more like the historic meetings at Vienna, Paris and London between monarchs of old. There was the same pomp and ceremony, the same outward evidences of cordiality, the same misleading impressions that "peace" reigned supreme even as both sides reiterated through their spokesmen at lower levels a determination not to yield an inch in their respective positions.

What can be accomplished this way that cannot be achieved as well, if not better, through the normal channels of diplomacy? At least there would be written records then of what is said by governments to each other, and such records can be important in carrying on future negotiations.

For these are public and not private controversies—they concern millions of human beings and not just two governmental figures preoccupied to no small extent with their own political fortunes.

The Soviet dictator never hesitates to disregard his own signature on a treaty or agreement—for he does not recognize good faith as such and believes that the end justifies the means. The danger is that, despite his insults of the preceding president of the United States—who helped once to save Russia from military defeat—despite the deliberate breaking up of the "summit" conference in 1960, and despite his showing of contempt for the West by pounding the table with his shoe at the United Nations General Assembly, the same tyrant is still treated with awe, with respect and even with fear by leaders of the Western world.

'It Is A Sad Hour'

This species of appeasement once led imperialist Kaiser Wilhelm to misjudge Britain's innate resoluteness and caused Adolf Hitler to disregard the promises he made at Munich that had encouraged hopes of "peace in our time." The result in each case was a world war.

The total impression left on many people by the latest "summit" conference is that a presidency of the United States went 4,000 miles across sea and land

Polish Cardinal Raps Communists

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński accused the Polish communist regime of violating his rights as Roman Catholic primate of Poland.

The cardinal angrily denounced restrictions recently placed on public religious processions.

A crowd estimated to number 125,000 filled the broad avenue and side streets near war-scarred St. Anne's Church to hear the cardinal's message broadcast over loudspeakers set up in defiance of a three-year old official ban.

In his Thursday five-minute address, the Polish primate alluded to a recent restriction placed on religious processions during the eight-day period following Corpus Christi. Communist authorities based their plan on a recent Vatican reform measure abolishing liturgical observances after the holy day.

to kowtow to a man who, by his policies and acts, despoils human freedom and maintains the biggest slave empire in the world. Enough courage is mustered up hereabouts to issue statements defying little dictators like Castro and Trujillo, but not a big Khrushchev. It is a sad hour for the cause of liberty and democracy. Manifestations of defeatism are never good omens. (Copyright, 1961)

Rare, Historic Parade Wagons Attraction at Circus World Museum

All Vehicles Carefully Restored

BARABOO—An outstanding attraction at the Circus World Museum is the collection of rare and historical circus wagons. Now numbering 30, circus wagons such as these can be seen nowhere else in the United States.

They range from miniature cage wagons to the ponderous Columbia bandwagon that used to rumble through the streets of American cities in the early part of the present century as part of the famous Forepaugh-Sells Circus.

This circus used to be a popular one in Appleton many years ago. Old newspapers state that it used to draw immense crowds at the circus grounds on Second Avenue (today Wisconsin Avenue) at Division and State streets. Area oldtimers may remember the massive gold and white wagon that used to carry the circus band along the parade route of Second Avenue, Lake Street, College Avenue and back to the circus grounds by way of Richmond Street.

The Circus World Museum, owned and operated by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, is devoted to the preservation of history of all circuses. The museum was located at Baraboo because it was the home of the Ringlings and their cousins, the Gollmars. Both families started their circuses in Baraboo. The museum stands on the old Ringling Circus site on Water Street.

Cage Wagon
The most impressive exhibits are the parade wagons which represent many famous titles. There is the white and gold cage wagon built for the Barnum & Bailey & Hutchinson Circus back in the 1880s. It was saved from oblivion many years ago by George Christy, former owner of the old Christy Bros. Circus. Now mayor of South Houston, Tex., Christy chose the Circus World Museum as a final resting place for his treasured gem of the circus wagon builder's art.

The giant old Columbia bandwagon, built in 1903 for the Forepaugh-Sells Circus, has been completely restored in white and gold as in the old days and now occupies a prominent place in the wagon room. Also to be seen at the Circus World Museum is the beautiful old Collmar Mirror bandwagon. Completely restored in red and gold, this venerable old parade patriarch has come back home to rest out its days in pensioned glory.

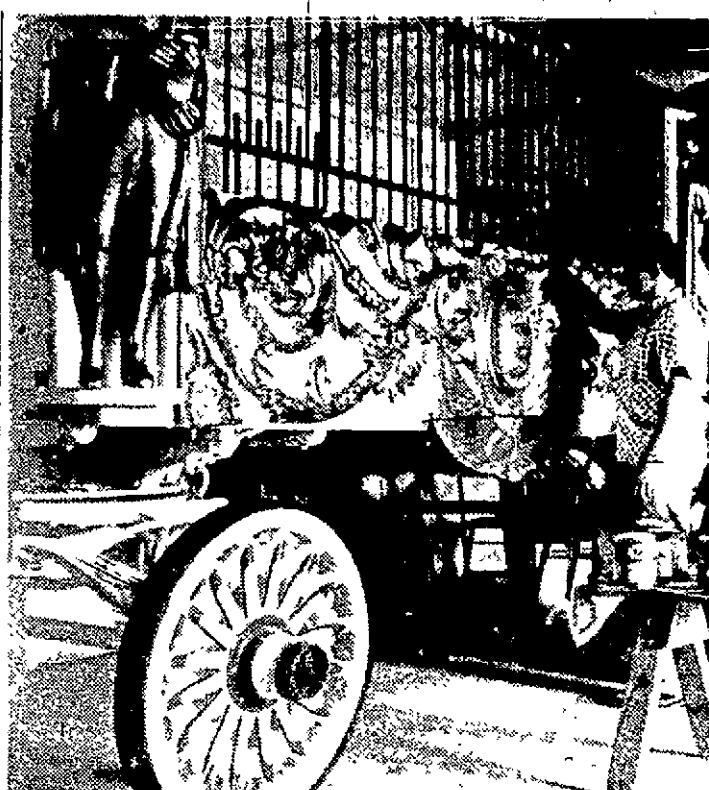

The old America steam calliope is the only wagon at the museum that still works for a living. Built in 1903 for the Barnum & Bailey Circus as a tableau wagon, the varied history of this beautiful old vehicle took it from the Barnum & Bailey Circus over to Ringling's. In 1927 it went over to the Christy show where it was remodeled into a bandwagon. Calliope in 1940
From there it went to the Cole Bros. Circus, where it was made into a steam calliope in 1940. After several years on the Cole show, the Cleaver-Brooks Company of Milwaukee acquired this old piece of wagon history and for several years it was parked at the Wisconsin State Fair Grounds where it continued to screech out its raucous music. Now at the Circus World Museum it still earns its keep by giving concerts every half hour all during the season.

New to the museum this year is the white, canvas-sided bandwagon of the old F. J. Taylor Circus out of Creston, Iowa. The delicate gold carvings on the sides have now been restored to their original condition by the museum's woodcarver, and the wagon commands the interest and attention of all visitors.

Recently obtained is a little trolley-ho type bandwagon of the Greater Norris & Rowe Circus of California. This gem of the old wagon show days takes its place along with the old Ringling "Telegraph Wagon". Together they exude circus history that can be seen nowhere but at Baraboo.

Other Wagons
Many other old historic wagons await the visitors. There is the dual stake driver, invented and built in Baraboo by the famous Moeller family of circus wagon builders, a pole wagon, a huge, 18-foot long cage wagon, a giraffe wagon complete with heavy padding to protect the long necked animal, baggage wagons, miniature cage wagons filled with live animals.

The state museum is open from

One of the Skilled Artisans in the shops of the Circus World Museum at Baraboo paints gold leaf on the parade wagon built in the 1880s for the Barnum, Bailey & Hutchinson Circus. It's one of the 30 circus wagons that have been authentically restored for the museum's unique collection. The wagons include an old American steam calliope that still tootles its gay melodies across the museum grounds in daily 10-minute concerts.

Clark Gable's Son To be Baptized a Roman Catholic

BY JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Clark Gable, the baby son of the late king of the movies never saw, will be baptized a Roman Catholic next Sunday.

The baby, will be christened in a Don Loper gown at St. Cyril's Church in suburban Encino.

Mrs. Gable, born a Catholic but later estranged through divorce and remarriage, has been attending St. Cyril's since the death of Gable from a heart attack last Nov. 16. The son, Gable's first offspring, was born March 20.

Loper, famed designer of movie-land fashions, was a longtime friend of both Clark and his beautiful blonde widow, Kay.

Loper's was the first but not the only christening dress the baby received as a gift. Actress Virginia Grey, a friend of Mrs. Gable and once a Gable girl friend, also sent a baptismal gown.

Old Church Restored For New York Museum

BY FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
NEW YORK (UPI)—The first apse a national monument ever loaned by one nation to another goes on in definite display at the Metropolitan Museum's Cloisters this week—all $13 tons of it.

It's a massive, 3-story stone section of a ruined, 800-year-old Spanish church near the isolated village of Fuentiduena in Segovia province. As an example of late Spanish Romanesque architecture, it is unrivaled in America.

Work Convincing
The section is the richly carved apse which served as a background for the church's high altar. Metropolitan Museum officials wanted the apse for the Cloisters when they were constructing the monastery-like museum branch in upper Manhattan in 1935, but it was not available then.

The trouble was that the Spanish government had designated the apse a national monument in 1931 to preserve it for future generations of art lovers. After the Spanish Civil war, James J. Rorimer of the Metropolitan staff took several trips to Spain to convince the Franco government that few art lovers ever would visit remote Fuentiduena to see it.

Rorimer suggested a deal. The Metropolitan promised to preserve the apse by building it into the walls of a chapel at the Cloisters, where more than one million museum visitors would see it every year. In return, the museum would loan to Madrid's Prado Museum six coveted 12th century frescoes and pay for repairs to Fuentiduena's Ram-shackle parish church and its cemetery.

Open to Public
By 1957, the Spanish government, the Vatican and the 200 townspeople of Fuentiduena all had given their consent. The apse was dismantled, its 3,300 stones packed in 839 crates, and the 627,000-pound cargo was shipped to the United States in 1958. It has taken three years to weatherproof the stones with special chemicals and reassemble them at the Cloisters.

Beginning Thursday, the public will be admitted to see this panoply of golden limestone with sculpted scenes depicting St.

Martin of Tours, the Annunciation and the Nativity, and a veritable zoo of 12th century monsters, including a mermaid. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Spanish Ambassador Mariano De Yturralde will open the exhibition in the presence of Rorimer, now director of the Metropolitan.

The cost of moving the apse of the church of San Martin of Fuentiduena from a windswept hill-top in Segovia to a windswept hill-top above the Hudson River has not been disclosed. The late John D. Rockefeller Jr., who built the Cloisters, donated the funds.

Season Pass Instituted At Appleton Pools

Recreation Office
Sets June 14, 19
Opening Dates

Appleton's recreation commission has approved the use of season tickets at the city's two swimming pools this summer, the first time such tickets have ever been used here.

Erb Park pool is scheduled to open June 14 and the Mead Park pool on June 19.

Season tickets for children up to 12 years old will be $2; from 13 to 17 years inclusive $3; and for those 18 and over, $4.

Family season tickets will be $5, and can be used an unlimited number of times by all members of the family.

Monday, June 5, 1961 Appleton Post-Crescent A15

The tickets will be available at both pools.

Daily rates for swimming are five cents in the afternoon and 10 cents in the evening for children up to 12 years; 10 cents, afternoon and evening, from 13 to 17 inclusive; and 20 cents, afternoon and evening, for those 18 and older.

Swimming Classes
Registration fee for the learn-to-swim program is $1. Students must be at least six years old. Registrations will be taken at the Erb Park pool on June 14 and 15, and at the Mead Park pool, June 9 and 20.

The recreation department has purchased a resuscitator for each pool, Elmer Grover, director says. Formerly, resuscitators were borrowed from the fire department when needed.

Grover said the new pool in Mead Park has water in it and "is holding water fine. There are no leaks." He said the water will be drained, and the pool painted, probably next week.

Your Problems

Man Asks How to Deal With Face-Slapping, Kicking Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you wrote a column stating that a man who hits his wife is 1/2 COL LANDERS the lowest type of animal. Now what about a woman who hits her husband? What kind of an animal is she?

I'm married to an active volcano. When she loses her temper (which is often) she hauls off and slaps my face, punches me, kicks me in the leg, or throws dishes. We've been married almost three years and I don't know how much more of this I can take. I've never hit a woman in my life but I'm beginning to think maybe it's about time I did. May I have your advice? —Black and Blue

Dear Blue: A husband who belts his wife in retaliation reduces himself to her primitive level. My advice to a husband who gets hit it to leave the house for several hours. If this doesn't cure your wife, stay away for several days or indefinitely. No man should have to wear a crash helmet or duck crockery in his own home.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a very fine nephew who has lived with me since his parents passed away. He is now 27 years old, unmarried, has an excellent job and a good future.

The problem is that he is too good-hearted. He lends girls money, pays their bills, buys them airline tickets to go home and visit sick grandmothers who I am sure don't exist. In plain words, he's been a chump for at least seven girls that I know of, and heaven knows how many more.

I've hinted that he's too generous, but he claims giving is his greatest pleasure. Why does he behave like this? Is there anything I can do? —Concerned

Dear Concerned: There's a vast difference between "giving" and being taken. Your nephew over-acts the Santa Claus role because he craves acceptance and believes this is the sure way to get it.

Of course, he's a fool and there's not much you can do about it. Perhaps one day he'll develop sufficient confidence in himself and stop trying to buy admiration and attention.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When a person says, "Please stop me if you've heard this one," is it polite to actually take him at his word?

I've suffered so many old jokes that I sometimes wonder if it wouldn't be a good idea to accept the offer from some of the inveterate bobs.

Please print your answer because I'm sure this is a problem to many others who don't know what to do about it either. —Too Tolerant (?)

Dear Too: The person who invites you to "stop me if you've heard this one," neither expects nor wants you to.

The phrase is only a tired prelude to the launching of a story which he wants to tell — regardless of its age.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request ten cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Air of Indifference Hides True Feelings

BY ANGELO PATRI

Lorry was making a list of those she wanted to invite to her graduation party, when the following dialogue took place:

"I'd like to invite Molly, but if I do, I must invite her sister Viola and she's something terrible. If I don't invite her and do invite Molly, their mother will not let Molly come."

"What do you mean, terrible? How can a girl with a sister like Molly be terrible?" queried Lorry's mother.

"But she is, Mom. She is so loud. You can hear her coming long before you see her. Her voice, her clothes, her manners are all just plain loud. Everyone in our group likes Molly, but nobody will take Viola a second time. I guess I'll have to leave them both out."

"She sure is wired for sound," commented her brother, Harry. But it's too bad you have to leave Molly out because of Viola."

Hide Real Feelings It certainly is too bad; but that's what happens when a girl or boy, tries to hide his feeling of unfitness behind bluster, crudity and sham disregard of the opinions or feelings of other people. Not only are they punished by those they would cultivate, but their families are also penalized.

These young people are not easily reached by teachers and parents. They are sensitive to a touch and shrink within themselves at the first word of reproach or advice concerning their ways. They respond with a loud, "So what? Who cares?" attitude. They scuff along just to prove they are different and hence admirable, when they know they are being asked to walk with some dignity through the school building. They slam down their books; chew gum, and "Haw, haw" in derision when a classmate makes a suggestion. They behave the same way at home until their families are about ready to pull hair.

Why? Often these boys and girls need someone to tell them what ails them and point out a way by which they can overcome their feelings of unfitness and insecurity.

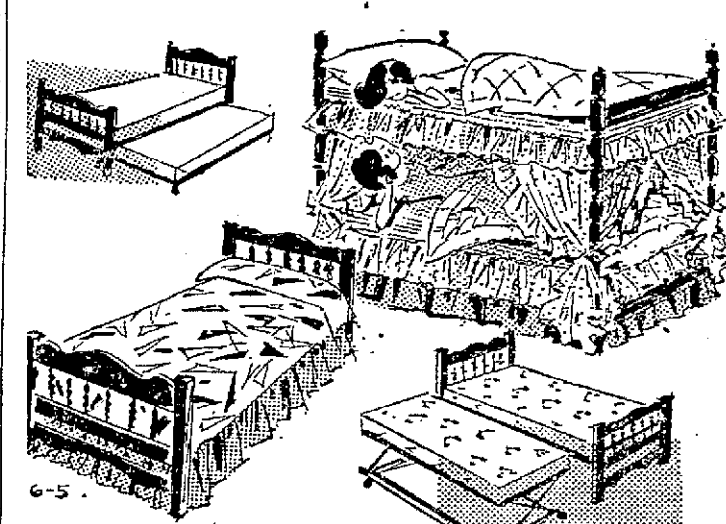

To earn the place they covet among their companions, they need to stop measuring their deficiencies against others' strengths and to start looking for their own unique strengths. They need to listen more and to talk less; to watch others they admire more and to criticize them less. They

Extra Bed Needn't Take Up Extra Room

A schoolgirl daughter may have been clamouring all year for a second bed in her room so her friends can stay all night. Or it may be difficult to put up visiting relatives. In either case and many others, now's a good time to plot extra sleeping accommodation into the house whether or not there's room for it. There needn't be extra room for it if the beds are like these.

Two beds occupy floor space for one if they're bunk or trundle style. And if it's a daughter's room which adds a bed, a bunk style can be chosen to make the room more feminine than ever. The Missy bunk beds sketched come with rods for the ruffled curtains that complete a canopy effect. The trundle bed, too, takes ruffling, to hide it until bedtime. Then when this one pulls out, it springs up to match the height of the other bed and stays beside it or rolls across the room.

Mrs. M. D. "We have four children and no TV room, so our living room gets lots of wear. The furniture has had four sets of slipcovers in five years and springs have been retied, but is nearly ready for discard. I chose dark green slipcovers to go over the rose furniture because I prefer the contrast of green to the light gray walls and the leaf patterned carpeting in light-to-dark shades of maroon. The tables are mahogany. What color should I choose for draperies, and for prospective new furniture?" The lighter shades in the rug color.

should be repeated. The sofa might be in a very dark gray and the chairs in a mixture of rose, gray and white, perhaps with a little black. The draperies, then, could pattern dark gray very sparingly on light gray to match the walls. Navy blue instead of gray would be smart, and white touches should be added to the scheme. Ask in the stores to see upholstery fabrics which have unusual wearing qualities — many manufacturers now make tests which provide helpful information.

Mrs. J. S. "Will you help me plan the decorating of a guest room that has slanting walls and maple furniture? What color should I paint the walls and woodwork, and what do you suggest for curtains and the floor?"

Maple furniture suggests wallpaper in a small Early American type all-over pattern, which will do so much decorating and is excellent for slanting walls. All the color combinations for this type of paper are pleasing and suitable — find one you like and match the walls and woodwork to its background. Choose other colors from the pattern for the curtain and rugs, or use braided rugs or mixtures with all or several of the colors. If you prefer paint, choose pattern of the same type in fabric, for curtains and spreads, and match the walls and woodwork to its background. Consider shutters stained the maple color.

Jackie Viewed as Link Uniting Old, New Worlds

BY FRANCES LEWINE

LONDON (AP)—Europe's newest favorite, Jacqueline Kennedy, compares notes tonight with a veteran at the game, Queen Elizabeth II.

The queen and Prince Philip will entertain President Kennedy and his wife at Buckingham Palace. It will be the first meeting between America's first lady and the British monarch.

Mrs. Kennedy is winding up her first official European visit after triumphant receptions in Paris and Vienna of a sort that is routine for the queen on her travels. The young American obviously has been surprised by the public enthusiasm, even though she had a sample of it in Canada on her first state visit there with the president three weeks ago.

Crowds Wait for Glimpse

Affectionately calling her "Jackie," crowds stood for hours in Vienna yesterday for a glimpse of the 31-year-old first lady. A roar of applause and cheers greeted her and Mrs. Nina Khrushchev, the wife of the Soviet premier, as they waved from a window of the Pallavicini Palace during lunch together.

Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Khrushchev provided a striking contrast in age, appearance and temperament.

The grandmotherly looking Russian, 61, with her warm smile, waves to people in the streets like a mother waving to her youngsters. She seems at ease and natural about it. Mrs. Kennedy is still stiff, controlled and at times evidently repelled by the intense interest of so many strangers.

Her youth and beauty draw people to her automatically, like a movie star. She only has to smile.

Many people in Paris and Vienna looked on her as a link between the new frontier and the old world.

They saw her handsome, 44-year-old husband as the leader of a great nation in a frightening nuclear age. Jacqueline, with her love for the 18th century, her French ancestry and education, and her interest in literature and culture, represents their world.

Prefers Privacy

They reached out to her in Paris and Vienna as if she belonged there. And she fitted beautifully into the regal surroundings of the Versailles and Schonbrunn palaces, the symbols of vanished royalty.

Mrs. Kennedy in the past has preferred privacy, but politics has deprived her of that. It remains to be seen whether she will continue to join in her husband's official travels or will sit most of them out as her predecessor, Mamie Eisenhower did.

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Vacation Foundations

Unless you plan to hike the backwoods or hide away from the world, you certainly will want to look your trimmest and slimmest while vacationing. One way, and vital, is assembling foundations that coordinate with your outer finery in every respect.

And that requires some forethought. Don't wait until packing day to check over your underclothes. Last-minute purchases are seldom as successful as you could wish. Rushed, you are apt to make a too hasty decision and skip the alteration that would provide perfect fit.

Then miles from home base and a source of supply, you discover you cannot wear your new cocktail dress for want of proper undergarments. What a disappointment.

ment, and what will you use for a substitute?

Play it safe! When you make an addition to your wardrobe, be sure you have the right support to wear beneath. If you lack it, get it pronto.

According to the Corset and Brassiere Council, most of us vacationers will be needing these items: A bra-lette for tiny-waisted cottons that always appear of a summer's eve... a strategically padded girdle and lace bra with a natural lift to understate overblouse fashions, travel suits and knits — brief, controlling pants and long-legged styles to wear with shorts and skinny pants... strapless and low-back bras for partying dresses.

Just for fun and a holiday mood, color-match your foundations and undergarments.

The Ailing House Patch Holes In Concrete With Latex

forms, because it left air pockets on the inside surfaces, some are 1/4" deep, some 1 1/2" deep and range from 1/4" to 2" in diameter. What can be used to fill these holes?

REMOVING PLASTER

Q: How can I remove plaster

from a Tennessee stone fireplace?

A: Water is the only "solvent" for plaster. Moisten the plaster with wet clothes, or by sprinkling water on it, until it softens, then, scrape off with a wood blade, to avoid scratching the stone.

Q: How can I change the color of an upholstered chair without recovering it, since the cover is perfectly good, but am tired of the color?

Win Tricks With Small Trumps

One way to protect yourself against a bad trump break is to win tricks with your small trumps by ruffing.

Victor Mitchell, famous New York expert, protected himself against this sad fate by going out for diamond ruffs.

Mitchell won the opening club lead in dummy, got to his hand with a heart and led his singleton diamond. He planned to ruff diamonds in his own hand, but kept his eyes open to watch out for an over-ruff.

When declarer led the singleton diamond, West looked thoughtfully at the dummy but played low. Apparently West had a high diamond.

East won the first diamond with the ten and returned a trump with never a quiver. The trump return might have caused more pain if East were reluctant to give South a trump finesse. Apparently East had no high trumps.

Only Straws

These were only straws, but better than no indication at all. Declarer went ahead with his plan, taking the ace of trumps. He cashed a top heart, ruffed a heart in dummy, ruffed a diamond in his hand, got to dummy with a club and ruffed another diamond.

Next he cashed the established jack of hearts, discarding the ten of clubs from dummy. East's failure to ruff made it quite clear that West had the rest of the trumps.

Mitchell led a club, and West could ruff in but then had to lead trumps away from the queen to give declarer the last two tricks. Mitchell thus made his contract with an overtrick where most dog players would go down one trick.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. What should be done for a sick dog — nerves are almost shot and her hind quarters are giving out? Jimmy Paltza, Burton, Ohio.

A. Paralysis of the hind quarters can be the result of a serious virus disease of dogs, which can leave a degeneration of the nervous system. Owing to advances in modern drugs, we don't see quite as much of this as we used to. Once the paralysis has set in, there is very little we can do. I'm sure your veterinarian has tried all that our healing art can offer. There are braces and wheel chairs for dogs in this condition available now. By supporting the hind legs, the dog can get around without pain and actually in comfort. Using these appliances and protecting the dog from other animals, we can often keep our beloved pet with us for years.

Turkish Rulers Try to Pull Nation From Economic Slump

Average Turk Feels Insecure Under Present Military Rule

ANKARA, (AP)—One year after toppling the stringman government of Adnan Menderes, Turkey's military rulers today grope by trial and error for the new order they promised when they seized power. Still ahead are promised free elections. Until they are held, the average Turk will feel uncertain, insecure and a little uneasy.

Some solid advances toward the goal of free elections have been registered, even while the military regime has occasionally throttled a basic liberty.

Model Constitution Most important has been the writing of a new, model constitution. Drawn up by a committee of intellectuals and specialists from many walks of life, it guarantees individual and press liberty and provides for checks and balances within a cabinet-type government. It calls for establishment of a supreme court, which will have broad judicial powers but not as broad as those enjoyed by the U. S. Supreme Court.

The 27 army, navy and air force officers who make up the junta ruling this strategic NATO ally also have attacked the problem of Turkey's underdevelopment by organizing a state planning board to administer five-year development plans for industry, construction, education and agriculture.

But while the government plans,

2 State Solons Meet to Discuss Policies With Ike

WASHINGTON — Two Wisconsin congressmen were among six guests invited by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to spend the weekend at his Gettysburg farm to discuss policy for the strategy and policies to be used by the Republican party in the future.

Reps. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, and Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, were chosen as members of the group, which, Eisenhower has indicated, he will mention during an upcoming television show as examples of the young leaders in whose hands the future of the Republican party will rest.

general feeling of progress toward democratic liberty, despite some setbacks.

Newspapers today can and do criticize the military government, but carefully. The government requires that papers which publish criticism must be prepared to document statements or charges in a court of law.

Only recently, some 140 last ditch Menderes supporters were seized, charged with anti-revolutionary activity and held for trial.

What unrest exists in Turkey today can be traced almost exclusively to extreme right wing Menderes backers. They operate in small groups and there is no evidence of a national resistance organization of any kind.

Some Opposition This type of Menderes die-hard is apparently willing to risk his life trying to free Menderes, ex-president Calal Bayar and other former leaders of Menderes' now banned Democrat Party from Yassida, the Marmara Sea island where they are on trial for their lives charged with violation of Turkey's constitution.

There are other Democrats who adhere to what Menderes created but want to see the party restored.

Behind the transition pains through which Turkey now is passing, there appears to be a single constant—the country's warm allegiance to NATO and its pro-American orientation.

Likes America Basically, the Turk likes Americans. A traditionally hospitable person, he feels linked with the United States by the common experiences of Korea and by a shared mistrust of Russia, Turkey's big northern neighbor which has repeatedly attacked this country through the centuries in its quest for a foothold on the Mediterranean.

The average Turk has remained friendly toward Americans through the revolution. There are annoyances, as there are wherever Americans and foreigners mix.

But one veteran diplomat, thinking back to Turkey's World War I alliance with Germany, summed it up best when he said: "I can think of only one country for which Turkey has had a greater affinity than she has for the United States. That was Germany—50 years ago."

Third and Fourth Grade Spanish pupils at St. Joseph School presented the play "Caperucita Roja" (Little Red Riding Hood) for their parents Saturday morning. The play marked the end of Spanish classes for this year. Pictured in a scene from the play are, from left, Gregory Scholtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Scholtz, as el lenador (the woodcutter); Karin Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Weiss, as Caperucita Roja, (Little Red Riding Hood); and James Milhaupt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Milhaupt, as el lobo (the wolf).

Thousands of Positions

Jobs Go Begging Despite Jobless Rate, Lack of Right Skills Answer

BY WILLIAM P. GRUBER

CHICAGO (UPI) Despite high unemployment, thousands of jobs were going begging across the nation today.

The jobs were good ones. But there weren't enough men who had the education or skills to fill them.

A check of key cities by United Press International showed there of April, according to the California Department of Employment. Most of the jobs called for skilled or technically trained people.

The Chicago office of the Illinois State Employment Service cannot fill calls for 143 stenographers, for example, there were phers from its rolls of some 185,000 jobs.

In the Pittsburgh area, where the percentage of unemployment is nearly twice the national average, openings exist not only for skilled persons, but such diverse jobs as cooks, housekeepers and social workers.

'It's a Paradox'

Similar reports came from state and private employment agencies, labor department officials and personnel managers of large firms across the country.

"It is a paradox in a way," said Dudley Cameron, assistant manager of the California state agency's San Francisco branch. "There may be a terrible amount of unemployment but, at the same time, a moderate number of jobs do exist."

This apparent disparity led labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg last week to urge an "intensive nationwide drive" by U. S. Employment Service offices and private firms to match openings with the unemployed.

A look at who made up the 4,962,000 Americans out of work in mid-April, the latest figure available, points up the problem.

Nearly 17 per cent of the unemployed were farm and other laborers, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Another 26 per cent were factory workers, 10 per cent clerical, 14 per cent craftsmen and 10 per cent service personnel.

No Experience

Almost 10 per cent had no previous working experience. A large number was hampered by lack of a high school education.

Cameron summed up comments made by employment people across the nation:

"We have an over-abundance of applicants for unskilled jobs. But there's a shortage of qualified people all along the line for the technical, scientific, engineering and even stenographic fields."

Union Problem

A Massachusetts electronics firm reported a chronic need for technicians and engineers. "The technical schools simply are not producing enough people," said Joseph Vicenti, head of Mech-Lab in Walther.

In Detroit, every automaker but Chrysler Corp. said it is having trouble finding people for specialized jobs.

One auto firm said it is hampered in hiring qualified new employees for semi-skilled jobs because of union seniority agreements. As a result, the firm is giving up to 200 hours of company-paid instruction in hydraulics, electricity, electronics and other fields to increase the skills of its high-seniority employees.

Women workers are in greater demand than men in many areas. Every agency reported a sheaf of calls for typists, stenographers, clerks, nurses and household workers.

"Experience isn't always necessary," said the Butterfield Employment Agency in Milwaukee. "Employers will be glad to take alert girls out of school and train them."

While economists look for the unemployment picture to improve as the nation pulls out of the recession, most expect about 6 per cent of the labor force to be jobless in December. This would compare with 6.5 per cent in April and the recession high of about 6.8 per cent.

The more distant outlook is more cloudy. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said an average of 1.25 million more persons will enter the labor market each year as the population expands. The rate will increase to about 1.5 million by 1965 and 1.75 million by 1970.

How much Social Security will your wife get? Have you unintentionally "disinherited" a child? Find the answer to these and other vital questions with a

FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP

Now you can check up on your family's financial health, just as you check up on your physical health. This service is more than an interview. It is a review every father should have regularly—whether he needs insurance or not.

What you could lose without one

There are mistakes, oversights, gaps in the average man's financial security program. Too much of it is haphazard. Too much of it is left to chance. It lacks a plan. Or, too often, it simply falls behind the times.

For example, the Social Security law has been changed nine times since its inception. And the Social Security benefits your wife and children could get may not dovetail efficiently with your pension or insurance programs. Then too—you can unintentionally "disinherit" a child, in effect, if you have overlooked naming him among your beneficiaries.

More than an interview—a service

Metropolitan, the Company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers a way to check up on your family's financial health.

Metropolitan representatives have been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and are qualified by solid experience to bring you this Family Security Check-Up service. They are equipped with businesslike charts and tables that show you exactly where you stand.

Whether you need insurance or not, this service makes sense. Remember, Metropolitan is as local as Main Street—as close as your phone. Call your Metropolitan man today.

There is no obligation—except to those you love.

WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES FOR YOU

With the help of your Metropolitan man

1. You check the facts: your Social Security, your home, your life insurance, your pension plan, your savings and other assets. You may be surprised to learn how much you're worth.
2. You weigh your responsibilities: mortgage or rent payments, education, retirement, accident and sickness emergencies; how much it would cost your family to live without you.
3. You learn where you stand. You determine your weak and strong points . . . whether the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend. You get the facts in front of you.
4. You plan for the future. Based on these facts, you decide what action, if any, may be needed to give you a family security plan, tailor-made to your own needs and ambitions—one which makes good sense for you.

munists, I am ashamed to say, is to be envied by us."

He warned that "our nation's destiny will be based on the sum total of our daily actions. Therefore, I ask you to practice what you profess to believe in. Lead by being exemplar; seize responsibility. You can be a task force for our side."

In Germany
A veteran of the U.S. Foreign Service and Information Agency, he spent the past three years as director of the U. S. Information Agency in Berlin. Klieforth told the gathering that he hopes it will never really learn the difference between America's way of life and communism.

"Every facet of life in East Germany is geared to produce the mass man. You are trained to think collectively. It is impossible to be a stamp collector without belonging to a government sponsored stamp collector's club. It is impossible to be a musician without being a member of a government musical organization."

Despite this, Klieforth stated, only about 5 per cent of the East German youth really believe in this system. Some are already on our side and some don't really care, but the majority are plainly confused.

Grope For Truth
"They are groping for truth. They want to know. And the future of their country rests on these people. The real danger is that they may be taken in by the image of our country which is being spread abroad."

This is what is taking place in America today. The news emphasizes race riots, juvenile delinquency and slum areas.

"My own children saw this news on an East German TV channel and were horrified," Klieforth related. "They asked me if this was really America and I had to admit that it was. But it was also a distorted image because underneath these things the majority of our people are decent, dedicated people."

But he again noted that what has happened in East Germany can happen here.

"When I was in Germany in 1933, they said it couldn't happen there," he declared. Many of the Germans of the same generation of this year's graduating class have known nothing but the ravages of war and dictatorial rule.

Outburst in Bar Costs Crivitz Man $471.40

OSHKOSH — An angry outburst at the White Swan Tavern in the town of Menasha on May 13 cost Donald Johnson, 22, Crivitz, formerly of 1930 1/2 S. Oneida St., Appleton, a total of $471.40.

Johnson was fined $61.65 on a property destruction charge by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane this morning.

A 60-day jail sentence for disorderly conduct was stayed for six months on condition Johnson pays $300 to the tavern owner, Clarence Suttner, for damages, and $110 to the bartender, Elmer P. Wiley, for medical bills. Johnson also was ordered not to frequent taverns or drink intoxicants.

The arrest followed Johnson's jumping back and forth over the bar several times, smashing the glassware on the bar, and damaging the cash register. On one of his jumps he landed on Wiley. Johnson became angered after receiving a telephone call at the tavern and after being told he should not jump across the bar.

Post-Crescent Truck Driver in Good Condition

Herman Seegers, 34, 1918 E. John St., a truck driver for the Post-Crescent, was reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital today after he became ill while driving his truck Saturday. A passerby noticed him collapsed in the vehicle and sought aid.

Seegers was driving on Midway Road in the Town of Menasha about 2 p.m. delivering papers when he became ill and passed out. An unidentified girl went by on horseback and did not notice him until she returned on her way home about two hours later. She summoned help and Seegers was taken to the hospital.

Another driver was sent to complete the route and some papers in the Town of Menasha and the city were delivered late.

June 25 to July 8, the 395th Ordnance Company will be at camp. Included are four officers and 39 enlisted men.

Aug. 6 to 20 the 291st Engineers will be in training with five officers and 70 enlisted men.

The First Battalion of the 274th Infantry will train from July 9 to 20. It includes 23 officers and 80 enlisted men.

The electronics division, 9-5, of the naval reserve does not train as a group. Men of the company go on two weeks training individually throughout the year.

U. S. Communists Must Register, Court Decides

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Supreme Court, dividing sharply 5-4, today crowned with success the government's 10-year fight to compel the communist party to register and disclose its membership and finances.

Writing the majority opinion upholding the government drive to force the party to register as an arm of the Soviet Union, Justice Frankfurter scoffed at the party's arguments that its rights under the Constitution's first amendment were being abridged.

If the high court agreed, he said, it would "make a travesty of that amendment and the great ends for the well-being of our democracy that it serves."

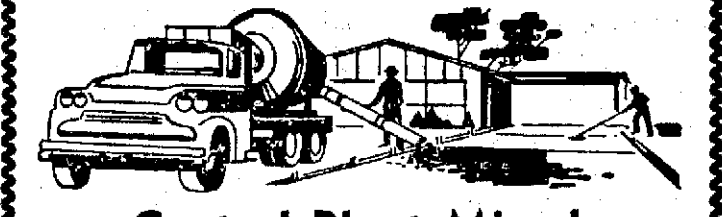

The first amendment guarantee freedom of speech and the right of peaceable assembly.

Frankfurter stressed that there was no attempt by the court majority "to impose stifling obligations upon the proponents of a particular political creed as such; or even to check the importation of particular political ideas from abroad for propagation here."

"The act compels the registration of organized groups which have been made the instruments of a long continued, systematic, disciplined activity directed by a foreign power and purposing to overthrow existing government in this country."

One of the dissenters, Justice Black, said that if he had his way he would leave the communists free to advocate proletarian dictatorship, in full confidence that Americans will remain loyal to democratic government "truly dedicated to freedom and justice."

Byrnes Hits Fiscal Policies of Kennedy

Says President, Democrats Plunging On Spending Spree With No Planning

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The Kennedy Administration and the Democratic-controlled Congress are "plunging blindly ahead" on a spending spree "without mapping out a course," Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay Republican, charged today in a statement on the current fiscal policy as partially outlined by the President in a recent address before a joint session of Congress.

The Wisconsin congressman, from the 8th district, who is chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, likened what he called "this wave of spending increases" to a Boy Scout going into the woods without first determining where he was going and how he was going to get there.

Kennedy Appears

"Last Thursday, the president appeared before Congress and asked for additional spending authority totalling about $1.5 billion for defense, new space programs, foreign aid and other projects," the congressman reported.

"Guesses are that approval of these requests will add at least $1 billion to spending in 1962, but considerably more in future years."

"The enlarged space program alone will cost from $7 to $9 billion additional over a five year period, raising the cost of the entire space program to a total of from $22 to $31 billion over the period. The President also requested several new domestic programs but did not estimate their immediate or long-range cost," he continued.

Noting that the President has asked that Congress restrain itself from adding additional costs to his program, Byrnes commented that "this point was well taken."

Cites Example

He gave several examples where the Congress had added to Mr. Kennedy's monetary requests, stating that "in the Senate, an education bill has been passed which adds $200 million to the $2.3 billion, recommended by the President."

In the House, he said, $390 million was added to the Administration request for military procurement, with the Senate bill raising the ante $132 million higher than the House bill, or nearly half a billion higher than the President's request.

Emphasizing that "action is dragging on the President's request to increase postal rates," Byrnes said that "if this is not done, $800 million more will be added to the 1962 deficit."

Huber Law Man Gets Extra Year For Walking Out

A Huber Law prisoner who failed to come back to his cell in the Outagamie County Jail more than a year ago was ordered back into that cell in Municipal Court today.

George W. Webster, 31, route 2, West De Pere, was sentenced to an additional year in the county jail. Acting Municipal Judge Stanley A. Staidl said he could work under the Huber Law.

The year term will start after Webster has served out a year term for non-support. He was convicted of non-support October 5, 1959, but a prison sentence was stayed and he was placed on probation. On Feb. 2, 1960, Webster violated his probation and was sentenced to a year in the county jail. He walked away April 30, 1960.

Since he left, Webster has served a six-month term in Chicago's House of Corrections for assisting in a burglary. Chicago police picked Webster up last December.

Outagamie County Sheriff's officers brought him back from Chicago Thursday.

Investigate Reckless Shooting; Woman Hit By Spent Bullet

OSHKOSH — County police are investigating reckless use of a rifle in the Gardners Row area, south of Appleton city limits in the Town of Menasha.

Mrs. Julian Heise, 370 Gardners Row, told police she heard a shot Friday morning while hanging out laundry and was struck by the spent bullet, which ricocheted off her home. She was about 3 feet from where the bullet struck the house, but was not injured.

Man Recommended to Central State Hospital

OSHKOSH — Larz B. Johnson, 38, Madison, was ordered recommended to the Central State Hospital by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane this morning.

Johnson had been arraigned earlier for non-support of his wife and three children, who live in Neenah, from May 8, 1960 to April 7, 1961.

The report of the Central State Hospital superintendent Dr. E. F. Schubert, indicated Johnson should receive further treatment.

Mrs. Mary Lee Gough, Boston and Chicago, was elected president of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist.

Of Appleton's
Pay Schedule

Committees Want
State Bureau to Re-Evaluate Plan

Appleton's finance and public safety committees are recommending that the city's entire pay plan be re-evaluated and brought up to date by the state bureau of personnel.

The two committees met jointly Thursday to discuss a resolution by Ald. Homer Malmstrom, asking for the re-evaluation.

A letter from the state bureau said the job could be done for the $400 or $500. The original pay plan, prepared for the city by the state about two years ago, cost $2,086.

Malmstrom asked for the reevaluation because of major changes that have "thrown the plan out of balance."

He cited a reduction in work hours for the street, sanitation and park departments, and a completely revised pay plan for police and firemen.

Raises Given

Street, sanitation and park workers had their hours cut from 44 to 40 a week, with no reduction in pay. This amounted to a 10 per cent hourly wage hike. Another 10-cent an hour raise was given the men last November at the budget time.

In the police and fire departments all the men were put at the top of their brackets, except the men who have been on the force for less than three years. These men get an automatic raise each year, for three years, then are at the top of their brackets.

The two committees want the revised pay plan ready for adoption by budget time this November.

overcome. We can't all be bosses but we can be happy and bring peace and joy through best use of our talents." Father Chaffee continued.

A person may abuse God's gifts, but he will have to answer to God for it. But he is happy when he rightly uses what God has given him, he said.

Processional and recessional were played on the organ by Mrs. Alberta Doverspike, vocal music director at the high school. The school choir sang three hymns.

son said. "It may be five."

The same is true of a class whose members are all one age, he added. Miss Mary Jo Weingarten has a wider range in her present primary III class than she is likely to have teaching the second mixed group next year, the principal said.

Chronological, social, physical and intellectual age aren't all the same, Retson explained. The mixed group has 8-year-olds smaller than the biggest 6-year-old.

In the mixed group, Miss Weber has four reading groups and four arithmetic groups, each of which is at a different point on the way to learning the subjects.

Four Groups Mixed

Social studies and science are taught by the problem approach. In social studies, the group studied homes this year and will go on to transportation next year and occupations the year after. The fourth year, when an almost entirely new group of youngsters will be in the class, homes can be the theme again.

The study of homes, the children start with their own homes and families and move on to learn about homes in other places and times—geography and history, the older student may call it.

The teacher, based on her observation of how the children can work, divides the class into small groups to work on projects connected with the general project. More advanced students work on more complicated projects.

One project in the study of homes has been a large bulletin board map of Appleton with colored cut-outs of houses and other buildings—churches, schools, stores, restaurants and other places the children know—placed in place. Several houses, in which children from the eastern outskirts of the city live, are fastened to the wall outside the bulletin board frame.

Mrs. Robert O. Brown, 1232 Oakcrest Ct. and Mrs. Jack Olson, 1221 W. The sessions are held at the Fond du Lac Vocational School.

ed group as the school had expected it to be. Retson said future mixed groups may have a wide range of physical abilities so that the best way of teaching physical education may be to combine two mixed groups and redivide them according to size.

The principal cautioned that as more mixed groups are set up, some may get too wide a range of children—one or two who are way ahead or way behind.

The flexibility of the system would allow two classes to trade youngsters so several exceptional ones are together, he said.

Hugo E. Kenitz, 68, former vice president of the Globe-American second year of teaching. Some teachers have expressed doubt that an inexperienced teacher could have the same success as Miss Weber has had with a mixed group, but Retson is confident that a young teacher that wants to teach such a class can do it.

The mixed group at Huntley of General Electric in Chicago has attracted 54 out-of-state visitors, coming from coast to coast, who are interested in some form Commerce.

'Knowing Membership'
Clause Ruled Valid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld validity of the "knowing membership" clause of the Smith anti-Communist act of 1940.

The clause makes it a crime to be a member of a group knowing that it advocates violent overthrow of the government.

Justice Harlan delivered the court's ruling.

The court made the decision in upholding conviction of Julius Irving Scales, son of a prominent North Carolina family and one-time chairman of a Communist party district embracing the Carolinas.

Tigers and Indians Sweep Twin Bills; Yanks Rap Chisox

Detroit Cracks 8 Homers in Winning Two From Minnesota

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cleveland is making a big move in the American League race by winning 18 of its last 22 games but it can't match the home run boom of the front-running Detroit Tigers.

The secret of Detroit's ability can be read in the Sunday box scores. The Tigers' eight home runs were hit by eight different men.

Sure, the big men hit a few. Rocky Colavito got No. 15, Norm Cash No. 12, and Dick Brown No. 9. But the list also included Chico Fernandez, Bubba Morton, Mike Roarke, Jake Wood and Billy Bruton.

Lead in Homers
The Tigers now lead the league in home runs with a total of 61, a statistic that is almost as startling as their long tenure in first place.

Detroit took two falls out of the groggy Minnesota Twins Sunday 10-4 and 9-3. The Twins now have lost nine in a row and 14 of their last 15.

Cleveland continued to streak along on the trail of the Tigers by sweeping two from the Los Angeles Angels, who can't seem to do much when they get out of Wrigley Field. The Indians won 5-3 and 8-4.

New York finally found a pitcher besides Whitey Ford who could go the route in Bill Stalford. He proceeded to hold Chicago to seven hits while the White Sox chipped in with five errors, easing the Yanks' way to a 10-1 romp.

Win in Ninth
Boston beat Baltimore 6-5 on Joe Ginsberg's pinch two-run single in the last-of-the-ninth. It was Ginsberg's first hit of the year.

Jim Archer, who escaped from the Kansas City bullpen on the suggestion of owner Charlie Finley, went all the way to top Washington 8-5 although he gave up 15 hits, five in the ninth.

The Tigers finally exploded the power to back up Frank Lary en route to his eighth victory in the opener. Brown, Wood and Fernandez hit their homers in the eighth inning. Bob Bruce gave way to Paul Foytack, the eventual winner, in the second game of a doubleheader played before 32,761 at Detroit.

Continues Streak
John Romano continued his streak, hitting safely in his 18th and 19th games in Cleveland's sweep over the Angels. Jim Perry needed help from Bob Allen and Frank Funk in the first. Wynn Hawkins, all of whose five victories have come on Sunday, got a hand from Bobby Locke in the late innings of the second.

The Yanks got four runs off Billy Pierce in the first inning on three walks, an error by Luis Aparicio and a three-run double by Elston Howard. Later, Roger Maris hit his 15th homer. Ginsberg's winning hit in Boston off Hoyt Wilhelm came after the Red Sox had failed three times to bring home the tying run from third base. Jim Gentile hit No. 14 for the Orioles.

Kansas City climbed past Washington into fifth place on Archer's victory. Among the 13 hits by the A's was Andy Carey's third homer.

Larry Booth scored a hole-in-one on the 120-yard sixth hole Saturday. He won $150 in merchandise.

A total of 112 golfers played in the seventh annual Adler Brau tourney.

The "A" flight champion is Green Bay's Ray Scofield, with a 157. Elmer Vandenberg and George Pasek tied for second, with 160.

Foxes Win 2 of 3 Weekend Tilts, Retain Second Place

Sweep Pair From Lincoln on Minimum of Base Hits

BY RALPH MUELLER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The economy-minded Fox Cities Foxes completed a sweep of the 4-game series with the Lincoln Chiefs Saturday by reeling off two 1-run victories in a day.

The Foxes were out in both contests but made good use of the hits they did get.

The best economical display came in the evening affair when the Foxes could collect only five hits but won the game, 3-2. They were out, 16-9, in the afternoon contest but outscored the Chiefs, 7-6.

"Photi" Anthony proved to be the hero of the first game as he sent four runs home with a pair of doubles. The Chiefs' Bill DiCrosta had 4-for-5.

The evening affair was highlighted by an encouraging performance by the young bonus southpaw Dave McNally. McNally hurled seven complete innings, striking out five and walking only two, before he was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Jim Dunlap, who has hurled better games, got credit for the afternoon victory and now sports a 4-2 record. Dunlap needed help from Dick Tetraut and Joe Puleo, with the latter putting out the fire in the ninth with the tying marker on first base.

Sam Bowers had the longest hit of the game, a home run in the eighth. Bowers' poke was an "insurance" wallop, giving the Foxes a 2-run lead, and the "policy."

Bees Break Jinx After 17 Games

BURLINGTON, Iowa — The Burlington Bees ended a long-standing jinx Sunday when they whipped the Fox Cities Foxes, 12-5.

The Foxes had beaten Burlington 17 straight times in two seasons. Five of the victories had come this year.

Tonight, the second-place Foxes meet the Bees in a doubleheader. John Miller, a Foxes bullpen ace, is scheduled to get his first start of the season, with John Ellen hurling the other game. Larry West and either Pete Sala or Don Kildoo will start for the Bees.

The Foxes led only once Sunday, getting a pair in the second inning on starter (and loser) Bob Scott's bases-loaded single.

Burlington went ahead, 3-2, in its half of the second on a 2-run single by winning pitcher Roger Irvine and a 1-4 run error by "Nellie" Cochran.

A solo homer by Bill Jackson in the third and a 2-run blast by Jose Vidal in the fourth made it 6-2.

The Bees added two in the fifth — driven in by Jackson and Don Nipp and four in the eighth off relievers Joe Puleo and "Photi" Anthony (who pitched for the first time this year).

Middlecoff Sets Course Record in Win at Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP) — There's no place like home and nobody knows it better than Cary Middlecoff, who came from behind to win the Memphis Open Sunday for a $4,300 paycheck—his biggest in three years.

Middlecoff, who was born in nearby Halls, Tenn., and practically grew up on Memphis golf courses, nailed front-runner Gardner Dickinson to finish with 266, a tournament record. The old record, 267, was set in 1958 by Billy Maxwell.

Dickinson, the lean 120-pounder from Tequesta, Fla., who led the first three days, slipped to a second-place tie with Mike Sou-chak at 271. Both collected $2,500.

Stu Miller Shines as Giants Edge Dodgers; Cubs Split With Reds

LA Lead Cut to Half Game; Phils Blank Pittsburgh

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It takes a fellow like Stu Miller to prove the race isn't always to the swift. Stu can just about crack a pane of glass when his fast ball really is humming. They say he has three pitches—slow, slower and slowest.

Whatever it is that Miller has, it seems to work. He has a 4-0 record. Sunday they called him in from the San Francisco bullpen when Sam Jones ran into a wild spell at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Jones had walked in a run by passing pinch-hitter Ron Fairly with the bases loaded. Although he had a 4-2 lead and had struck out eight, Manager Al Dark decided he needed help. He called for Miller. Stu responded by shutting out the Dodgers the rest of the way.

Alou Homers
The Giants' 4-2 victory, set up by Felipe Alou's two-run homer off loser Stan Williams, cut the Dodgers' National League lead to a half game. The Giants and Cincinnati Reds are tied for second, five percentage points back.

Cincinnati could have regained the lead but they stumbled over Chicago after winning the first game. Jim Maloney threw a three-hitter at Chicago in the 3-1 opener but the Cubs downed the Reds 8-2 in the second game.

Warren Spahn, spinning along toward another 20-game season, won his sixth of the year and the 294th of his career, by pitching Milwaukee to a 7-1 decision over St. Louis. He gave up only six hits.

First Victory
Don Ferrarese, a refugee from the American League, made his first victory for Philadelphia a 5-0 job against Pittsburgh. It was the second time in three days the Pirates had been shut out by the Phils.

The Giants' victory over the Dodgers was the first in their last six meetings and salvaged the final game of a series. A crowd of 47,463 saw the Giants get two off Stan Williams in the first and add another pair on Alou's homer in the seventh. Los Angeles scored on Johnny Roseboro's homer in the fifth and again in the seventh on Jones' walk with the bases loaded.

Young Maloney, who was 21 Friday, had a shutout in the first game until Chicago's George Altman homered with one out in the ninth. Jim O'Toole did not have the same good fortune. Back-to-back homers by Ron Santo and Ernie Banks in the first started him on the way to his fifth defeat despite Frank Robinson's 13th home run.

The Phillies knocked out Vinegar Bend Mizell in the second inning. Manager Danny Murtough for the second time this season called on Bob Friend, a starter, for relief work. Ferrarese allowed only five hits.

It was the third straight win for Freedom and gave the club sole possession of first place. Freedom scored four runs in the first inning and added to its margin in each of its succeeding turns. The game was halted after the eighth because of its one-sidedness.

Third Victory
Jim VandeWettering was credited with his third pitching triumph of the season. He hurled for the first five innings and then gave way to Ron Slender.

Joe DeBruin went the first six innings for Harrison and took the loss. He was followed to the mound by Gary Schriver and Tom Stumpf.

Gene Romenesko, Don VandeWettering and new catcher Bill Feynik each had three hits to pace the 19-hit barrage for the winners.

Jim VandeWettering collected an inside-the-park homer with a man on in the first inning.

Spahn's 6-Hitter Tips Cards

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Southpaw ace Warren Spahn narrowed the magic number to six for career victory No. 300 in pitching the Milwaukee Braves to a firm hold on fifth place Sunday before the start on a long road trip.

Spahn fired a six-hitter and the Braves came up with some timely hitting to defeat St. Louis 7-1 and regain a game and a half margin over the Cardinals before a crowd of 18,768 at County Stadium.

After taking the series from St. Louis two games to one, the Braves packed hurriedly and flew to Cincinnati, where they open a two-week road tour against the Reds tonight.

5-0 Lead
The Braves supplied Spahn a 5-0 lead in the second inning and the 40-year-old warhorse was in command the rest of the way in boosting his 1951 record to 6-4 and posting his 294th lifetime triumph.

Featuring Milwaukee's nine-hit attack were homers by Lee Maye and Frank Bolling and a double and a pair of singles by slick-fielding shortstop Roy McMillan.

The Braves equalled their highest inning output of the year with their five-run outburst against St. Louis starter Bob Gibson (2-3) in the second.

Hank Aaron led off with a single to left, but Joe Adcock flied to right. Frank Thomas walked and Gibson then committed a balk, as Aaron danced off second base, to advance both runners. Joe Torre drew an intentional pass to fill the bases.

Strategy Backfires
The St. Louis strategy backfired as McMillan promptly singled to center for two runs. Spahn struck out, but Maye then poled his fifth homer down the right field line for three more runs.

The Cards argued heatedly that Maye's hit was foul, but umpire Bill Jackowski stuck by his original ruling of fair ball.

Splits Twin Bill With Topeka; Lincoln Wins, 7-5

Cedar Rapids split a double-header with Topeka Sunday to increase its Three-I League lead to one game.

Bob Wedin pitched a 1-hitter as the Braves won the 7-inning opener, 1-0. The only run scored in the first inning on three Topeka errors.

The Reds won the nightcap, 6-5, as Art Shanksy's single and a pop-fly error produced the tie-breaking run in the ninth. Joe Trenary's 3-run home had given Cedar Rapids a tie in the top of the ninth.

Two Lincoln homers paced a 7-5 victory over Des Moines, the fourth straight defeat for the Demons. Chico Heron and Pat Corrales hit back-to-back homers for the Demons.

Chiefs Fred Loesekam and Bill DiCrosta delivered the round-trippers as Lincoln made its record 7-0 against Des Moines.

Macs Wallop Hortonville '9'

Meyer, Koehnke And Konetzke Allow Three Hits

MENASHA — The Menasha Macs used a 14-hit attack, including home runs by Clem Massey, (two), Jim Meyer, and Lee Peterson, to wallop Hortonville, 17-2, Saturday night.

The Macs tallied five markers in the first inning and were never headed. Massey climaxed the initial outburst with his round-tripper. The winners combined two hits and a pair of walks for four runs in the second and Jim Meyer's circuit clout made the score 10-0 after three frames.

Menasha had one more barrel to fire and it exploded in the fifth for five runs on rive hits, including Peterson's blast and Massey's second four-base blow of the game.

Meyer, Bud Koehnke, and Tom Konetzke shared pitching duties for the Macs. They gave up just three hits, two to Ken Huebner. Herman Schwes gathered the hit. One of Huebner's blows was for four bases, leading off the sixth inning.

Jim Meyer Hurls 1-Hitter for Macs

Leads Menasha to 9-0 Victory Over Green Bay in Valley Loop

Jim Meyer fashioned a 1-hitter including three-for-four by Bud in leading the Menasha Macs to a 9-0 victory over Green Bay in a Fox River Valley Baseball League encounter at the loser's field Sunday.

The victory gives the Macs, defending league champion, a 2-1 record.

Struck Out Nine Ron Miller's fourth inning single was the lone hit off Meyer. Miller was erased in a double play. The only other runners to reach base was a pair of men walked in the seventh inning.

Meyer, a fast-balling right-hander struck out nine and was backed up by a 14 hit attack

The Macs scored six runs in the third inning, two in the seventh and one in the ninth.

The big third inning included three walks off loser Larry Smits, a double by Bob Jensen and singles by "Butch" Konetzke and Clem Massey.

All this air is FREE...

Sure, gasoline costs money...

But now, as you drive your carburetor clean, you can burn more free air, burn less gasoline to get more miles per gallon:

Extra gasoline mileage starts at your carburetor. That's where air and gasoline are mixed together so they burn together efficiently and economically in your engine. For each gallon of gasoline it uses, your engine burns about 9,500 gallons of air.

A Dirty Carburetor Wastes Gasoline

When dirty deposits build up on and around the throttle plate in your carburetor's throat, your engine can't "breathe" right at slow engine speeds or when idling. It then starts to idle "rough," dies easily, may stall frequently at stop signs because it isn't getting all the air it needs.

A Costly Mistake You Will Want To Avoid:

The solution seems simple: just reset the throttle with a twist of a screwdriver to let in more air. But the trouble with this is, because of the way many carburetors are made, you may cause your engine to pull in more gasoline too.

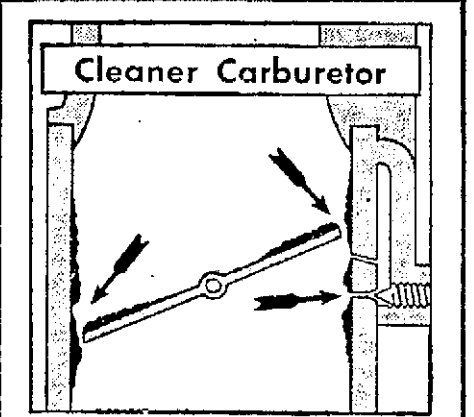

How To Burn More Air... Without Burning More Gasoline:

This secret has now become well-known. Just switch to Skelly Regular Gasoline with detergent-action KT-3. A special new formulation that "un-glues" dirty deposits from carburetor throats, KT-3 lets you clean your carburetor just by driving.

With your carburetor clean again, your engine can breathe all the air it wants at slow engine speeds without the need for gas-wasting carburetor adjustments or a costly (from $8.50 to $25) cleaning job.

No Extra Cost for KT-3:

Although it costs Skelly extra to make KT-3 and inject it into Skelly Regular Gasoline at terminals around the country, you pay nothing extra to get KT-3. Just switch to Skelly Regular Gasoline. Use it regularly. Drive your carburetor clean, so that your engine can burn more free air and less gasoline to give you more miles per gallon. See your Skelly dealer soon.

Cleans carburetors 30% better than all additives tested. New Skelly Regular with KT-3 dissolves the gum that binds dirty deposits to vital carburetor areas shown by arrows above. That lets your engine breathe free — and does it just by driving!

... And A Cleaner Engine, Too:

New Skelly Regular with KT-3 also...

- Cleans valve areas 20% better than all additives tested.
- Cleans intake systems 19% better than all additives tested.
- Even cleans your combustion chambers better than all additives tested.

Indications are Horse Was Ailing In Belmont Race

OCEANPORT, N. J. (AP) — Carry Back, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner who failed dismally in the Belmont Stakes, must have been hurting in the left front ankle when he blew a chance Saturday to become the ninth Triple Crown hero.

Another colt owned by a Miami resident, Jacob Sher's Sherluck, was a romping winner of the $148,650 Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park. Carry Back, bet down to favoritism at odds of 9 to 20

Eau Claire '9' Tips Oshkosh For State Title

EAU CLAIRE (AP) — Eau Claire won its third state high school baseball championship by defeating Oshkosh 4-0 in the finals of the tournament Saturday.

Dick Hanson pitched a four-hitter for the Old Abers, winner in 1957 and 1958, but needed help from Ron Poquette in the final inning after walking the first two batters. Poquette struck out two batters and the third grounded out.

Glenn Miller, the loser, gave up five hits, including a solo homer by Rick Hensen. Miller hurled a 5-0 no-hit victory over Rice Lake Thursday.

Adderly, Balme Will Play in All-America Bowl

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Yale guard Ben Balme and Michigan State halfback Herb Adderly were among four more players signed Thursday for the first All-America Football Bowl here June 23.

Joining Adderly and Balme on the East squad were Mississippi end John Brewer and halfback Fred Arbanas of Michigan State.

Balme has signed to play next season with the Philadelphia Eagles, and Adderly with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League. Arbanas has signed with the Dallas Texans of the American Football League.

Back was loaded on the van for his 60-mile trip to Monmouth Park.

Price refused, however, to blame the cut for the loss of the race, the toughest of the triple series. The 1 1/4-mile Derby was May 6, the 1 1/2-mile Preakness May 20, and the 1 1/2-mile Belmont Saturday.

Re-Play Movies

Officials re-played the race movies on a closed-circuit TV later, and a rear view of the horses heading down the home stretch showed Carry Back bearing in from the middle of the track over to the rail most of the final quarter mile. That indicated his left fore ankle, as stated by Price, was giving trouble and Carry Back was favoring it.

Price said there was a small abrasion on the ankle that seemed to have been minor when Carry

Aaron Boosts Average to .347, Ranks Second to Wally Moon

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee slugger Hank Aaron is swinging away in old time form—and opposing National League pitchers once again are ducking for cover.

Although the Braves are stumbling around in the pennant chase, Aaron has been wielding a red-hot bat and turning in some fine defensive plays in center field, a position he once shunned.

In the last 11 games, Aaron has connected for 19 hits in 42 times at bat to boost his average to .347, second in the league only to Wally Moon of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I'm still up there swinging away, but no longer trying for the long ball," Aaron said before the Braves left Sunday night on a two-week road trip. "I'm trying to concentrate on just meeting the ball. I figure that way

"I don't care where I play, now, but I didn't go for the idea at first," he said. "After all, I spent seven years playing next to Billy Bruton before he was traded. When you play center, a lot depends on who's playing next to you.

"The job isn't too bad for me now. Since we got Frank (Thomson) last month to play left, it has been a lot easier. And Lee Maye in right is fast, so that's a big help."

When Leonard P. Sasso's Globe-master set the slow Belmont pace, and Sherluck tagged along in second place ready to strike for the big cash in the final length of a mile, Carry Back was obviously in trouble.

Carry Back, who won the first two legs of the Triple Crown at Louisville and Baltimore in May, dropped back to last place before the field went to the final turn with a bit more than half a mile to travel Saturday.

Jockey Johnny Sellers, who had accelerated Carry Back to his sensational scores at Churchill Downs and Pimlico, said afterwards that the Price colt "had a rough trip, and there was no racing room anywhere."

Officials re-played the race movies on a closed-circuit TV later, and a rear view of the horses heading down the home stretch showed Carry Back bearing in from the middle of the track over to the rail most of the final quarter mile. AHS Golfers Tie for Fourth In State Meet

Madison West Repeats as Prep Champion

The Appleton High School golf team tied for fourth in the state high school tournament Saturday on the Green Lake Lawsonia course.

Madison West repeated as state champion with a total of 618 strokes for 36 holes on the par-72 course. Milwaukee Pulaski was runner-up with 642 and Oconomowoc had 651. Appleton and Brookfield tied for fourth with 652.

Rick Radder of Madison West won the medal with a 74-71-145, one over par. Don Iverson, of LaCrosse Central, followed his 76 Friday with a 70 Saturday, for runner-up honors.

Appleton's fourth place tie continued the steady advance in the four years the Terrors have played golf. AHS finished eighth in its first state tournament, 1958; seventh in 1959; and sixth last spring.

Individual Appleton scores were: Dennis Babb, 161; John Manier, 162; Mark Meythaler, 162; Carl Graves, 167.

Waupaca finished twentieth with a 708. Cornet scores were: Dave Hansen, 160; Tom Anderson, 182; Brian Bammel, 183, and Stan Strand, 183.

A single by McMillan and a fielder's choice preceded Bolling's homer in the sixth. Bolling leaned into a 3-2 fast ball delivery and drove the ball into the left field bleachers for homer No. 6.

The Braves were joined by southpaw pitcher George Brunet, who had been disabled by appendicitis since May 5, as they left for Cincinnati. Lew Burdette, who has a 4-4 record, was Milwaukee's choice to try for his 15th lifetime triumph. The Reds planned to counter with former Brave Joey Jay (6-3).

Foxes Sweep 4-Game Set With Lincoln

paid off as the Chiefs scored one run in the ninth.

Stover McIlwain and McNally were engaged in a hurling duel for five innings in the night game before a walk and hits by Don Biasotti and DiCrosta produced one run in the sixth. Dayton Orsburn gave Lincoln a 2-run margin in the seventh with a circuit clout before the Foxes were to be heard from.

The Foxes sent nine men to the plate in their portion of the eighth to score three runs. Hits by Joe Pulliam and Jim Liggett and a walk to Anthony loaded the bases before "Nellie" Cochran bounced one over the left field fence for a ground-rule double to tie the game.

The winning run came across in the person of Anthony when Lincoln Shortstop Dan Adams threw wide to the plate after fielding Bowen's grounder. Relief specialist Willie Hooker came in to retire Puleo, after walking John Griffin, and ended the scoring.

Puleo got credit for the victory, his third of the year. The future bridegroom (he is scheduled to be married on the current road trip) pitched the final two innings, giving up two hits, walking one, and fanning two.

FOX TALES — Jim Caldwell missed weekend action behind the plate as he was suspended for two days by Three-I League President Vern Hoscheit for bumping Plate Umpire George Sosnak in Friday night's game.

When Dave McNally faced Bill DiCrosta in the first inning of the evening game, he was facing an old friend. Dave's Billings, Mont. American Legion team used to practice on the same field with the Billings professional team when DiCrosta was a member of the Mustangs.

Weaver became so incensed at ball-strike decisions in the seventh inning of the second game that he left the coaching box. He reported later that he had intended to leave the field, "just so I wouldn't get thrown out."

The outstanding defensive play in the twin bill was McIlwain's spearing of Yench's line drive in the seventh inning of the night contest.

The Baltimore Orioles have announced the signing of one of the nation's top collegiate pitching stars, Bob Flemmons, of Wake Forest College. He may be assigned to the Foxes.

Rodger Ward Wins In Record Time

Averages 103.89 to Capture 100-Miler at State Fairgrounds

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The second major record of the big racing season was posted Sunday as Rodger Ward drove flawlessly, averaging 103.89 miles per hour to win the 100-mile race at the Wisconsin State Fairgrounds.

Ward's speed was the fastest ever recorded in a 100-mile event.

The new mark came only five days after A. J. Foyt won the 500-mile race at Indianapolis with a record average speed of 139.131 m.p.h.

Ward, of Indianapolis, took the lead as he dipped into the first turn and was in front until he crossed the finish line 57 minutes, 46.21 seconds later. He drove the Leader Car Special, owned by Milwaukeean Robert Wilke.

Ward's earnings were $7,763 from a purse of $30,110 contributed by 30,077 fans.

The old record for 100 miles, 100.786 m.p.h., was set last year at Langhorne, Pa., by Jim Hurtubise of Lennox, Calif. Ward's speed also set a new track standard, passing the mark he set last year by about 4.5 m.p.h.

Foyt, of Houston, Texas, was third for the first 12 miles when his magneto failed and he was forced out. He figured last in the standings among 22 entrants, but still pocketed $635.

Chicago's Dick Rathmann was Ward's top rival for 85 miles when his car began to falter and he fell back to a third place finish. Al Keller of Green Acres, Fla., was second, about a half mile behind Ward, who was third at Indianapolis. The second-place Indianapolis finisher, Eddie Sachs of California, was fourth.

Rocket Doubles Team Defeated In State Finals

Oshkosh High Cops State Crown; Bleckinger Repeats

Neenah High's Doug Ankerson and Dick Diedrich were defeated in the finals of the doubles division in the state high school tennis tournament Saturday in Janesville.

The Rockets scored 12 points in the tournament to tie for sixth place. Oshkosh won the championship with 27 points. The Indians' Chuck Bleckinger won his third straight state singles title and Ray Werner and Tom Witasek captured the doubles crown, 4-6, 6-4, over Ankerson-Diedrich.

Menasha's only entrant, Barry Conway, drew a first round bye and then won a match to account for all of the Bluejays' points.

Borrowing Costs Low, Credit Ample

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The low in borrowing costs for this cycle is right now. The downward trend in interest rates which was a characteristic of the 1960-61 recession has ended.

At best, interest rates will move in a horizontal line during this emerging business expansion. Rates will not decline further.

Borrowing costs will climb if the business upswing so clearly under way today takes on great power. Although the Kennedy Administration is privately and publicly urging easy credit to facilitate the 1961 upturn, it won't try to force low rates in a business boom.

During the months directly ahead, though, credit will remain ample. The Federal Reserve System is supplying and intends to continue supplying the funds to the banking system deemed necessary to finance a healthy economic advance and sustain it.

Blunt Terms

The above outlines the credit-interest rate pattern now shaping up and it shouts a vital message to millions of Americans. To put that message in bluntest terms: Delay no longer in borrowing or arranging to borrow funds you'll need or want in this period.

As a businessman, for instance, this is the time you should sign the best loan agreement you can obtain—and this applies to refinancing loans you may have outstanding and to borrowing new cash. The odds are you'll get no

Set New Operation For Wisconsin Fair

Senate Passes, Sends to Governor Bill Which Authorizes Hiring of Administrator at $15,000 Yearly

MADISON (AP) — The Senate Monday passed and sent to the governor a bill to set up a Wisconsin Exposition Department to operate the annual state fair at West Allis.

The measure, approved 23-3, takes the fair operations out of the Department of Agriculture. It authorizes the new exposition board to hire an administrator for fair operations at a salary of up to $15,000 a year.

The Assembly defeated a list of proposals including a measure that would have lowered the Wisconsin voting age to 19. The bill was killed 63-22. A bill to lower the voting age to 18 was defeated earlier in the session.

Four-Year Terms

Four-year terms of office for top state officers failed to win Assembly approval. The Senate previously had voted down the measure to double the present two-year terms for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general and treasurer.

A bill to give special parking privileges to school buses bringing school children to tour the capitol was rejected by the Assembly.

A resolution that would have given the State Supreme Court power to reapportion Wisconsin's political districts after each federal census if the Legislature did not was defeated 49-36.

Assemblyman Richard E. Peterson, R-Waupaca, said the bill was "just one more step to allow the Supreme Court to take over duties of the Legislature."

If the Legislature did not do so, the Supreme Court would have been empowered to decide on new Assembly, State Senate and Congressional districts under terms of the bill. It was sponsored by Assemblyman Fred A. Risser, D-Madison.

The Assembly did pass a bill to authorize the State Highway Commission to adopt size and weight limitations for trucks on state trunk highways, subject to legislative approval. Presently the Legislature sets the limits.

Borrowing Power

In the Senate a bill was passed to increase the borrowing power of cities and school districts authorized to issue school bonds. The measure already has been approved by the Assembly and in a referendum vote last April 5. The voters also approved the policy of raising the borrowing power of such areas.

Passed by the Senate and sent to the Assembly was a measure that would require auto liability insurance to cover situations where the insured is a passenger in his own car but someone else is driving and is guilty of negligence.

Preliminary Senate approval was given to a bill to provide penalties for obtaining telephone service fraudulently.

Stevenson Off For Visit to Argentine Area

Pleased by Results Of His Talk With Venezuela Officials

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson heads for Argentina today after a 48-hour visit to Venezuela's capital, first stop on his presidential mission to Latin America.

Although no agreements were sought on concrete problems, Stevenson made known he was pleased with the results.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations also was gratified by the warm personal reception he received in the city which displayed violently anti-U.S. feelings to Vice President Richard M. Nixon three years ago.

The English-language Daily Journal noted the friendly welcome Stevenson got and expressed belief that it was "an augury of things to come." The paper said Stevenson's talks in Caracas should lead to progress and understanding so far as Venezuela is concerned.

Similar Results

"We hope," the editorial said, "they will have similar results in the other countries Mr. Stevenson will visit."

Stevenson expressed sympathy for Venezuela's current economic difficulties and hinted that he would recommend U.S. approval of Betancourt's requests for short-term economic aid.

The U.S. envoy concluded his discussions here Monday and was given a big reception Monday night by U.S. Ambassador Teodoro Moscoso.

Stevenson will see Argentine President Arturo Frondizi Wednesday. No special difficulties are anticipated in Argentina since relations between the United States and the Frondizi government are extremely cordial.

Medical Science Behavior Cure, Says Dr. Travell

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President Kennedy's personal physician predicts the goal of medical science soon will be the cure of human behavior rather than the cure of human physical illness.

Foreseeing a world free of physical disease in which "only death will be accepted as inevitable," Dr. Janet Travell told the 108-member graduating class of Meharry Medical College here Monday: "The challenges of the future for medicine lie in the possibilities of modifying the behavioral patterns of the human race for the good of society."

UW Regents Have 2 Closed Meetings

MADISON (AP) — The University of Wisconsin Board of Regents and university president Dr. Conrad A. Elvehjem held two closed meetings Monday but made no announcement concerning reports of group resignations by medical school faculty members.

Carl E. Steiger of Oshkosh, president of the regents board, told newsmen, "We aren't going to have any statement tonight."

Another meeting was planned for this morning.

As the meeting opened in Elvehjem's office Monday Steiger was elected president for another year.

When Elvehjem announced he had a report on the Medical School involving the faculty, newsmen were asked to leave.

Former Heavyweight Boxing champion Joe Louis and his partner in a public relations firm, William Leon Rowe, left, sit at the witness table during testimony before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in Washington. The two were members of the New York public relations firm which held a contract with the Cuban government to promote tourist business. They were called to discuss their experiences in Castro's Cuba.

Trujillo Assassins Held Family Captive

Young Doctor Says Four Men Hid Out In Home Until Hunger Forced Flight

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A young doctor said four of those who plotted dictator Rafael Trujillo's assassination held him and his family hostage for four days until hunger drove them out of hiding.

Dr. Robert Reid Cabral said his home was commandeered by the four fugitives shortly after Tuesday night.

Reid Cabral said he, his pregnant wife and their infant son were held hostages until Sunday.

The family's ordeal ended when the fugitives, desperate for food and cigarettes, came out of hiding. Within two hours, two of the four had met death in a gun battle with police. The two others surrendered to authorities.

The Story

Leader of the group and alleged mastermind of the assassination was retired Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, 52.

Reid Cabral told this story: After the Trujillo slaying, Diaz and his accomplices went to the office of another physician, Dr. Marcelino Velez, to get treatment for a bullet wound.

The men threatened Velez unless he found them a hiding place and he took them to Reid Cabral's home. When Reid Cabral opened the door, Diaz and Antonio de la Maza forced their way in with guns drawn. Later two other fugitives moved in.

Cabral said the fugitives tried to get him to relay word to a person identified only as "Wimpy" to tell Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt that "the tyrant is dead."

Wimpy was to try to drum up support in Latin America for the Dominican Revolutionary Movement, the country's opposition party. Reid Cabral refused to relay the information, despite threats to liquidate him and his family.

"Every day they said they would leave at night, but the hour never arrived," the doctor said.

Gold Ring

When they finally decided to leave the house, Diaz left a diamond pin for his son.

Two hours after they came out into the open, police spotted Diaz and de la Maza in downtown Ciudad Trujillo. Diaz was machine-gunned to death and Maza died of wounds soon afterward in a military hospital.

The other two, Estrella and Luis Caceres Michel, gave themselves up voluntarily.

Complete Site For Launching Saturn Rockets

Will be Center for America's Program Of Man Into Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Construction has been completed on the launching site from which early Saturn space vehicles will be fired.

The super rocket, which will generate 1½ million pounds of thrust on liftoff, is America's best hope of overtaking the Soviet lead in the space race.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration dedicated the $11-million facility Monday, accepting it from the Army Corps of Engineers in a brief ceremony.

Engineers supervised the two-year building program for the massive 45-acre complex, whose centerpiece is a service tower which is as tall as a 30-story building.

Ground Support

Scientists and technicians now will prepare the ground support and launch control equipment for the first experimental Saturn firing, set for next fall.

Dr. Kurt Debus, head of NASA's launch operations directorate, called the complex "the first launch point for the world's greatest known rocket."

"Saturn," he said, "will be the workhorse booster for many exciting space experiments planned in the next decade."

"The main application of the Saturn launch vehicle will be man into space. Not too many years hence, three astronauts will be blazing toward an orbit about the moon atop the mighty Saturn."

The early Saturn C1 vehicle will be fired from this launch pad. A second stage will be added later, giving the rocket capability of placing 10-ton payloads into earth orbit.

A second Saturn launch complex will be built here to handle the advanced C2 vehicle, which will have considerably more power and twice the payload capability.

This nation's present largest space booster is the Atlas, which has 360,000 pounds of thrust. Estimated thrust of the Soviet space rockets ranges from 800,000 to one million pounds.

U. S. Astronaut Says Vibration in Flight Fogged His Vision

Brief Reaction in Early Stages; Everything Else Went Smoothly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut Alan Shepard disclosed today that rocket vibration fogged his vision briefly in the early part of his historic 15-minute space flight a month ago. But he said just about everything else went well.

Shepard said that as the result of his difficulty, some changes have been ordered in the Mercury capsule design to reduce vibration during the crucial moments just after launching.

Shepard made the observation in a paper prepared for delivery to 300 physicians and research scientists at a conference on the medical results of the first U.S. manned suborbital space flight last May 5. He rocketed to an altitude of 116.5 miles before landing in the ocean 302 miles from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site.

Roughest Part

Shepard said the roughest part of the flight came as the rocket accelerated through the speed of sound and then passed through the point of maximum dynamic pressure. That was the point at which the Redstone rocket and the capsule it carried were subjected to the most severe combination of acceleration forces and atmospheric resistance.

"These events occurred very close together on the flight, and there was general vibration associated with them," Shepard said.

"At one point my head vibration was such that my vision was blurred for a few seconds."

"We intend to avoid a recurrence of this experience by providing more foam rubber for the head support and improving the space craft adapter ring."

No Problem Breathing

Shepard said he had no other difficulty during the powered flight and found no problem in breathing, seeing, or reporting to the ground.

Shepard added that: 1. The water landing was no more severe than the catapulting of a plane from a carrier deck.

2. The so-called debriefing conducted during his two-day stay at Grand Bahama Island, after the flight, was useful and will be profitable for future flights.

3. The five minutes of weightlessness was similar to floating and did not affect movements, speech or breathing.

Good Device

4. The capsule periscope not only was a good device for viewing the sky and earth, but also was a "backup" aid for navigation and for monitoring the operation of the parachutes on the descent.

Shepard had only one mild complaint concerning the numerous physical examinations before the flight—"I felt as though an unusual number of needles were used."

Shepard's report was one of 10 papers on various aspects of the mission prepared for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration conference.

Junta Officers Make Appearance With U. S. Officials in Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's new military rulers made their first public appearance today with U.S. representatives who opposed their coup three weeks ago.

The 33-man military junta attended memorial services at the national military cemetery for soldiers killed in the Korean War. Also present were U.S. Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green and Gen. Carter B. Magruder, the U.N. and U.S. commander in Korea.

After the ceremony the junta chairman, Lt. Gen. Chang do-chang, and his deputy, Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-hi, shook hands with Green and Magruder.

'Malibu Run' to Fold On TV in Mid-July

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' "Malibu Run," which tried hard for success by switching formats and even title (it started the season as "The Aquanauts"), departs forever in mid-July. Its spot will be taken for the summer by a series of hour-long re-runs chosen from old "Studio One," "Climax" and "Pursuit" series of other seasons.

Rural Outagamie and the Airport

Following airport debate at the May meeting of the Outagamie County Board three rural supervisors criticized the Post-Crescent for "sending inadequate news of the airport proceedings into rural areas."

We admit to receiving this criticism with some amazement, as we had been worrying over whether we had done just the opposite. We have discussed the airport, both in our news and editorial columns, so often and at such great length that we were concerned lest our readers conclude we were overdoing it.

We certainly do not want our rural readers, any more than those in the city, to be under any misapprehensions as to what the Post-Crescent thinks about the airport. In the event that these supervisors are correct — that we have somehow failed to adequately inform our readers on this subject — we will attempt to state our position here now with the utmost clarity of which we are capable:

The Post-Crescent is completely, enthusiastically and without any reservations whatever, in favor of the construction of a new Outagamie County Airport, as proposed by the Airport and Parks committee, in the area west of Appleton.

There are so many reasons why we favor this project that we probably could fill this page just listing them. The essential reason, however, is simply that during the last two decades the Fox Cities have become the third largest urban-industrial community in Wisconsin (after only Milwaukee and Madison), and it is inconceivable that such a community should try to exist today without a completely modern, adequate airport.

In fact it might almost be said that the Fox Cities desperately need this airport. This is an industrial community — the great bulk of our citizens depend on industry for their livelihoods, and industry also forms the most important single part of our tax base. And our industrial leaders have told us in no uncertain terms that without a new airport the Fox Cities will be in deep trouble trying to expand this employment and tax base in the future.

This, then, is why we are so strongly in favor of the airport. But while we are addressing ourselves to our rural neighbors we would like to bring up something that has been puzzling us. We think most of our readers are aware that the urbanized area along the southern border of Outagamie County — Appleton, Kaukauna, the Tri-Villages and the Town of Grand Chute — forms over 75 per cent of the county's tax base. In other words, out of every dollar the county levies in taxes, more than 75 cents comes from these six municipalities!

Over the years the county has spent tax money on many projects, some of which could hardly be held to have provided any direct benefit to the residents of this urban area. It has built rural roads and bridges, it has paid an annual subsidy to the County Fair, it has voted for agricultural extension services of various kinds. We do not remember any supervisor from Appleton or Kaukauna ever standing up and saying, "This will not directly benefit my community, therefore I am going to vote against it."

Yet now, when the urban area that pays 75 per cent of the taxes comes to the County Board and tells of its vital need for a new airport, the majority of the rural supervisors vote against it. Why? Have the cities acted in such bad faith over the years, in relations with their rural neighbors, that they should deserve this? And do the people in these rural towns feel that they have so little dependence on the prosperity of the county as a whole, that they can afford to be indifferent to the cities' welfare?

It is all too easy for an individual or a community, in taking a position on such matters, to vote strictly according to the direct benefit one sees, or does not see, in a particular proposal. It is more difficult, but far the greater part of wisdom, to look at the larger picture and cast one's vote according to the greater good that will be derived for the larger community — be it a county, a state or a nation. We hope that our rural friends will take another look at this airport matter, and that at least some of them will approach it with a desire to work with, instead of against, their neighbors from the cities, as we think those neighbors have tried to work with them in the past.

Here We Go Again

The meeting in Vienna was in some ways reminiscent of the conference in Geneva between President Eisenhower and Bulganin and Khrushchev soon after President Eisenhower took office. It was a testing meeting, an attempt on both sides to determine exactly the nature and capacities of the enemy. But at least this time the optimism that bordered upon hysteria at Geneva was lacking.

What did the two K's decide? The talks were not "fruitful" — that was a misinterpretation," said Press Sec. Pierre Salinger. But they were "useful, frank and they expose the positions of the two leaders." Details have been scanty but both agree upon "a neutral and independent Laos." This was easy. The Russians consider Poland, Hungary and East Germany "neutral and independent."

President Kennedy knew far more what to expect about his opponent than did Premier Khrushchev since the former has been well exposed to the years of alternate bombast, threat and conciliatory sound from the Russian leader. But it was important for Khrushchev to determine just what sort of a man he was up against. Stalin met with President Franklin Roosevelt several times and early learned that he could count him as an ally with a few well chosen phrases about self-determinism and free elections. President Truman was from Missouri and the times had changed. He was not so easy to impress.

The Geneva conference taught the Russians that the Americans were so eager for peace that they might overlook the matter of free elections if the Russian army was in charge — until the horror of Hungary. The collapse of the Paris meeting before it was even begun came principally because Khrushchev saw that there were no further gains to be made, particularly when the U-2 incident gave him other propaganda weapons.

Future meetings between President Kennedy and Khrushchev depend upon whether the Soviet chief thinks anything productive for Russia and the Communists can come from them. This is not necessarily negative. Something productive could mean less chance of a war which would destroy Russia.

But the meetings should never be considered as breaks in the cold war, truces or trends toward an armistice. We seldom quote Dean Acheson because of the blunders he made in dealing with the Communists. But in his last book he has had some afterthoughts and one is worth repeating here.

"I have heard people who should know better, including a head of government, say happily, 'as long as we keep them talking, they're not fighting.' Nothing could be more untrue: they are fighting. They are adopting a tactic specifically prescribed by Lenin to delay the crises while demoralizing and weakening the enemy."

As far as can be determined the next crisis is Berlin. We have virtually lost Laos. What Khrushchev does about East Germany may have been at least in part determined by his impression of President Kennedy.

The Teen-agers Beer Bill

The people of Wisconsin are trying to decide what to do about the sale of beer to teen-agers. Under the present state law beer may be sold to persons 18 years of age in any community where the people so decide. It also is possible, under the present law, to prohibit the sale to anyone under the age of 21.

There are two proposals before the legislature. One would raise the age for the consumption of beer from 18 to 19. This bill also would eliminate the local option feature which permits communities to set the age at 21.

Other bills would set the beer consumption age at 21 on a statewide basis.

Many communities have had great difficulty with the teen-age drinking problem. One trouble is that 18-year-olds, where they are permitted to buy beer, often pass it on to others much younger. This has been a very serious problem and most communities have found it difficult to handle. Likewise, where nearby communities have different age limits for the purchase of beer there is a great deal of travel from the communities with the higher age limit to those with the lower age limit. Boys over 18 have the use of automobiles and may within a few minutes move from a community with a 21-year age limit to one of 18 or 19 and there consume beer if they wish. The automobile travel, added to the consumption of beer, is a complicating and dangerous feature.

It is difficult to say what the proper age limit for the purchase of beer should be. Different communities have had different experiences. However, many communities have established the age at 21 and now are fighting hard to maintain that limit. We have a notion the wisest thing to do would be to set the statewide age limit for the purchase of beer at 21 and thus accommodate those seeking the higher limit. In other communities where parents think it proper for their teen-agers to have beer they can provide it for them in the home. There is very little good to be said for beer for teen-agers or for teen-age beer parlors. Most of the experience with them has been bad. Wisconsin could well afford to experiment with a higher age limit.

Addresses Letter to 'Doubts' About Religious Instruction

Editor, Post-Crescent:

An open letter to the Board of Education:

The statement that accompanied your recent action refusing time for released time religious instruction suggests that doubts regarding the constitutionality and the wisdom of such a program played a major role in your decision. It is to these doubts, therefore, that I address myself.

Constitutional doubts can be quickly allayed by the record:

1) Justice Frankfurter's "wall of separation" statement in the McCollum Case of 1948 does not express the official opinion of the Court, for it appears in a concurring rather than in the majority opinion.

2) Frankfurter — and the Court, for that matter — rejected a program of religious instruction quite unlike the one used in Appleton. It was carried on in the school building and employed the state's compulsory public school machinery. Frankfurter admitted that such programs "may be found unexceptionable."

3) Frankfurter's attempt to interpret the fight to remove sectarianism from the public schools as a fight to introduce secularization does not stand up historically. His principal in this fight is Horace Mann. "It is true that Mr. Mann stood strongly for a 'type of school with instruction adapted to democratic and national ends.' But it is not quite just to him to contrast this type of school with the school adapted to religious ends, without defining terms. Horace Mann was opposed to sectarian doctrinal instruction in the schools, but he repeatedly urged the teaching of the elements of religion common to all of the Christian sects. He took a firm stand against the idea of a purely secular education, and on one occasion said he was in favor of religious instruction to the extreme verge to which it can be carried by the laws of God, and guaranteed to us by the Constitution of the State."

(Raymond B. Culver, Horace Mann on Religion in the Massachusetts Public Schools, 235.)

4) The "wall of separation" phrase occurred originally in a private letter of Jefferson to a group of Baptists and probably did not reflect the same careful consideration back of the quite different view expressed three years later in his second Inaugural Address: "In matters of religion, I have considered that its free exercise is placed by the Constitution independent of the powers of the general government."

5) In Zorach v. Clauson in 1951 the Supreme Court upheld a released time program identical to that which obtained in Appleton.

Doubts concerning the wisdom of the released time program are not as easily resolved, but the view of the Court in the Zorach Case deserves careful attention:

"When the state encourages religious instruction or cooperates with religious authorities by adjusting the schedule of public events to sectarian needs, it follows the best of our traditions. For it then respects the religious nature of our people and accommodates the public service to their spiritual needs. To hold that it may not would be to find in the Constitution a requirement that the government show a callous indifference to religious groups. That would be preferring those who believe in no religion over those who do believe. . . . we find no constitutional requirement which makes it necessary for government to be hostile to religion and to throw its weight against efforts to widen the effective scope of religious influence. The government must be neutral when it comes to competition between sects. It may not thrust any sect on any person. It may not make a religious observance compulsory. It may not coerce anyone to attend church, to observe a religious holiday, or to take religious instruction. But it can close its doors or suspend its operations as to those who want to repair to their religious sanctuary for worship or instruction. No more than that is undertaken here."

It might also be well to clarify what it is that the "wall of separation" keeps apart. The common assumption is that public instruction is neutral or objective, leaving the pupils free to embrace the moral commitment of their choice. In this way, so the argument runs, religious freedom for all is safeguarded in a country with a multiplicity of sects and values.

On the surface pupils would appear to be free to make their own religious commitment when instruction is dedicated to the method of analysis, to searching and proving. And it is true that "searching" and "proving" are neutral when taken by themselves, but the fact is that they are never taken by themselves. They involve the exclusion of all data not subject to objective analysis, and this already is a negative moral commitment. It should also be noted that while men concentrate on analysis, on knowing, they continue to act, for man is a doer as well as a knower. And every time he acts he is forced to choose, to judge between justified and unjustified action — unless we assume that men are prepared to settle for arbitrary choice. Man as doer, thus, is involved in moral judgment and lets the issue of moral commitment in by the back door.

What this comes down to is that method or analysis spills over into commitment or point of view. For faith in analysis comes down to faith in man and the methods he employs. That such a faith is far from neutral can be seen in the fact that it culminates in a definition of freedom as obedience to standards which men prescribe for themselves, while transcendent religion defines it as obedience to an objective order.

Clearly, the "wall of separation" does not separate neutrality from commitment. Rather, it separates two forms of commitment — transcendent religion from the religion of humanity. It is for this reason that the freedom of transcendent religion can not be derived from the neutrality of public education. Neutrality turns out to be a myth, for the assumptions of our times, reflected in virtually all

Here's Sale Tax That Brings Few Protests

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Twenty - two years ago this spring the Wisconsin legislature enacted the first state tax on cigarettes, after a bitter fight on the floor of the legislature and after a campaign of agitation that had extended for nearly 15 years.

It was a departure of some dimensions in state tax policy. Politicians felt the issue was worth fighting about because of their conviction that some of the voters were listening and were annoyed by the proposition. The majority party of that day was so apprehensive about possibly hostile public reaction that it pledged the receipts of the levy for the most popular purpose it could devise — for public welfare service programs.

In the succeeding years, the tax was increased twice, and now the legislature is on the verge of increasing it again — but with a significant difference.

If the voter is paying attention, his politicians aren't aware of it. There is nothing to show that anybody is very much antagonized by Gov. Nelson's proposition to add a penny a pack tax to finance a broader, conservation program — an appeal that is very nearly as powerful as the welfare appeal was in the late 1930's when the state was emerging from a period of acute economic distress.

DEFINITION

Today the only flicker of resistance comes from the tobacco dealers and distributors, concerned about a possible loss of sales if their product becomes too expensive, on the one hand, or mechanical complications in their vending machines with new pricing arrangements, on the other.

There was not a single voice of opposition to the principle of higher cigarette taxation on the record when the topic was reviewed at a public hearing the other day.

A part of the reason doubtless is the powerfully attractive vehicle to which it is attached, the goal of a rapidly expanding recreational lands and facilities program. But a part of the explanation also must be the growing sophistication of the electorate on the issue of taxation and the realization that a broader tax base is necessary to finance the expansive appetites of government.

The cigarette tax is a sales tax. It has no relation to the favorite concept of "ability to pay" that the old fashioned liberals like to recite. It is unfair also in that it is levied upon only a minority of the people — the calculation is that only about 35 per cent of the public smokes cigarettes. The state does not tax those persons who prefer tobacco in other forms.

THE REALITY

Mail to this corner, and doubtless to the legislature, continues to hit the theme that state taxation must be progressive — that is, government ought to be financed predominantly by an income tax, emphasizing the higher brackets of income.

The idea that state policy must retain some awareness of the practices of other states falls on deaf ears.

There is a general lack of understanding that in its most liberal days this state never relied upon taxation of the wealthy to any significant extent. Even today, in a time of inflation that has made all brackets of the income tax more productive than its founders ever dreamed, the income tax accounts for only about 20 per cent of the financing of state government. One tax after another has been contrived, under one pretext or another, and then retained and enlarged, that has no relation to the ability to pay principle. The highway tax is the best example of the selective sales taxes.

The legislative sideline is strongly inclined to believe that there is more tacit support for a carefully drafted general sales tax today than most of the politicians know, and that if such a levy is achieved this year, no administration chosen in the future ever will move to repeal it.

Kennedy in Fine Shape For TV Talk to Nation

President Can Use Occasion to Put Across His Ideas on Foreign Policy

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—As President Kennedy's White House term lengthened, this question repeatedly was being asked around Washington: When is he going to make his first nationwide TV talk?

He already had used three of the four main ways open to a president for getting his ideas across to the people: televised news conferences, messages to Congress and television speeches at special events.

It was assumed that Kennedy, acutely aware of a president's need for broad public support, would make a TV broadcast sooner or later.

It also was assumed that, because Kennedy is an extremely shrewd political tactician, he would make the broadcast when he was in the best position for it.

He's in a very good position for it tonight, perhaps better than at any time since he became president.

Country Wants to Know
He'll be fresh back from his meetings with President Charles de Gaulle, Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The country is still interested enough to want to know what good, if any, came from the conferences.

So, while attempting to answer this, Kennedy also can get his own foreign policy ideas across on the big issues.

He can do this now without being on the defensive—as he would have been, for instance, if he took to TV to explain his advance approval of the disastrous Cuban invasion—or without irritating any particular part of the American society.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, in his first term, took to TV earlier than Kennedy. He made a nationwide TV-radio broadcast on May 19, 1953, to explain why people couldn't expect an income tax cut right away.

This must have carried some element of disappointment for a lot of people at the time.

There can hardly be much disappointment in Kennedy's talk tonight—about his conferences abroad, particularly with De Gaulle and Khrushchev—since no one expected any big solutions or little ones, either.

Kennedy isn't expected to say anything new tonight on foreign policy. Since taking office his policy—standing stiff against the Russians—has been essentially the same as that of Presidents Eisenhower and Truman.

So, in talking to a nation which knows the broad outline of American policy and supports it, Kennedy will be asking for continuance of the same support for the same policy given his predecessors.

Kennedy actually is repeating what Eisenhower did after his first meeting with Khrushchev in July 1955. He came right back and made a TV report to the nation.

But he made a mistake which Kennedy, benefiting by his predecessor's experience, isn't likely to repeat. Eisenhower raised hopes that things might be better as a result of the meeting.

He said there was a realization that negotiations could now be conducted without "propaganda and threat and invective." Within a few months American-Russian relations went down hill fast.

Eisenhower must have regretted his optimism five years later when Khrushchev, who had been rattling his rockets for some time, broke up the second summit with propaganda and invective because of the U. S. spyplane shot down over Russia.

GOP Tax Revision Plans Strike Snag

income earners of the state. There is some sentiment for a so-called "credit refund", under which there would be deductions for income tax purposes for sales taxes paid—and some cash rebates from the state treasury to the very low income groups—but there is also a strong ideological objection among some law-makers toward such a device.

In the end, it seems more probable that the GOP planners will adopt the food and essential goods exemptions that are incorporated in some of the sales taxes of other states.

Gov. Nelson has hinted broadly that he will demand some form of redistribution of existing state taxes as the price for his approval of any kind of a sales tax. But at the moment the Republicans do not seem disposed to enact any significant redistribution law. In practical terms redistribution involves the local shares of utility and income taxes. The localities that are now favored under the distribution formula are attentively lobbying the issue.

Bank Tax Laws
Some revision of the bank tax laws and the enactment of a withholding law for income tax collections appear to have good support, but there will be hold-outs on both, according to reports thus far.

Hold-outs on any parts of the tax package will be dangerous because of the relatively slight majorities the Republicans have in each house. The leadership had hoped for unanimity on the roll-calls.

Sen. Frank Panzer of Dodge

County, tax steering committee chairman and chief spokesman who has been chary about talking to reporters since the private sessions began, said last night that his committee has started "to put something on paper," which apparently means that the Republicans as a whole may be presented with a tax bill later this week.

Public Hearing
Panzer also told a reporter that whatever is finally agreed upon for formal presentation to the legislature will be given a public hearing.

Democrats and some elements of the public press have been critical of the alleged plan to submit the Republican tax bill to a legislative vote without a hearing, apparently basing the attack on an off-hand remark of Assemblyman Haase of Marinette, the Republican assembly floorleader.

The Republican tax caucus participants, meanwhile, are increasingly irritated because their self-imposed pledge about secrecy for their deliberations has proved to be ineffectual.

Say Very Little
Although the leaders are saying very little or nothing about their proposals or their hopes, some of the individual members apparently do not feel themselves bound and so a good deal of the discussion inside the locked caucus room is reaching interested outside persons—including the lobbyists for the special interests affected.

Some of the special interests have also been summoned into the privacy of the caucus rooms, it was learned, for discussions and explanations of the technical aspects of the numerous tax alternatives under consideration.

Actor Not Father Of Child, Jury Says
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A jury says actor Gardner McKay, star of television's "Adventures in Paradise" series, is not the father of cocktail waitress Patrice Frantz' 18-month-old daughter.

The 10-2 decision was voted by the 11-woman, 1-man jury after less than two hours' deliberation Monday.

Mrs. Frantz, 23, alleged in the paternity suit that McKay, 27, fathered her daughter Gabrielle. Her lawyer said he plans to seek a new trial.

During the trial McKay admitted an intimacy with Mrs. Frantz in January 1959 but said he was not intimate with her within nine months of the baby's birth.

To Your Good Health Feeding Babies Cold Food Should Not be Just for Ease

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Feeding infants cold milk in their bottles and cold baby food from the jars seems to be a common practice with some of the young mothers. Is this a new theory of some kind? What do you think of this practice? Wouldn't warm food be better for the babies? — W.G."

This is a question that I have touched on briefly before.

The idea of cold milk or food for babies is a relatively new concept. I decline to call it a theory, because experience has shown it to be satisfactory.

The milk — or baby food from a jar — need not be really cold. It can be at room temperature. But babies seem to like it that way. We have found no reason to suspect that it harms them, nor that it bothers them at all.

Helps Baby Relax
Undoubtedly a warmed bottle helps a baby relax if he's a bit fussy. But on the other hand, I don't think that warming the bottle has to be such a ritual as it is in many cases in the past.

Shaking a few drops onto the back of your hand to test the temperature remains a good precaution after a bottle has been warmed. If it is too warm, baby won't like it.

I don't think that an icy bottle, fresh from the refrigerator, is likely to be a special treat for a baby. There may be some who develop a taste for cold things, but I have my doubts. Let 'em wait until they reach the "early ice cream age" of childhood!

I do say that there is no evidence that serving baby food at ordinary room temperature is either distasteful nor harmful.

Not For Convenience
Nor — emphatically — do I think that serving cold or room-temperature food should be done purely for the convenience of a mother or nursemaid.

If it is obvious that a baby prefers his food warm — or at room temperature — or somewhere between, give it to him and the way he likes it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My wife has been put on a strict salt free diet. Can you give me any information or recipes for this? — D.W."

It means just what it says—no salt!

Of course you get some salt which occurs naturally in food, and you can't help that. In fact, one needs at least a trace of salt. But for a salt free diet, don't use any table salt, either at the table or in cooking. Common salt is sodium chloride—and the sodium in it holds moisture in the body tissues. For some conditions, this is harmful. Avoid prepared foods, which have salt added: Salt meats, pickles, fish, chili.

Canoeist Charlie and Friend End Trip Through Civilized Wilderness

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

FREMONT — Now, at journey's end, it is necessary to look back upon the waters we have travelled so briefly in our pretty red canoe. Wisconsin, so rich in canoeable rivers, is blessed geographically so that almost anybody can ply some rivers—and they can do it in comfort and within call of civilization.

House

My canoe partner of the moment has been Tom Mullen, an Appletonian who has (1) a strong penchant for canoes and (2) a pretty red one named Ranger. Our route — all within easy reach of cities and villages — is there for the taking. It is a good one for the neophyte and for the not-so-hardy.

Small skill is needed for the route we wandered for there is no boiling, white water, nor fierce, uncompromising rapids. Over most of our route the water is shallow enough for wading. The chance of a serious accident is minimal.

Dimpled Rapids

We put the Ranger into the Crystal River near the crossroads community of Little Hope, which is three miles south of Waupaca. The water was quick and it tumbled into dimpled rapids, and the Little Crystal River was capable of hairpin turns which required a vigilance which is little more than alertness—half of the fun.

A quick fellow or lady in the bow at this point is useful, and a sturdy paddle at the stern is all that is required. A pair of 12-year-old boys could run the route and, if cautious, there would be never a tumble.

Our first guess at the distance we covered was 30 miles, but the winding rivers we journeyed have altered our reckoning and turned it to 40 miles, all of it fun and most of it utterly safe.

We left the Crystal River at its confluence with the Waupaca River and we moved at about six miles an hour most of the time. For the speed of the river is about four m.p.h.

We journeyed into Weyauwega Lake where it would be wise for the beginning canoeist to hug the shorelines. Then we moved into the Wolf River near Gills Landing.

Here the water slowed somewhat on its way to Fremont, our focal point and journey's end. Flying our paddles with casual diligence we made the seven or eight mile run in an hour and 15 minutes.

The trip, a fine easy one for a pleasant weekend, has a few points of some danger for careless folk. It is well to point them out:

Barbed Wire Fences

Occasional swirling rapids, though not in themselves dangerous, must be run with wisdom. Sideswiping sunken boulders may spill the careless fellow, but careful maneuvering into the open end of the "V" which is found in almost every rapids will bring the canoeist out in safety.

Now and then a deadfall over the water in a rapids can be used as a "slide-over" but, for the beginner, this should be done by hand while wading the stream.

Some farmers—and I think I must regard them unkindly—have strung barbed wire across the stream to restrain wandering cattle. One uncompromising farmer strung an electrically charged wire across the water for the same reason. These fences must be approached with great caution. We were able to "low bridge" the electrical fence by lying flat in the canoe and sweeping under it, but the barbed wire required us to wade our way guiding the canoe under the wires by hand.

There were two small portages, both of modest distance. One of them was made possible by Maymester or Walter Kamp of Weyauwega who was good enough to permit us to portage over his own property. He offered us camping facilities if needed, and to make our way more enjoyable a gift of fresh radishes and onions from his garden.

Another suggestion is that the final jump in the journey, from Gills Landing to Fremont should not be made on a Sunday afternoon. The incredible number of speedboats and marine hot-rod makes the wash and the wakes huge and, to a beginner, dangerous. On a Sunday morning and week day such danger does not appear to be present.

So much for the trouble spots. The fun spots are almost continuous despite the fact that the route is almost all within sound of civilization. There is every sign of deep wilderness all along the trail. Seldom have I seen or heard so many wild, singing birds. We saw and heard the shy hermit thrush, among many others.

We saw deer, woodchucks, rabbits. Along the trail we disturbed literally thousands of turtles and perhaps the same numbers of fish. We observed hundreds of huge fish, mostly redbreast and carp, but there was bass and trout, too, to be seen in the quiet waters.

To all interests and purposes, we were deep, deep in the wilderness of unexplored country—but telephones were seldom less than a few miles away.

People Were Helpful

When we met people, they were always helpful and kind.

One day, I committed a tenderfoot's blunder. I had packed the tent and when I loaded the canoe I left it high and dry, out of sight. A mile or two later we discovered our loss. But Robert Behm, 13, of Waupaca, loaned his bicycle and we recovered the tent in almost a twinkling.

Another day, we broke a fine canoeist's rule—to make camp no later than 4 p.m. Lacking a good campsite at a late hour, we decided to slumber at Gill's Landing, but Erv Zempel of that community generously suggested that we pitch our tent on the lawn of his remote home, which we did. His son John, 19, kept us company and stayed to dine with us, and then to sit and watch our burning "watching log" far into the night.

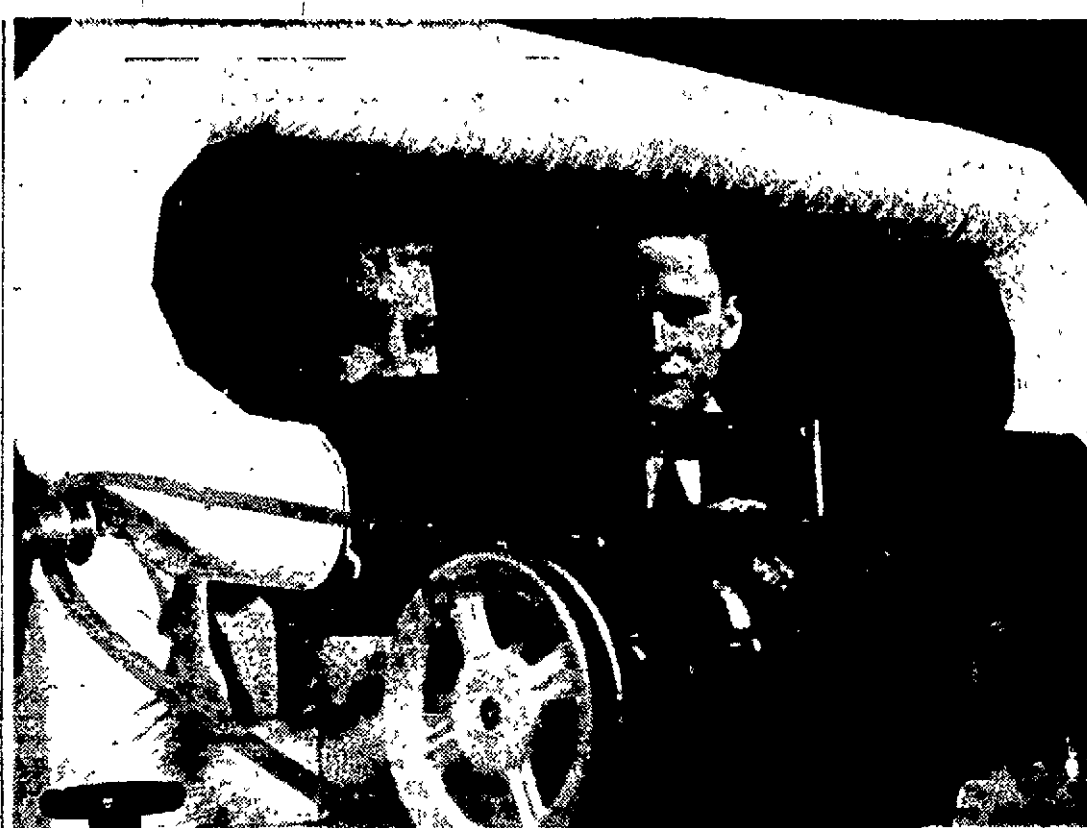

In the morning we had a friendly visit from conservation warden Chick Keeney who offered advice and courtesy in exchange for so small a commodity as my bad coffee.

When we arrived at Fremont exactly at the moment we predicted, we would, that city's cordial mayor was on the dock to greet us and to offer Fremont's hospitality.

We lollygagged generally on our trip so our actual paddle time was less than eight hours. For any canoeist interested in the same, pleasant, safe, journey, a Friday afternoon launching should provide ample time for camping chores and for fishing into Sunday on the generous waters through which we passed so gayly.

Needed—a sleeping bag, a tent, food according to personal tastes, pleasant people en route, nice weather, a good canoe and a congenial partner.

I had 'em all. I wish the same to you.

Will Take Year to Free 1,214 Freedom Fighters

BY VICTOR RIESEL

NEW YORK — Unless Fidel Castro is castigated and shamed by the world — especially the Latin American world — it will take almost a year to free the Cuban freed men in fighters.

For it is not only a matter of raising millions of dollars. Physically raising the tractors from the metal molds to finished mountain-moving machines will take far longer. Labor leaders and industrial experts have just told me that there are none in stock.

Normally it takes a day to produce two of the kind Castro told his 10 messengers to tell the Tractors for Freedom Committee he really wants.

Leaders of the 75,000 agricultural implement workers, who are members of Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers, and officials of the four companies producing parts and custom building the huge "bulldozers" believe they can work this up to four and possibly six a day. But only after a while.

This means the 1,214 Freedom Fighters who were captured when they hit the swampy beach may be in Soviet-style slave brigades at almost lethal hard-labor for anywhere from six months to a year. Mrs. Roosevelt, one of the original tractors committee—now being raised to 50 prominent leaders — was wrong when she said here at her apartment the other day that all 500 tractors are available. She was referring to the smaller agricultural type. They are, of course, sitting bumper to bumper in reserve storage sites.

Castro Wants Giants

But the giants Castro seeks must be ordered. He will take only new ones. Thus, at the rate of two a day, the entire lot cannot be produced in less than 250 working days — a full year, in effect. Even if the plants, the Caterpillar Co., the International Harvester Co., the Allis-Chalmers Co., and the John Deere Co., go on extra shifts it will certainly absorb from six to nine months after Castro tells the labor-industrial band of U.S. experts exactly what he wants. One of these specialists is auto union vice president Pat Greenhouse, leader of the Agricultural implement section.

Apparently Walter Reuther will not win one of his demands from Castro. This is an installment release of prisoners as each tractor is delivered. Evidence of this was seen in a detailed analysis by this column of Castro's first "worm" speech on May 17.

Referring to the prisoners he said:

... let them be exchanged for bulldozers ... of course, we will not exchange them one by one. No, no ...

Present Worries

What now worries committee members, and such groups as the International Rescue Committee led by Leo Cherne is what will happen to the families of the Freedom Riders. There are at least 2,000 of their women, children and sick dependents. Some of these are now widows and orphans, of course. They are not yet starving, but there is danger they will be lost in the international shuffle and the drama of raising millions for tractors.

There were some 1,400 in the original invading "force." If I can use that word. Twelve hundred were captured. Another 100 made it back to the U.S. But 85 to 90 were killed. You'll find those figures somewhere in CIA records some day.

Those who got it on the beach from Soviet tanks, Czech small arms and a few Migs left some 250 women and youngsters.

Allowances May Cease

Even if the tractors campaign is successful, no Freedom Fighter will ever return to them. The bitterness which fills their hearts is matched by the emptiness of their stomachs.

Along with the other 1,800 de-

Salinger, Russian To Debate Free Press

NEW YORK AP)— Teams headed by White House press Secretary Pierre Salinger and Soviet Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law will argue freedom of the press in a nationally televised debate on June 24.

The National Broadcasting Co. announced the debate will be taped at 2 p.m. June 24 and broadcast over the NBC-TV network that night from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. CDT. Harrison Salisbury, writer on Soviet affairs for the New York Times, will be on the American team with Salinger.

The Soviet team will be Khrushchev's son-in-law, Aleksei Adju-bey, chief editor of Izvestia, Soviet government publication, and Mikhail A. Kharlamov, chief of the press department for the Soviet foreign ministry.

Dependents of the anti-Castro militia, they have been receiving allowances from "some source." The last payments were made in early May. They came to $150 a month for a wife or mother. Another $50 was added for a dependent child—and an additional $25 for each of the other children.

Now there are reports that this fund may be cut off as abruptly as was the invasion.

This means the families of the Freedom Fighters may starve or live on the charity of their proud countrymen, already living on charity. At least many of the 100,000 Cuban refugees (according to the International Rescue Committee figures) have their men folk and can earn a few dollars. For the widows and orphans there will be no returning men. And what of those who must wait six months to a year for the return of those who went out to fight for all of us on a swampy, night-shrouded beach?

Educational Television Educates Blind, Deaf, Spastic Children

Miami High School Teaches History, Biology to Handicapped

BY G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

Mildred and George and Richard, and nine other severely handicapped youngsters, are getting a complete education at Southwest Miami High School.

Part of the credit must go to a program of educational television, a program with tremendous potential in educating the millions of handicapped children in this country.

600,000 Handicapped

According to the U.S. Office of Education, there are about 600,000 physically handicapped children getting special instruction in the public schools—and another 2½ million who need it but aren't getting it.

Consider the case of nearly blind Mildred. She is being educated and trained for an office job as a typist, taking letters from tape recorders or disk recordings. She is virtually letter-perfect as a typist, even though she can't read what she has written.

Educational T.V.

It's one thing to teach Mildred how to type; it's something else again to give her the basic education she needs in academic subjects.

This is where educational television is being used to its best advantage at Southwest High.

The 12 handicapped children at Southwest High have their own homeroom, and their own special teacher, Mildred Yeagle.

"One of the problems of teaching physically handicapped children," said Miss Yeagle, "is to keep them from feeling isolated, set apart from the rest of their classmates."

Daily Instruction

Each school day the Dade County Board of Public Instruction, over its own educational TV channel, presents a class in history and another in biology. Next year, 10th and 11th grade English will be added.

Students with very poor vision sit as close as possible to the television set in Miss Yeagle's room.

Those with hearing difficulty sit further back, with special headsets which allow them to turn up the volume as high as necessary.

George, the spastic, needs neither to sit close, nor wear earphones. But without the television, George would never be able to attend the class; it is impossible for him to move from room to room in the short time allotted between classes. Because he has difficulty writing, he has been assigned his own electric typewriter for taking notes and doing his regular school work.

Part of Class

"This way the youngsters not only get the instruction, they have a feeling of being part of the regular classes," Miss Yeagle said.

"And there is a further advantage for the deaf children—they get a lip-reading lesson from the television teacher at the same time."

Braille Notes

These notes are useless, of course, until they have been transcribed into Braille or onto tape recorders. This work is done by volunteers from the local Council of Jewish Women.

The council also puts into Braille the textbooks needed by blind students in the academic subjects. A year's course in biology, for instance, takes 12 volumes of Braille, and costs about $130 a set if purchased from a commercial firm.

Southwest High's program for the physically handicapped will be expanded next year when children from other parts of the county are sent here for special instruction.

Oshkosh Plans Annual Art Fair

One-Day Exhibit Will be Held at Public Museum

OSHKOSH — Five gold ribbon awards of $25 each, four silver ribbon awards of $10 each, four red ribbon awards, each with a $10 merchandise certificate and four honorable mention ribbons will be presented during the annual one-day Winnebago Art Fair event from 11 a.m. til 7 p.m. July 9 on the Oshkosh Public Museum grounds.

A special panel of judges, to be provided by the museum, will select the paintings for the special indoor exhibit from among those on the grounds. These will then be judged the same day for awards and remain in the museum on exhibit the remainder of July.

The fair, sponsored by the Fox Valley Artist Association, is open to all professional and non professional artists living in the following counties: Brown, Calumet, Dodge, Door, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Kewaunee, Manitowish, Outagamie, Portage, Shawano, Sheboygan, Waushara, Waupaca and Winnebago. Each artist may enter as many paintings, sculpture or crafts as he or she desires... for one entry fee. Ten per cent of all sales will go to the Museum Auxiliary. Entry blanks are available from Bernard T. Petersen, 905 Evans St., Oshkosh and must be returned by July 1.

BUCKET SEATS ALONE DO NOT A MONZA MAKE

■ Gee! ■ Little did we know, when we introduced the Corvair Monza last year, that we were starting a Big Thing. We just thought it would be pleasant if you could buy a car that treats you, the driver, like you want to be treated. ■ The bucket seats, of course, are the most obvious evidence of our desire to please you. But they're not the most important thing. No sir. What's really vital is the way a Monza handles—something nobody in the U.S. has yet copied. Or can copy. Because Corvair is the only rear-engined car made in this country, and you know what that means: steering light as thistle-down. (You even park this one more easily, it steers so briskly.) Beautifully balanced braking—the car stays level even under panic braking, which we hope you'll never have to do. Traction and more traction, so you don't become a stick-in-the-mud. The kind of cornering that's sheer joy to experience. ■ You get more: a fully independent suspension that blots out road shocks before they can ruffle you. Clean, crisp styling. Thoroughgoing economy, from purchase price to operating cost. ■ You're not going to be satisfied with bucket seats alone, are you?

Lawrence Says Kennedy Must Tell Congress All Trip Details

Full Information Needed for U. S. to Fight Communism

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — The American people may have to be content with the generalities of President Kennedy's half-hour speech on television about his meeting with Premier Khrushchev. Congress, which is after all, a coordinate branch of the government, cannot be satisfied with such a fragmentary account.

All the members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs are entitled to a detailed report of any statements made in behalf of the United States during several hours of talk with the premier of the Soviet Union without the presence of even the Secretary of State.

If there were any commitments or pledges or agreements which could directly or indirectly involve preparations to be made by our armed forces or the appropriation of public funds for foreign aid or other matters connected with foreign policy, the committees in congress have a right to be informed about them.

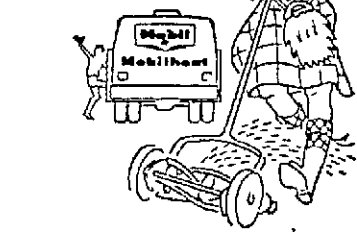

Proper Means
Diplomacy normally is a proper means of communication for the executive branch, but when our government talks to another government in a crisis involving war or peace it is important that the legislative branch be advised and in detail. Many an executive agreement has been made in the past with a foreign government which was not submitted to the senate for ratification, and this has produced many a controversy. The clear intent of the constitution, however, is that congress, through its leaders or committees, should be kept informed.

Kennedy acted at Vienna in the role of ambassador. But he reports to nobody else in the executive branch. He talked alone for several hours with the head of the Soviet Union with only interpreters present. Notes of a sort were kept but hardly a complete stenographic record. Translators have a way of condensing long answers and sometimes they unwittingly soften harsh phrases. Sometimes they give meanings that are not as comprehensive as they should be as language differences are not always explainable.

Fate of World
Certainly the long hours of off-the-cuff conversation between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev were hardly a substitute for the carefully prepared papers and documents of formal diplomacy. Yet the fate of the world may rest on the most effective communication possible between the head of the American government and the dictator of the Soviet government.

Kennedy thought that personal contact would be helpful in producing an atmosphere of cordiality and friendliness. Premier Khrushchev is the kind of man who turns on the smile or the drawn to suit his own purposes. His promises have proved meaningless in the past. He can fraternize with Dwight Eisenhower one day and not long afterward he can be calling him a "coward" or a "thief." He can be addressing the United Nations Assembly one day with all the dignity of a foreign potentate and the next day he can be pounding his shoe on a table like an uncivilized peasant.

No Personal Parley
Subjects like Laos and disarmament and nuclear test bans and the status of Berlin are never going to be settled by personal parleys at the "summit." Power and the pressures of the "cold war," in which many billions of dollars are spent on both sides, will alone affect the result. The threat of war will be used to force trades and deals and so-called agreements. The truth is that the Communist dictatorship is deploying its army of plain-clothes men in every country of the world.

If these subversive activities were really outlawed and banished from this country, for instance, the Soviet government would begin to have more respect for the West. But inside the United States, as long as so-called "intellectuals"—various college professors and crusading students, as well as sections of the press and church groups—continue to call for a stifling of congressional investigations of subversion, the FBI will be helpless by itself to stamp out the movements that are, knowingly or unknowingly, playing the communist game.

Only Course

The only course available, therefore, is to bring out into the open every statement made by Premier Khrushchev so that the world can witness his deception and deals and so-called agreements and treachery and be alert to the facts of treachery which have been so effective for his side in Laos, Africa, Cuba and Latin America.

For the Soviet government is carrying on the biggest interven-

Patrol Warns Drivers Using New Highways

Interstate Roads End Usual Crash Causes, Introduces 2 More

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—The broad new Interstate highways now being developed in Wisconsin will eliminate many of the most common of the hazards to the driver—sharp curves, intersections, steep hills and others. But they will require attentive driving, nevertheless, the state traffic patrol says in a report summarizing its first year of observations.

Accident patterns on the new roads have changed sharply, with fewer right-of-way collisions, head-on encounters and accidents caused by cars skidding around curves.

Two Other Causes

But two other causes of accidents have taken a sharp up-turn, suggesting that the new roads that are familiar to drivers in other parts of the country will require fuller exposure by the typical Wisconsin driver.

"However, two other causes of accidents have taken a sharp upturn—speed and driver hypnosis," the patrol says.

"The ease of travel on Interstate routes causes the driver to allow the speedometer needle to creep upward often unconsciously, to the point where the vehicle is traveling much too fast for safety.

"Long monotonous stretches of highway may lull the driver into sleep or a hypnotic trance, and he literally drives right off the road," the report added.

About 100 miles of the projected 450 Wisconsin miles of the U. S. Interstate system are now in use. The patrol again hinted that as additional segments are opened, it will require more manpower to provide the around the clock patrol that is needed. Thus far it has assigned 25 men to the 100 miles of route, on a 24 hour basis. But the legislature this year has spurned all overtures for a higher manpower authorization for the state traffic police.

Planner-Traffic Engineer Hired

Appleton Accepts Application From Delavan Consultant

Walter C. Rasmussen, 36, Delavan, Wis., will become Appleton's first city planner-traffic engineer, when he takes office about July 1.

The planning commission this morning approved hiring him, at an annual salary of $8,100. The council is expected to confirm this action Wednesday night.

City officials have been talking about hiring a city planner and a traffic engineer for more than a year. It was decided to combine the two jobs into one for economy reasons.

Planning commission members and officials said they believed it would be better to get one well-qualified man and pay him a substantial salary, rather than hire two less qualified men, who together probably would have to be paid more than one good man.

Rasmussen is a registered professional engineer, with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from the University of Wisconsin.

From 1953 to 1958 he worked for Consoer, Townsend and Associates, Chicago, consulting engineers. From 1950 to 1960 he worked for the City of Delavan. Since then he has been self-employed as a consulting engineer. He served two years on the Delavan planning commission.

As Appleton's planner he will work closely with the planning commission, and advise it on technical matters that come up for action. An orderly pattern of growth will be his principal project.

As the city's traffic engineer he will work with the public safety committee, advising and recommending things that will aid the flow of traffic through and around the city. It would be up to him to interpret and administer any traffic plan the city might have prepared by an outside consulting firm.

Rasmussen is a native of Kenosha. He is married and the father of two sons, 4 and 8 years old.

Deer Jumps Through Panel of Breezeway

OSHKOSH — John Suellflow, 1400 Grove St., Oshkosh, called police Sunday morning to report that a deer had jumped through his screen door and through a screened panel of his breezeway.

Later in the morning, Sheldon Kohlenberg, Green Bay, reported that his car struck a deer on U.S. 41 northwest of Oshkosh. The deer was killed.

Bidding Goes Back, So Youngster Can Buy Watch for Dad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I bid a dime," said Jim Ezell, 13, as the auctioneer held up a 17-jewel wrist watch.

The bidding went up to $1.25, but Jim stopped at $1, disappointment on his face.

"Why did you want the watch, boy?" asked auctioneer Leo Proctor.

"To give to my dad on Father's Day," said Jim.

"The watch is yours," said Proctor.

Sen. Panzer Center Of Taxation Furor, Seeking Sales Tax

Gained Political Knowledge Through 37 Years of Practice

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — In the center of the whirlpool of capitol politics during the next month as the state's basic tax decisions are made will be a portly and calm professional farmer who is accustomed to a leadership role in legislative financial maneuverings.

He is Frank Panzer, president of the State Senate and chairman of the Republican legislative steering committee that is now toiling long hours to hammer out a compromise tax revision program that Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson can accept.

Panzer Respected

Panzer was chosen chairman of the strategic planning group almost automatically, not only because of his seniority and his rank, but because of the respect his colleagues have shown for his mastery of practical politics and his judgment in state financial matters.

The 70-year-old politician, who learned the art of human relations and politics during half a life-time of neighborhood and county leadership in rural Dodge County, is accustomed to a sudden exposure to the limelight during the waning days of each legislative session.

He has been a powerhouse in the Republican senate caucus for nearly two decades. But during most of each legislative session he takes little part in debate, and unlike many of his colleagues, does not strive for public notice. But in half a dozen sessions he has developed a reputation for cool judgment on the state financial outlook.

Several times he led the legislature in avoiding additional tax levies, calmly predicting that existing revenue schedules would produce more money than the "experts" were predicting. Because he was usually right, other legislators have regarded him with something like awe.

Tax Views

Panzer has been equally positive in his views on tax policy. He has been an unequivocal advocate of a sales tax as a means of broadening and stabilizing the state-local revenue system since he served on a tax study committee six years ago, the so-called Sammond committee.

If Panzer has his way, and he usually does, the tax revision package that will emerge from his committee's work will feature a sales tax. But his contribution will be more important in a political way.

The problem is to present the sales tax in such a way that Gov. Nelson won't veto it. The task will call into play the political skills and psychological insight derived from long years in the legislature with hundreds of seatmates of all political persuasions, and his rich background of town and county politics in Dodge County.

The shrewd veteran of the courthouse wars likes to downgrade his own experiences and accomplishments. "I don't know much about politics, but..." is a favorite start of a Panzer conversation with an unwary legislative junior, who a few days later will realize that he has encountered a legitimate master of the political game.

Panzer's stature in his rural political balliwick is almost legendary, to hear some of his friends and admirers tell it.

In typical elections that will draw voters of other districts to the polls to choose the sheriff or the governor or the president, in some of the towns of Panzer's territory they will simply announce that they want "Panzer", giving the name the old world German pronunciation.

Counsel Sought

In Madison for many years young legislators interested in politics in a serious way have sought Panzer's counsel, and the lucky ones have been invited to room with him at his hotel during sessions. A dozen men now prominent in Wisconsin politics, holding higher office than does their old mentor, cheerfully acknowledge their debt to his tutelage.

Panzer's plain speech is sometimes as deceptive as his modest, almost ineffectual manner is disarming.

His occasional participation in debate on the Senate floor rarely attracts much interest in the galleries. First-session newspaper reporters sometimes have not realized until late in the year the power and the influence of the man who speaks infrequently, softly, in the simplest words and phrases, and without a trace of political flourish. His metaphors are characteristically homey ones, drawn from the experiences of a farmer and a town chairman.

Survival Power

Few men in local government of Wisconsin have had the survival power of Panzer. He has been chairman of his town board for 37 years. In the hurly-burly county politics he has excelled. For 21 years he has presided over his county board, and as a tribute to his rank and experience, he became one of the early presidents of the Wisconsin County Boards Association.

The Republican tax-writing committee meetings are being held in private. But it is not hard to imagine what is going on. Holding a stiff rein, in spite of an appearance of casualness and gentleness, will be the hard-headed expert of statehouse and courthouse politics.

He will be acting out the role of a pragmatic conservative, although he would grumble, if he heard the phrase, that he never went to college and doesn't know what such fancy language means.

Child Adoptions Rise To 1,998 Placements; Number to Increase

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Child adoptions completed in the state last year rose to a record total, the state Division of Children and Youth disclosed here in an annual report. Adoptive placements numbered 1,998. The report said an increasing number of children are coming under Department guardianship, requiring more concentration on such work in supplementation of the efforts of private social agencies.

Some of such children are difficult to place because of physical, mental, or emotional problems, and for them efforts are made to find substitute families either on an adoptive or long term foster home basis, it was said.

Goldfine Term Depends on His Desire to Talk

Must be Willing To Disclose All Financial Deals

BOSTON (AP) — Upon aging Bernard Goldfine's willingness to make full disclosure of financial manipulations exceeding $600,000 depends the length of his stay behind bars, federal sources said today.

The ailing 70-year-old industrialist, beginning a jail sentence of a year and a day for evasion of nearly $800,000 in federal income taxes, could win freedom in four months, these sources said, or might be imprisoned 2½ years.

Condition Attached

U. S. District Court Judge George C. Sweeney imposing sentence yesterday, attached a condition to the defendant's five-year probation—that Goldfine give the attorney general "all information, of whatever character," on funds taken from Strathmore Woods Co. and other Goldfine holdings through cash withdrawals or checks written to cash.

Such withdrawals, the judge said, total "something in excess of $800,000 . . . and it is the intent of this court to compel disclosure of where this money is and where it went."

Reports issued from the federal building that a grand jury would be called to hear Goldfine if the defendant decided to comply with the disclosure requirement.

Goldfine began his sentence at the Federal Correctional Institution at Danbury, Conn., late yesterday. He had been a prisoner there before, when he served a 90-day sentence last year for contempt of court.

Fortune in Textiles

Goldfine, born in Russia, made a fortune in textiles and real estate and spent freely on gifts for influential men. A congressional committee threw a spotlight in 1958 on his lavish gifts and hospitality for government officials.

Out of that came the resignation of former Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire as White House assistant to President Eisenhower. Adams admitted Goldfine had paid some of his hotel bills and given him an expensive vicuna coat.

Big Powers Can't Settle Problems Alone, Says Tito

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito Monday said he welcomed the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Vienna but warned that big powers cannot decide the fate of humanity by themselves.

Speaking at the Serbian town of Krusevac, Tito said, "We welcome wholeheartedly this meeting which should have taken place much earlier and which we proposed at the last U.N. General Assembly."

But, he said, uncommitted countries will not permit big powers to decide world issues alone.

"We will not permit the fate of humanity to be tailored by a few persons," he declared.

anti-violence bill clashed with 1,000 police today in a Tokyo park. Some students were reported slightly injured in the pushing and shoving.

The government-sponsored legislation is designed to counter political terrorism from both the left and right and prevent mass demonstrations around the diet building and the official residence of the prime minister.

It was pushed through the lower house Saturday, and the ruling Liberal Democrats are determined to complete action on it in the upper house before the diet session ends June 8.

Kennedy Gets Ready To Report to Nation

Congressional Democrats generally were optimistic that some improvement in East-West relations might grow out of the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Vienna, even though no concrete results had been anticipated. Republicans were more skeptical.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield on Monday said he believes the conversations were "well worth while" and may have contributed to laying the groundwork for lower-level negotiations on East-West differences.

"If some reasonable agreements can now be reached at the ambassadorial level, the talks with Khrushchev may have enhanced, indirectly at least, the prospects for a real summit meeting in the future," Mansfield said.

Sen. J. Fullbright, said it seemed to him the Vienna meeting "well served the purpose of getting the two leaders acquainted" and giving them an opportunity to talk over the world situation.

"Sparring Match"

Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, in a separate interview described the Khrushchev session as "a sparring match that solved nothing."

Three members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—Sens. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-

Iowa, John Sparkman, D-Ala., and Homer Capchar, R-Ind.—expressed differing views.

Hickenlooper said the conference may furnish Khrushchev "with a lot of grist for his propaganda mill."

Sparkman said he looks for Kennedy to make "a frank and direct report" to the American people on his talk with Khrushchev. He added "I hope the President is able to tell us something about Laos and Berlin."

Capehart said he can't see any particular benefits from the informal size-up talks.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a spokesman for GOP conservatives, said he doubts that the meetings will alter the world situation in any way.

"About the best we can say is that they didn't do any harm—so far as we know now," he said.

Control Over Riots Expanded in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—State highway patrolmen and city commissioners as well as mayors will be allowed to disperse riotous or unlawful crowds under a new Florida law.

The old law granted such authority in cities only to the mayor. The Tallahassee City Commission, which asked for the expanded authority, said it found the old law cumbersome in dealing with trouble arising from integration activities on highways.

complaint against Ziesemer. Appleton Police Chief Walter Hendricks said this morning that no Appleton policeman would sign a complaint.

(Hendricks is in Appleton Memorial Hospital for treatment of an ulcer attack.)

Schaefer this morning planned to call Reynolds and find out how to proceed if the bailplayers will not sign the complaint.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Weston Wood and Schaefer decided Friday that the complaint would have to be signed by a first hand witness. Schaefer has held from the day of the incident that he cannot start an action unless someone who saw the eviction signs a complaint.

(A complaint is a statement of an occurrence which violates a law and is made to the court, which then decides if the law was violated.)

"I have prosecuted over 1,000 cases in my term as district attorney and have never had to seek out a complainant," Schaefer said this morning.

The attorney general said the investigation by his assistant Friday revealed that the incident was a violation of state law that requires full and equal treatment of all persons in all public places of accommodation in Wisconsin.

The law provides a maximum penalty of a $200 fine and six months in jail upon conviction.

U.A.R. Attacks Red Propaganda

CAIRO (AP)—The Middle East News Agency Monday attacked Moscow's propaganda organs for the second consecutive day.

Quoting informed United Arab Republic sources, the agency denied what it termed false reports propagated by Moscow radio. Pravda and Trud in an anti-U.A.R. campaign.

The agency defended U.A.R. measures barring communists from political activities. It charged Communist parties in the Arab world with being "agents getting orders from outside their own country."

Governor Issues Warning Against Riots in Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP)—Rabble rousers, would-be rioters and the like have been warned by Gov. Ernest Vandiver against trying to stir up trouble when four Atlanta public high schools are integrated next fall.

Vandiver said Monday that although he was dead set against integration, "anytime the life or property of any citizen is endangered whatever forces that are necessary to preserve the peace will be used."

The Atlanta Board of Education has approved transfers of 10 Negroes in the 11th and 12th grades to white schools. The desegregation was ordered by a federal judge.

pated that the pioneer reactor will provide useful data on the construction and operation of an intermediate size boiling water reactor and information which might bring about reductions in the cost of future reactors of the same size. The AEC hopes to make nuclear power produced electricity available on an economically competitive scale by 1968.

Dairyland Power generates and transmits electric energy at wholesale to 27 member co-ops in Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois. It has a total membership of more than 100,000 farmers and rural businesses.

State Revoking More Licenses Than in 1960

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin drivers are having their licenses suspended or revoked this year at a pace about 20 per cent ahead of 1960, according to the State Motor Vehicle Department which said the recession was partly to blame.

Figures released Monday showed that in the first five months of this year the department took up the licenses of 12,609 drivers, compared with 10,694 in the same period a year ago.

enue replacement to communities would be based on the proportionate value of inventories in each of the state's 1,828 communities to the state total. In effect this would be a dollar for dollar replacement, the governor said.

In the April election, voters approved a referendum authorizing the Legislature to make reductions in the personal property tax on inventories. After the referendum, Nelson indicated he favored a one-third reduction in the tax and said he thought the money should be recovered through an increase in the income tax rates.

He said he changed his mind on the method of recovering the lost funds because "in this way corporations are paying for part of their own benefits."

Reds Charged Too Much on Moscow Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two American firms who say Soviet overcharges ran them into the red on construction of the U.S. exhibit building in Moscow would be partly reimbursed under a bill sent to President Kennedy Monday.

The House completed congressional passage by voice vote approval of a minor Senate amendment. The bill would pay Reynolds Feal Corp. of New York $38,551 and Lydick Roofing Co. of Fort Worth, Tex., $29,011.

The companies undertook the work under contract with the U.S. government. They contended, however, that their costs skyrocketed when Soviet officials charged much more for local labor and equipment rental than they had budgeted.

Division of Driver Control said a total of 3,023 motorists lost their licenses during the January to May period because they did not have insurance and were unable to prove financial responsibility after an accident. Thompson noted that the five-month period included the months of the recession and said that at such times more drivers attempt to get along without insurance.

SEAMS TO ME
By Patricia Scott

With warm weather here again, you may be itching to use an outdoor charcoal grill, so instead of fumbling around with regular pot holders, why not have a couple of quilted mitts handy? They're much easier to work with and they give added protection to your hands when the fire gets a bit too hot.
The mitts are a breeze to make and you can use any scraps of material you have around. The instructions give yardage for two mitts. Since they can be worn on either right or left hand, they can both be cut and made in the same way.
Materials needed for two mitts: 1/2 yard printed cotton, 36 inches wide, 1/2 yard terrycloth or suitable fabric for padding, 2 3/4 yards

Designing Woman

BY ELIZABETH HILLYER

For A Comfortable Room, Comfortable Light

As long as light neither stabs the eyes nor strains them to the squinting point, it's all too easy to be unaware that the lighting of the room really isn't comfortable. But note the lighting of any outstandingly congenial and comfortable room — it's never left to the haphazard influence of lamps wherever there are tables to put them on, plus one ceiling fixture. Congenial atmosphere for group gatherings comes from over-all light that's as even and natural as outdoor light. Like outdoor light, it creates a feeling of airiness, freedom and spaciousness. In this room, a shadowless, glareless blanket of light is provided for the whole room by a series of ceiling fixtures, recessed to show only the diffuser and rim. Specific light also spreads comfortably rather than dots intensely, and the two fluorescent fixtures throw light upward with room widening effect as well as downward for reading. Even the lamp for desk work has its own way of spreading light, through a luminous shade.

Mitts for Barbicues

wide bias tape, 6 yards double-fold bias tape, regular width.
Cut one mitt from heavy paper, following to diagram. Each small square is equal to one inch. Following the diagonal lines that form large squares, mark your quilting pattern on the paper mitt.
Fold cotton fabric in half, giving you an 18" inch square and mark four mitts as shown in cutting diagram. Mark quilting pattern on four mitts (you will have eight mitt pieces, four for each mitt).
For one side of mitt, pin two terry mitts between two cotton fabric mitts.
Baste double fold tape over the diagonal lines and top stitch to mitt through center of tape. Repeat with two more terry pieces and two cotton pieces for other side of mitt.
Baste the two finished mitt pieces together. With wide bias tape bind the outside edges, leaving the wrist opening free.
For a loop at wrist (you can hang it on a hook when not in use) stitch the folded edges of a 4-inch strip of tape together.
Bind each side of wrist opening separately, adding the tape loop at the seam opposite the thumb.

Your Problems

Carrier Voices Complaint on Size and Location of Mailboxes

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: You seem to get letters on every imaginable subject so I hope you will print mine.

I'm a mailman. Please don't think I'm complaining about the work. Almost everybody is pleasant and friendly. Strangers say "Beautiful day" or "Miserable day" — sometimes they just smile.

It's well known that a mailman will never get rich on the job, but if he didn't love his work he'd do something else. The thing I'd like to get across in your column is the mailman's biggest problem — the size and position of mailboxes. Almost half the boxes are too small and badly placed. This means we have to stoop, reach or bend.

If the average person would try to shove a magazine and three letters into his own mailbox with a 40 pound pack on his back, he'd get the idea. If everyone who reads your column would check his mailbox our work would be a breeze. Thank you.—Your Mailman

DEAR MAILMAN: I just tried to shove a magazine and three letters into my own mailbox, and it's impossible. How do you do it? Thank you for writing. I'm going to see what I can do about my mailbox at once.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter eloped seven years ago at the age of 17. She wanted to avoid finishing high school and be free to "live her own life."

Since she married she has been a constant financial drain on us. We have other children at home and my husband is in his 50's. We both have worked hard all our lives and have nothing to show for it. Whenever we get a few dollars ahead, this daughter "needs" something. She believes that parents have a moral obligation to share whatever they have with their children—married or single. Will you please comment on this?—Bled White

DEAR WHITE: Part of the problem is your fault. Parents should make it plain that kids who quit school to get married are strictly on their own. Often this will chill a premature marriage and

New Possibility For Electricity

Soap is the staff of cleanliness to most people, but some scientists regard it as a jet-age power source.
When fuel oil and liquid soap were burned in an experimental device during recent tests, the exhaust gases were forced between the poles of a large magnet. The result: electric current!

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5
Throughout your baby's first year you will notice fluctuations in appetite. This is particularly likely to happen during convalescence and troublesome teething times. Around the end of the first year or early in the second, you can expect an appetite lag because baby's rate of growth slows down.
Persnickety appetites can be perked up with palatable foods. Like Gerber Strained and Junior High Meat Dinners. They've flavor to spare and nourishment galore. That's because they have 3 times as much juicy, savory meat as regular dinner combinations. This extra meat is subtly blended with garden-good vegetables for as tasty a dish as was ever served to a little "gourmet."

Progress report. As your baby grows by inches and ounces, his little body has great need for protein, because protein promotes growth and provides the strength he requires. Gerber Strained and Junior Meats are powerhouses of protein. Made from selected Armour cuts, they're specially processed to remove most of the fat. Careful cooking in the absence of air helps retain most of the nourishing food values for your sweetheart's benefit. Flavors are true and savory, the texture moist and smooth-to-the-tongue. First Lady Captivates London

BY FRANCES LEWINE

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy stayed behind today while her husband flew home to report to the American people on his European tour.

Mrs. Kennedy is spending two more days in London with her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, and then taking a private sightseeing trip to Greece.

America's beautiful young First Lady has captivated London just as she did Paris and Vienna.

In her last official appearance at Buckingham Palace Monday night she displayed still another new hairdo that drew a chorus of "oohs" and "ahhs" from spectators outside. Her black hair was lifted high in front, nestled in slight waves across her ears and tucked into a swept-up bun enhanced with diamond clips and diamond-drop earrings.

Queen Elizabeth II gave what was described as a "good old English dinner" for the President and his wife under soft lighting in the palace's state dining room. Mrs. Kennedy wore an American-made sleeveless gown of pale blue silk with a V-neck at the back, bow at the waist and loosely gathered bell skirt.

"Jackie stole the show," said one member of the palace staff. Several thousand Britons let go with cries of "Jackie" as the Kennedys left the palace.

Throughout Monday crowds watched outside the four-story Georgian town house of the Radziwills, where the President and his wife were staying. They cheered every arrival and departure. Shouts of "we want Jack, we want Jackie" brought out the President, his wife and her sister Princess Radziwill, to pose and wave.

"Mrs. Kennedy puts sparkle into London's day," said a headline in the London Evening News. The Evening Standard called her "dazzling Jackie."

Fellowship Announces Installation

MENASHA—Mrs. Robert Gear will be installed as president of Women's Fellowship of First Congregational Church at a breakfast meeting at 9 a.m. Wednesday at the church.

Other officers who will assume duties at that time are Mrs. E. W. Blohm, first vice president; Mrs. William Gear, second vice president; Mrs. Donald Rawson, recording secretary; Mrs. E. E. Glomstead, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Ebbe Berg, treasurer.

"The What and Why of Christian Service" will be presented by Mrs. Allan Loehndorf. Mrs. Robert Falkner will lead devotions. Executive board members will be hostesses.

OES Schedules Initiation Rite

WINNECONNE — Initiations will be held at the meeting of Order of the Eastern Star at 8 p.m. today.

Members of the refreshment committee are Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Kruenger.

With a fitted bodice and full skirt. Kennedy was the first U.S. President to dine at the palace since Woodrow Wilson in 1918.

BDM Schedules Annual Formal Dinner Dance

AUTUMN WEDDING
My future wife and I are in our 50s. We are planning on a small wedding with the immediate families and a handful of close friends. I would like to have a small reception afterwards. My fiancée says it isn't proper and I think it is. Who is right and who bares the cost? Because my parents are not living, what would be the correct wording of the invitations?

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:
It is quite proper to have a small and informal get-together of relatives and friends. For a mature couple in the 50s, there is no rigid rule as to who pays the cost. Making such arrangements is between the two of you and is no concern to anyone else. Traditionally, a bride's parents foot the bill but that is when a young bride is still under her parents' supervision and roof. For a small wedding such as yours, I suggest that invitations be handled by telephone, personal note or in person rather than go to the expense of ordering engraved invitations. If you both decide to accept my suggestion, then your fiancée is the one who officially does the inviting. I think that you would prefer to mail announcements after the marriage. You may both do it. For example: Miss Geraldine Anne Campbell and Mr. George Wallace Whitmore announce their marriage on Saturday, the twenty-sixth of August, etc. It would also be permissible for your fiancée's parents to make the announcements instead. It isn't traditional to include "son of Mr. and Mrs. . . .", so you have no problem on that anyway.

Take a good look at your opponents before you stab at a flighty contract. Don't expect a fishy defense from a pair of sharks. pair of happy amateurs, but the defenders were actually Mrs. Margaret Wagar and Hal McDonald of Atlanta, both ranking experts.

When dummy's singleton king of clubs won the first trick McDonald carefully dropped the jack of clubs from the East hand.

Needed Entry
All East needed now was an entry — a way to gain the lead. This came from a strange direction.

Declarer led a heart from dummy at the second trick, playing the ace from his hand. Mrs. Wagar calmly dropped the king of hearts on this trick!

Now South had to give East a trick with the jack of hearts to develop dummy's long suit. This put East in position to return the five of clubs.

What a difference this made. If East had kept the jack of clubs, the defenders would take only two club tricks. As it was, the five of clubs led through South allowed Mrs. Wagar to take five club tricks.

South was down two at a contract he would have made against normal defense.

You are fourth to speak, after three passes, holding: S—J H K 6, D—10 8 7 3, C—A Q 9 8 4 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Don't open a borderline hand in fourth position when you are short of both majors. You would open this hand if the long suit were spades instead of clubs.

Say Vows In Catholic Nuptial Rite

Miss Jeanne Schomisch, daughter of Mrs. Leona Schomisch, 49 E. Main St., Chilton, became the bride of Daniel Kuhn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Kuhn, 708 Park St., Chilton, during 11 a.m. rites Saturday at St. Augustine Catholic Church, Chilton. The Rev. Roland Ahearn officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride selected a cousin, Mrs. Gene Emery, rural Fond du Lac, as matron of honor. Mary Thielmann, Chilton, was bridesmaid.

Ushers were John Schomisch, a brother of the bride, and Robert Goggins, a friend.

After a wedding dinner and reception at Hotel Chilton, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip. They will make their home in Milwaukee where the bridegroom, a Chilton High School graduate, is attending Marquette University. A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller
Keyboard Fingertips
For fingertips that play the typewriter keys, here are some special notes:
Avoid talon-length nails. In the first place, they are unsuited to the quick and so render the hands unsightly on every scene. The practical and pretty shape is a medium-length oval.
To strengthen weak nails and keep strong ones conditioned, check your manicure techniques. Be sure the nails are dry before filing, for they are weakest when damp. As it tears the nail's surface, never insert a file between the nail and flesh at the sides. Also make a test of protective polishes. There are several. One is a clear, plastic coating, which acts like a coat of armor on the nails between applications. It is painted directly on the nail, and may be topped by your favorite enamel.
Another type takes the form of a base coat and enamel. Its virtue is a moisture shield, which purports to preserve the oils and moisture so vital to strength. Whatever enamel you espouse, save it from chipping by using a telephone dialer. Moreover, wear a sewing guard on your middle

Department Stores Plan Big Step Into Discount Operation

Merchandising Executives Say 'If You Can't Lick 'Em, Join 'Em,'

BY JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A revolution in retailing is under way. It was brought on by the tremendous success of the discount stores, which sacrifice service and fanciness to sell at lower costs.

Apparently on the theory that "if you can't lick 'em, join 'em," some big department stores and variety chains are diving into the discount business.

For a long while the department stores looked down their noses at discount newcomers in confidence that low-priced stacks of goods could never wean away customers who were used to high fashion, good service, credit and delivery.

But the discounters flourished and now there are some 3,000 across the country. Their cut-rate prices slashed into department and variety stores' business.

Latest to get into the act is the giant variety firm, F. W. Woolworth Co., which announced plans to build "the biggest discount chain this country will ever see." Its first unit will be opened this year.

Customer Interest

"It has become evident there is a great deal of customer interest in this direction," said President Robert C. Kirkwood.

Woolworth's discount stores will operate under the name of Woolco Department Stores. Initial locations have not been announced.

Another big variety chain, S. S. Kresge Co., said it is "as far as further along" as anyone in preparations for discount operations but did not elaborate.

Interstate Department Stores, which operates more than 50 units, plans to open eight discount houses this year and 20 more next year.

It already has opened two on the outskirts of Chicago, and plans two more in Chicago and four in Baltimore, Kalamazoo, Mich., and Hartford, Conn., this year.

Future Outlook

"We foresee the day, 5 to 10 years from now, when 80 per cent of the public will be relying on discount centers for the bulk of their purchases," said Sol W. Cantor, Interstate president.

"There is no practical limit on the amount and kinds of goods that can be purchased through discount centers, provided discount operators stick to their original and very basic philosophy, which is to keep markups low."

Grayson-Robinson Stores, which has 239 women's and children's apparel stores in 36 states, has opened 21 discount centers and eight photographic discount operations.

Evolutionary Move

Bankers Securities Corp.-City Stores Co., with headquarters in Philadelphia, describes its approach as more evolutionary than revolutionary. Virtually all of its stores utilize self-service and checkouts in toy departments at Christmas time. This merchandising system will be expanded to other departments and whole stores where necessary.

The May stores in Akron, Denver and Cleveland are planning to convert part of their operations to self-service and to open 100,000-square-foot branch units on a self-service, checkout system. The Cleveland store will keep branches open six nights a week instead of four.

Three Los Angeles branches which do not have basements are being rearranged for self-service operations. The basements of the Los Angeles downtown store and the suburban San Fernando unit are being converted to the new technique as well as some upstairs departments.

Quality Preserved

Bernard Litvak, president of Lit Bros. of Philadelphia, said department stores could sell much more merchandise through the installation of self-service, particularly in staple items, without violating the department stores image of quality and large selection.

"We mustn't forget," he said, "that maybe the customer would rather trade some of the regular department stores services for cash savings. She will put up with no delivery, no credit and no adherence to the old idea that the customer is always right if she can save enough by doing so."

J. Gordon Dakins, executive vice president of the National Retail Merchants Association, says the entrance of department and variety chains into the discount field means "they are diversifying because some of their customers feel they would like to shop this way."

Revenue Service Gets $1.9 Million To Settle Estate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service announced that it has accepted $1.94 million in settlement of back tax claims against the late Bishop Charles M. Grace, Negro evangelist widely known among his followers as "Sweet Daddy Grace."

Grace, long-time head of the church known as United House of Prayer for All People, with headquarters in Washington, died in Los Angeles in January 1960.

Shortly afterward, the Internal Revenue Bureau filed claims against his estate totaling approximately $4.5 million. It contended the church leader's income taxes had been in arrears since 1945. These claims were contested by administrators of the estate, in the U.S. Tax Court.

The stipulated settlement, entered in that court, covered tax deficiencies of $967,581 and penalties of $398,901. The balance of the $1.94 million represents accumulated interest.

The tax service said that, after the original claims were made against Grace, it located documents with which it was able to separate Grace's personal worth from church income, which is non-taxable. The service said the agreed settlement "represents the tax liability determined to be due (from Grace) and has been paid in full."

New Oshkosh Pool to Open On Thursday

Dedication Program Scheduled for Saturday Evening

OSHKOSH—The city's new Pollock Memorial Swimming Pool will open at 1 p.m. Thursday with dedication set for 7.30 p.m. Saturday.

Cost of the pool construction is estimated at just over $210,000 with private contributions including $50,000 from the late W. E. Pollock, former Oshkosh industrialist, in memory of his wife, and $5,000 from their two children, Kenneth Pollock and the late Mrs. Kathryn Pollock Bartlett.

Raised $39,495

The Swimming Pool Corp. raised $39,495 and gifts of $5,800 in stock from Carl Steiger and $5,000 from the American Legion have helped reduce the city's cost to about $120,000 out of an appropriation of $185,000.

Swimming capacity at the pool is 1,320 persons with the main pool handling 840 swimmers and the beginner's pool, 480 swimmers. There also is a splash pool for small children.

The main pool provides eight swimming lanes 25 yards long, and eight lanes 50 meters long. The pool is 165 feet, or 50 meters, long and is 75 feet wide at one end and 56 feet wide at the narrower portion. The depth varies from 3 feet 6 inches to 12 feet. Two low diving boards and one high diving board are provided.

The beginner's pool is 60 feet by 90 feet in size and has a depth from 2 feet to 3 feet 6 inches. Total water capacity is 513,678 gallons. The pool is located on Eagle Street on the far west side and near the new Oshkosh High School.

8 Soviet Submarines Leave Albanian Base

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP)—Eight Russian submarines that pulled out of the Soviet base at Valona Bay, Albania, last week were sighted bound north in the English Channel today. It was assumed they were heading for the Baltic.

Withdrawal of the subs from Albania has caused speculation that Moscow's relations with the little satellite nation, recently chilled by foreign policy differences, have taken a turn for the worse.

Deed Error To Cost City School Land

NEENAH — An apparent error in drawing up land deeds probably will cost the City of Neenah an eight-foot strip of land at the north end of Taft Elementary School property.

The situation came to light at the Board of Education meeting Monday night when Abe Burstein, representing the Western Development Co., which will get the strip of land, proposed to buy an additional 10-foot strip of the school property. The request was turned down by the board.

Western Development Co. owns the land and building on which the Park'n Market grocery, 838 W. Main St., is located.

Burstein said it wants to build a $75,000 addition to the east and south sides of the store building and needs the additional land to provide parking space on the south side of the building.

No one on the board knew exactly how the eight-foot error occurred. Western Development Co. apparently has first call on the land because its deed was dated one month before the deed for the school property. As a result, the fence which separates the two properties will be moved eight feet closer to the school.

Neenah Board OKs Transfer Of Building to Trade School

Present Kimberly Junior High To be Used for Administration

NEENAH — Transfer of Kimberly Junior High School to the Neenah Board of Vocational and Adult Education was approved Monday night by the Neenah Board of Education. The Vocational Board will act on the agreement Thursday night.

Under terms of the agreement, a program started several years ago to move the Vocational School and Neenah school administrative offices to the Kimberly School building, the Vocational school will vacate much of the high school and all of Roosevelt and Hoover Schools.

In return, the Kimberly school building will be turned over to the Vocational Board and use of the building will be shared by the Vocational school and the Neenah school and the Neenah school system.

Use of Rooms

The Vocational school will have exclusive use of two rooms and a storage closet in the basement and all of the second floor while the board of education will have exclusive use of the present shop, band room and band storage room in the basement and all of the first floor.

Operating costs of Kimberly School will be shared and each board will be responsible for repair and improvement costs to its part of the building.

The Vocational School will be provided with an office in the high school and may use high school rooms on Monday and Thursday nights, the north gym on Tuesday nights and the auditorium on certain Wednesday nights.

Payment for use of high school rooms by the Vocational School will be $10 per room per evening except for the auditorium which will be $25 per evening.

Dr. Donald Scott, superintendent of schools, reported the contractor still expects to finish the new junior high school by July 1. He said cornerstone laying has tentatively been set for approximately that date.

Carpenter work and glazing is complete in the entire building. Finish grading is in progress, tiling is being installed and painting and electrical work is about 50 per cent complete. The ventilating system is about 80 per cent complete and the boiler room is complete except for painting.

CAUKAUNA—Quick action by a fast-thinking neighbor prevented possible serious damage to the Francis Alears residence, 203 Whitney St. at 9:50 p.m. Sunday.

The neighbor noticed a curtain burning, rushed into the house and removed it.

Damage was limited to minor charring of the window frame. When firemen arrived, they found the house filled with smoke and gas leaking from the refrigerator. A faulty refrigerator was believed to have caused the fire.

Firemen spent about a half hour clearing the house of smoke and gas with a smoke ejector. No one was at home when the fire broke out.

At 10:30 a.m. Monday, firemen extinguished a blaze in a pile of rope and debris in a garage at the Howard Veldman residence, 705 Quincy Ave. No damage was reported.

Bids for a major sanitary sewer installation on the west side will be opened at 10 a.m. Wednesday. The new sewers will average from 18 to 24 feet in depth. In some places now the sewers are so shallow that homes with basements may not be built.

This issue will bring the city's bonded indebtedness to $11,227,703. Later in the year, the city may issue $700,000 in bonds for converting the present high school into a city hall.

Supreme Court Upholds Ruling By Parnell

Canning Company Held Liable in Sweet Corn Case

MADISON (AP)—The State Supreme Court today affirmed a Circuit Court decision holding a canning company liable for damages because it contracted for an Outagamie County farmer's sweet corn crop and then failed to harvest it.

Judge A. W. Parnell of the Shawano County Circuit Court awarded Dewey Strong, a Shiocton farmer, $966.86 in damages from the Shawano Canning Co., Inc., because a jury found the farmer carried out the contract and the canning company didn't.

The case before the Circuit Court and the Supreme Court was decided with the stipulation that the decision control the disposition of five other cases brought by Outagamie County farmers against the canning companies.

The other actions involved Arthur Meach, Harland Greeley, James Werner, Norbert Hein and Edward Strong.

The canning firms contended that the contract was clear and that if the corn was not harvested the farmers could use it for livestock feed.

The court upheld the farmers' contention that they had fulfilled the contract by raising corn fit for canning.

The canning firms argued they did not have enough mechanical picking equipment or hand labor to harvest the crop. "The record discloses, Justice Grover Broadfoot said, 'that the companies made no real effort to secure either mechanical pickers or hand labor.'"

Kimberly Tries to Solve Street Problem

Authorize Engineer To Make Survey In One-Block Area

KIMBERLY — The village board Monday night attempted to solve a problem created last year by the installation of a blacktop surface road and curb and gutter in one block on John Street.

Since the street improvement, many residents find it impossible to enter or leave driveways without scraping the bottom of their cars. The village engineer indicated plans called for sidewalks to be cut down four inches, thus improving the grades into driveways.

Village board members felt, since the street improvement caused the problem, the village would be liable for replacing the walk and thereby be responsible for other changes in driveways and private lawns which might result from lowering the walk.

Elmer Vander Velden, trustee, insisted the board had not been made aware of the difficulties which would arise on private drives and questioned whether different engineering methods could have prevented the problem.

To Make Survey

To resolve the situation, the engineer was authorized to survey the street, make a profile sketch and ascertain whether changes in pitch, adding storm sewer and additional catch basins would not solve the problem. In line with this, he is to furnish cost estimates for replacing the blacktop in the block without making it necessary to change walk and drive grades.

The village received no sealed proposals for miscellaneous walk installation work, thus the board set an assessment rate of 40 cents per square foot for walk work, projects to be carried out by village crews unless a property owner prefers handling his own work.

The administrative committee was authorized to work out a schedule with the police department whereby men on that department would work 44.5 hours weeks rather than the 48-hour week now in effect. The committee was also authorized to review holiday and sick leave pay schedule for village employees.

Back Committee

Board members voted to support the county highway committee in its effort to have state highway engineers make an origin and destination survey to attempt to find the most suitable location for a limited access highway between

$1.3 Million Bonding Program Will be Read

Money Will be Used for Menasha Storm Sewer Work

MENASHA — A resolution to sell $1.3 million in 20-year general obligation bonds, to pay for the Ninth Street storm sewer project, will have its second reading at tonight's common council meeting, Menasha aldermen learned Monday.

In 30 days, the council will be allowed to sell its bonds.

After passage, a certified copy of the resolution will be sent to Chapman and Cutler, Chicago, bonding counsel, as required by law.

Drain North Part

The storm sewer will drain most of the north and northeast part of the city, which each spring receives much runoff water from the north.

The sewer has been under consideration since February 1958. McMahon Engineering Co. gave the council a basic plan, with nine alternatives, in October 1958. The plan selected and already approved and in process will drain 2,338 acres and cost $1,096,309 on low contractor bids, as estimated by Chapel and Amundson, Green Bay. The council May 16 approved a certificate of intention to give the Green Bay firm the contract for the sewer job.

Ald. Richard Hansen told councilmen the city should be able to assess for storm sewer work on an area basis, instead of general levy. "It's a small area to dump $1,300,000 into. It should be like curb and gutter" (which is on special assessments.)

Mayor John Klein pointed out that the property now can be developed. In the over-all picture it does benefit the city, he added.

Paper Worker Takes Life

Fired Two Bullets Into Head Saturday; Body Found Monday

Rudolph Gmeinwieser, 32, route 2, Menasha, died between 11 p.m. and midnight Saturday of two self-inflicted gunshot wounds in the head, Calumet Coroner Leroy Hughes said.

The body was found about 2 p.m. Monday by Gmeinwieser's landlord and a friend. Hughes ruled Gmeinwieser's death a suicide and placed the time of death from neighbors' testimony of hearing what they thought at the time were car backfires.

Hughes said the evidence in the small trailer at the Schultz Trailer Court on U.S. 10 south of Appleton indicated Gmeinwieser, seated on the bed in the confining trailer bedchamber, fired a bullet from a .300 Savage rifle into the base of his left ear then crossed the small room and reloaded the rifle.

The coroner said evidence indicated that Gmeinwieser then crossed back to the bed, placed the muzzle in his mouth and fired. Both bullets passed through his head and the roof of the trailer.

Hughes said Gmeinwieser left a hand-printed note but it failed to establish any motive.

Discovered Body

William Brandt, 1420 S. Jefferson St., one of Gmeinwieser's fellow workers at Gilbert Paper Co., and Jim Schultz, proprietor of the trailer court, investigated Gmeinwieser's trailer to see why he had not reported for work on the 3 p.m. Saturday shift. When they saw the blood spattered condition of the trailer interior, they called the Calumet sheriff's office.

Gmeinwieser, a native of Toygen, Germany, came to the Fox Cities in 1951. He worked at Gilbert Paper for eight years. He was a bachelor and had been planning a trip back to Germany, Hughes said.

He is survived by a brother in Appleton and his parents, a brother and three sisters in Germany.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Wichmann Funeral Home with burial in St. Joseph Cemetery.

Water Softening Process Halted At Kimberly

KIMBERLY — Village board members were told that the village will be without a soft water supply until a good "ground soaking" rain is left in the area.

The water commission told the board that the softening process is practically useless in a dry spell because water is drawn from the plant before the process can be completed.

Rather than do an ineffective job of softening, the commission decided to put both village wells into operation, bypass the softening plant and pump hard water directly to customers.

The commission will send three representatives to Madison Thursday to meet with the public service commission on a proposed water rate increase for Combined Locks. The group will explain the expense necessary to Kimberly to continue to provide service to Combined Locks.

Red Bird Statue To be Dedicated At High Cliff

Dedication of a 12-foot bronze statue of the Winnebago Indian Chief Red Bird will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. in High Cliff Forest park overlooking Lake Winnebago. The dedication is open to the public.

The ceremonies will be conducted by the High Cliff Forest Park Association which has sponsored development of the site since its purchase in 1954.

The $20,000 statue was donated by an association member, Menasha publisher George Banta Jr., a former president of the State Historical Society. As part of the ceremony Banta will officially dedicate the statue to the State of Wisconsin. It will be accepted by Guido Rahr, Manitowoc, chairman of the Wisconsin Conservation Commission.

Main speaker on the program will be the chairman of the Winnebago Indian Tribal Council, Frank Beaver, Winnebago, Neb. The invocation will be read by the Rev. Edmund Webster, an Oneida Indian, who grew up in Menasha and is now pastor of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Waupaca.

Also scheduled to speak are Lieutenant Governor Warren Knowles and Adam Remley, Appleton, president of the High Cliff Forest Park Association. Several Indians from various Wisconsin tribes are expected to be on hand for the dedication.

Sacred Heart Has Nine-Day Novena

The nine-day novena in honor of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal is now in progress at Sacred Heart Church and will conclude with a 7:30 p.m. service Thursday, according to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Emil P. Schmit, pastor.

Sunday evening the annual 40-hour devotion of Sacred Heart Church was celebrated as part of the novena. A solemn procession in honor of the Blessed Sacrament had school children, Holy Name Society men and visiting clergy as participants.

The Rev. John Hogan of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, St. Louis, is preaching at the daily novena services at 5 p.m. mass. Benediction and a sermon are given at each 7:30 p.m. service.

Winneconne Approves Purchase Of Land for School Expansion

Residents Will Vote on $650,000 Bond Issue in June 24 Referendum Ballot

WINNECONNE — Authorization to the Central School and explain the project. The Central School addition will be 47,500 square feet and the Winchester School addition will be 1,500 square feet. Added at the Central School will be eight high school classrooms, 12 elementary classrooms, two kindergartens and cafeteria and kitchen spaces. All outlying buildings at Allen-ville, Butte des Morts, Pingry, Mathison and the annex will be closed. The board expects these additions to satisfy the school's needs for at least 10 years. Lehman explained that based on the district's present $23,293,600 equalized valuation, the cost for a 20-year bond issue at 3 1/2 per cent would cost $2.50 per $1,000 of equalized valuation. He cited that the school's tax rate had gone down from $14.75 in 1957 to $12 for this last school year.

The superintendent stressed the need for more high school space, stating that by 1962 there will be 80 more students than this last year with no place to put them.

Miss Christine Hillman asked why an elementary school could not be built on the west side of the river rather than adding elementary rooms to the Central School. Joseph Anderson, board chairman, replied that had been studied by the board and with the State Department of Public Instruction and it was decided that adding to the Central School would be the better plan.

Over 100 Present The vote authorizing purchase of the two parcels of land, the last privately-owned property in the block housing the school, was 26 to 26 while that authorizing the board to hire an architect was 66 to 41.

The land sought is the former Fuller property owned by Mrs. Edith LaBelle and the Charles Luce property. No purchase price was indicated.

Supt. Arthur Lehman explained the architect would be hired if the referendum passed and if the referendum failed to pass, the architect would not be paid anything.

Lehman also said the bond issue referendum uses the figure of "not to exceed $650,000" but that the board hopes $600,000 or less might be the amount needed.

It is hoped to have plans completed for a letting of the bids in September or early October, he added.

Richard Thern of the architectural firm of Kinnich and Thern, Oshkosh, showed preliminary sketches of the proposed addition

Winnebago 4-H Clubs Planning Tours, Meetings

OSHKOSH — This week will be busy for 4-H activities, Clarence Westfahl, county 4-H agent, pointed out today.

Members enrolled in the dairy project will participate in the county's Holstein Breeders Association twilight meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Francis Zeller farm in the Town of Vinland. A colored movie on "Getting Started with Registered Holsteins" will be shown.

The 4-H tractor maintenance project group will meet at 8 p.m. today at the Speed Queen Co. plant at Omro for a tour of the plant. Later they will go to the Henry Brahmner and Son farm for a discussion of tractor maintenance.

A county-wide pleasure horse project meeting has been set for the Frank Turner farm, also known as the Guilford farm, on the Vinland Street road north of Oshkosh at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Individual club meetings include Beaver Valley 4-H Club at the Clayton School at 8 p.m. Monday and Rippling Brook Club at the home of Mrs. Carl Jacobsen, route 2, Neenah, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Courthouse to Remain Open Until 5 Daily

Nine Twin City Supervisors Back 4:30 p.m. Closing

OSHKOSH — The Winnebago County courthouse will remain open until 5 p.m. daily during the summer months, rather than close at 4:30 p.m., the county board decided by a 38-12 vote this morning.

Nine of the dissenting votes were from Twin City supervisors, who backed the request of Court-house Employees Association for an earlier closing during the months of June, July and August.

The board granted approval to the welfare department's request for a student caseworker for the summer months.

Supv. Laurel Heaney, Town of Neenah, welfare board chairman, said the student caseworker would be paid up to $240 a month and would work for a 90-day period. He said the board has a Winnebago County resident who is a University of Wisconsin student in line for this post.

Increases in salary for elected officials were deferred until the October session at the request of the personnel committee, which asked for more time to gather information and study the salary set-up.

The elected officials earlier in the year had asked for a salary increase since they were not covered in the new schedule setup by the State Bureau of Personnel after a survey. The other employees were granted increases last March which were retroactive to Jan. 1.

Broken Tie Vote Denies Macs 'Thrill Show' Permission

MENASHA — The Menasha Athletic Association (MACS) Monday night lost their bid to stage a "thrill show" in Menasha parks.

At the Park and Recreation Board meeting, commissioner Daniel Arft's motion to allow the Macs to have the show in the Menasha Ball Park, seconded by Floyd Fenske, received a 3-3 tie. Elmer Enz joined to support the motion.

Voting "No" were Edward Was-kiewicz, Mrs. Hayward Biggers and Mrs. Gordon Altenhofen.

Chairman Linus Pfankuch broke the tie vote in favor of denying the "thrill show" permission. Waskiewicz's motion to allow the "thrill show" in Jefferson Park died for lack of a second.

The board requested the Common Council to make temporary repairs on the potholed surface of Jefferson Park road.

Plans for the picnic, and playground area in Clovis Grove Park, adjacent to the Clovis Grove school, were approved for presentation to the city engineer.

The Police Department was requested to lock the ball park at 9:30 p.m. nightly when no game is played there and approved hiring a custodian for the park, as pre-cautions against further vandalism.

String Program Receives National Recognition

NEENAH — The Neenah elementary string instrument program has received national attention in the June issue of "The Instrumentalist," a music magazine.

The history of the Neenah program is told in an article by Robert Gruetzman, string orchestra director.

The eighth grade string orchestra came in for high praise from directors of the National Catholic Music Educators Association convention in Milwaukee three weeks ago.

Dr. Donald Scott, Superintendent of Schools, read excerpts at the Board of Education meeting Monday night from several letters praising the conduct of the orchestra and its outstanding performance at the convention.

Allenville Grange Host to Oshkosh, Omro Kiwanis Clubs

ALLENVILLE — Allenville Grange was host recently to Oshkosh and Omro Kiwanis Club members and their wives in a meeting designed to renew acquaintances of rural and urban couples and to give June Dairy Month a send-off. About 115 attended.

Millard Ihde, Neenah, master of the Grange, noted the Grange is the only fraternal farm family organization in the world and Rich Club president, gave the response. Kathryn A. Hefferan, home service supervisor for Wisconsin Public Service Corp. at Green Bay, emphasized use of dairy foods in various forms in her demonstration on "June's best food buys."

"Art as a hobby" was discussed by Henry Young, Neenah industrialist, who said that he plans to spend more time in picture painting, particularly of nature scenes from Neenah and Fox River Valley communities.

Also on the program were songs led by the Rev. Bruno Romanowski of Oshkosh, musical selections by Mrs. Arthur Reinders of Allenville and Miss Donna Breaker of Winneconne and a skit by Grange members directed by Mrs. Warren Hitchcock. Mrs. Chester

Smith, Grange home economics chairman, headed the dinner committee.

Top 'Revenooer' Ends 27 Years in Moonshine Center

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP)—If the moonshiners of the mountains around here are breathing easier now, it's because

Charlie Felts, 70, has retired. Felts has been a government revenue for 30 years, 27 of them in Wilkes County, which has been described as the "moonshine capital of the world."

Two weeks before Felts' retirement, the Federal Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division honored him as the agent credited with destroying more stills than any other man in the country.

The records don't show, and even Felts isn't sure, how many stills he has confiscated. But he has made 2,500 arrests, confiscated more than 5 million gallons of mash and 70,000 gallons of illegal whisky—equal to about $5.7 million in unpaid federal whisky tax.

6 Children Perish In Fire During Night

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Six children perished in a fire which destroyed their home Monday night. Another child was critically burned.

The mother, Jesse Mae Forest, was treated for shock. She rushed from the blazing house barefooted and in her nightgown. A neighbor, Jimmy Davis, and another man, Van Adams, rescued one child, Michael Forest, 10, who was rushed to a hospital with burns over 60 per cent of his body.

The flames blocked further rescue work. The house was destroyed.

Guideline to Keep Commercials in Line

Uproar Over Fancy Toy Ads on TV Causes Writing of Don't Do List

BY JINGO
"Like taking candy from a baby," has become a part of our folk tradition as a description of an extremely simple task. However, it also has a more demeaning connotation when considered in the phrase's general terms.

Some time ago there was a hue and cry accusing the toy manufacturers — of all people — of trying to take candy from a baby and giving Daddy a headache in the bargain. Their television commercials were just too good to be true and the kids believed every spark, bang and word of the pitch. When the toy rockets failed to perform like Freedom VII as the commercial indicated, the family circle was broken with wails and TV, the advertising agencies and the manufacturer suffered in the eyes of the purchasers.

The Television Code Review Board of the National Association of Broadcasters, a volunteer group whose job is to keep watch on the tastes of TV material, came to the toy manufacturers' rescue with a guideline the manufacturers have promised to follow.

From now on, the guideline indicates, little Rollo will see advertisement of toys as toys not as trauma-making status symbols or dramatic, world shaking instruments. The guideline also lays down an abjuration that would be wise for any advertiser to follow. The toy men are asked to avoid "oversimplification such as 'only' and 'just' applied to the price of a toy exceeding a few dollars."

Another intramural television agitation may have its effects out in the public soon. Leroy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, has come out strongly in opposition to the pay-TV development. Fee-Vee proponents fear Gov. Collins' stand may hurt their chances in the current FCC hearings.

Their argument against the opposition is that Fee-Vee will fulfill the need of the "non-mass" audience and complete a logical development of television's future. It seems the argument boils down to the stand that there are enough ers willing to pay a dollar or more to see a "class" presentation, but not enough to convince the commercial producers to air the same kind of "class" shows. The FCC's pay television tests so far seem to indicate the Fee-Vee people may be right, Gov. Collins notwithstanding.

Steve Allen, NBC's one time bright boy, is switching to ABC next season. Allen has been known to be as far in the past as his NBC address. On ABC he will be the "new Major Bowes." For you post-radio youngsters, Major Bowes ran a wonderful amateur show in the '30's. Steve, of course, will have something "different" for TV. He's scouring the nation for unknown professionals to give the big break. Different? Doesn't the format sound a "little" like Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts"? At any rate, during Steve's ABC slot, the network's guns will have a chance to cool off.

Lowry Favors Oblivion for Some TV Ads

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Movie-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It would be really nice if some of the season's commercials were heading for oblivion along with all those network entertainment programs which won't be back next fall.

Every viewer has his own candidates for extinction, but I could manage to struggle along without:

The jolly demonstration of a wash-day product involving two small boys heaving chocolate pies at a clean table cloth and mopping up with dainty towels a floor covered by a nauseous mess of gravy, soup and sauce.

Snoopy Neighbor
The rude, aggressively snoopy neighbor who walks into the housewife's kitchen and proceeds to order her to use a certain soap.

The "scientific machines" that demonstrate how fast pills dissolve, how a woman can breathe out of only one nostril and how bad an onion smells.

All the ladies who make gentlemen disappear completely when they breathe upon them.

All the gentlemen whose unruly hair makes the ladies flee.

This One Ridiculous
The couples, obviously madly in love with each other, who spend their precious time together sentimentally describing how mild and satisfying their cigarettes are.

The announcers with authoritative "doctor voices" prescribing reducing aids or headache pills.

The athletes attributing all their skill and vitality to one brand of bread or cereal.

Those filthy sinks that the scouring powder cleans without even scrubbing.

Filming Starts In Kentucky on Historical Drama

Initial filming of the Cinerama — Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production of "How the West Was Won" started this month in Paducah, Ky.

A location unit of 133 actors and technicians has reported to Paducah to work on one of the six inter-related episodes that will make up "How the West Was Won". This episode is set in the Civil War period.

Among those already signed to star in segments of the movie feature are James Stewart, Debbie Reynolds, John Wayne, Gregory Baker, Agnes Moorehead, Andy Devine, George Peppard, Russ Tamblyn, Brigid Bazlen and Gary Merrill.

Director John Ford heads the location unit in Kentucky. Henry Hathaway and George Marshall will direct other episodes.

Action in the large-scale drama, which will range from the Ohio River to the Pacific Ocean, will be connected by the story of a family through three generations.

Date of Garroway's Departure Undecided

Dave Garroway obviously is going to leave NBC's "Today Show," as he requested, but the date of departure is still up in the air. Garroway was planning to take things easy this summer by taping a couple of shows one day each week anyway.

John Daly is considered the most logical replacement, but network officials say that a number of names have been submitted for consideration.

Pirates Drop Dodgers From Lead With 5-2 Victory Behind Law

Philadelphia Slides Giants to Third On 3-2 Decision

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A year ago Vern Law was a 20-game winner and the Pittsburgh Pirates were on top. Now it's news when the big right-hander wins one and the Pirates are fourth.

It's been as simple as that to spotlight the Bucs' slump in the National League race, what with Law losing four of his first five and Bob Friend, an 18-game winner last season, losing seven in a row as a starter.

It also could be as simple as a return to form by the two aces for the champs to get back on top. For with Law winning his first in more than a month, the fourth-place Pirates moved within 2½ games of first place and knocked Los Angeles out of the lead with a 5-2 victory over the Dodgers Monday night.

Cincinnati jumped back on top, by a half game, by beating Milwaukee 5-3. Last-place Philadelphia dropped San Francisco to third with a 3-2 decision over the Giants. St. Louis defeated the Chicago Cubs 10-8.

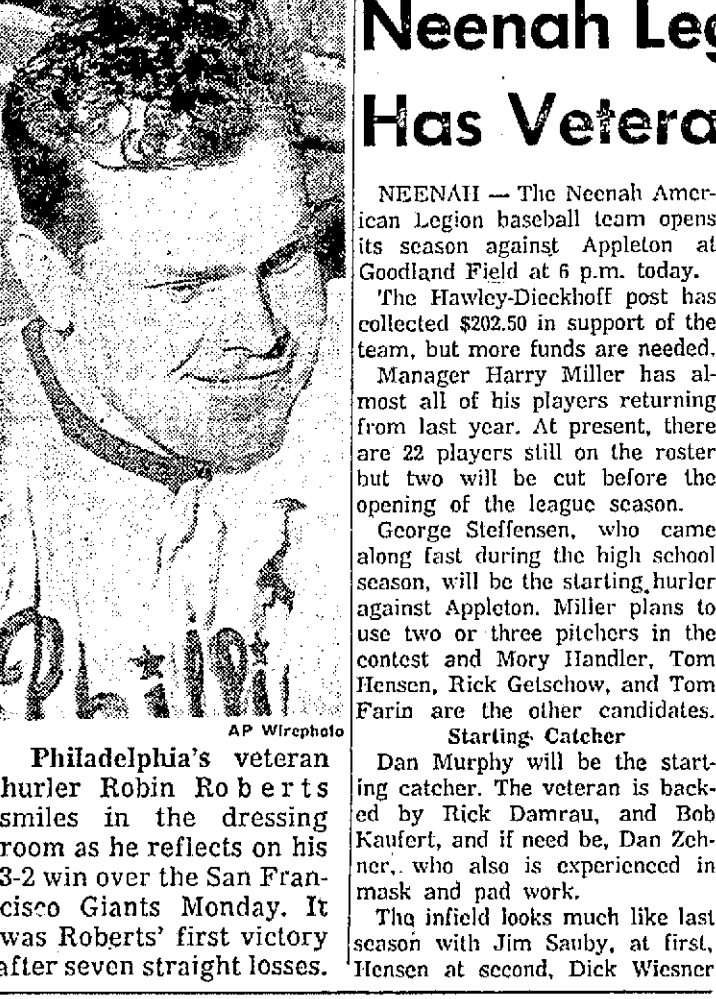

Law, bothered by a sore shoulder and home runs, avoided both troubles at Los Angeles. He gave up eight hits and blew a 2-0 lead, but then singled home the tie-breaker in the sixth against losing reliever Ron Ferrarowski (3-1) before giving way to a pinch-hitter. Face then saved it, with two innings of one-hit, shutout relief. Bill Mazeroski and Smokey Burgess homered for the Pirates, who collected 13 hits.

A six-run seventh inning, triggered by Carl Sawalski's two-run homer and capped by Bill White's grand slam, brought the Cardinals from behind. Maury McClellan, gaining his first NL decision, was the winner in relief. Ed Bouchee and Ernie Banks homered for the Cubs. The losing pitcher was reliever Joe Schaffert (0-3).

Robin Roberts, who had lost his first seven decisions, beat the Giants with a six-hit job. Chuck CINCINNATI — (AP) There was an electrical power failure at Cincinnati's Crosley Field Monday night. Unfortunately for the Milwaukee Braves the trouble was confined to the press section and the playing field remained brightly lit.

The Reds wound up by putting out the lights on the Braves with a three-run eighth in a 5-3 victory before a crowd of 16,841. Milwaukee right-hander Lew Burdette, given a three run advantage on first inning homers by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock, again failed in a bid for his 15th National League victory. As a result he suffered his 10th setback. Burdette surrendered 10 hits in seven innings, but managed to work his way out of trouble and nurse a 3-2 lead. Then the Reds struck quickly for their sixth triumph in eight starts against the Braves.

Vada Pinson led off the Cincinnati eighth with a line single to right and Frank Robinson, who had three hits off Burdette, slammed his 14th homer of the year over the centerfield wall. Robinson's blast drove out Burdette and right-hander Chi Chi Olivo, called up from Louisville in the American Association last week, made his first appearance in the major leagues. Olivo served up a homer to Jerry Lynch and then settled down to retire the Reds.

With two out, Joe Adcock belted his fifth homer against the left field screen. Frank Thomas and Joe Torre followed with singles before Jay got the Braves out. Torre had three hits and walked in four times at bat.

Six In Row
The Reds scored two runs in the second on three singles and a double.

Jay, who had won six straight, allowed only one hit after the first until he was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh. Burdette

Opens Season Today

NEENAH — The Neenah American Legion baseball team opens its season against Appleton at Goodland Field at 6 p.m. today.

The Hawley-Dieckhoff post has collected $202.50 in support of the team, but more funds are needed.

Manager Harry Miller has at least all of his players returning from last year. At present, there are 22 players still on the roster but two will be cut before the opening of the league season.

George Steffensen, who came along fast during the high school season, will be the starting hurler against Appleton. Miller plans to use two or three pitchers in the contest and Mory Handler, Tom Jensen, Rick Gutschow, and Tom Farin are the other candidates.

Starting Catcher
Dan Murphy will be the starting catcher. The veteran is backed by Rick Damrau, and Bob Kaufert, and if need be, Dan Zehner, who also is experienced in mask and pad work.

The infield looks much like last season with Jim Sauby, at first, Hensen at second, Dick Wiesner

Cleveland Picks Up Game as Tigers Lose to White Sox

Foxes' Attendance Down 35 Per Cent

Heavier Schedule Of Booster Events To Start Soon

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor
The Fox Cities Foxes are experiencing the slowest "gate" start in their 4-year history.

Despite their status as defending Three-T league champions and despite running 1-2-3 consistently in the current race, the Foxes, have drawn 35 per cent fewer patrons than they did at a comparable time in 1960.

In 14 home dates, the Foxes' attendance has averaged only 591 compared to 911 last year.

During their first three home games, the Foxes were plagued with atrocious weather — and their attendance decline was almost universally attributed to it.

Admit Disappointment
However, during most of the just-concluded home stay, the baseball weather was on the "excellent" side. Yet, for six of the nine games, the draw was less than 500.

This has prompted Foxes officials to start wondering. They admit disappointment but are not necessarily gloomy over future prospects. It has been pointed out that there were no promotions or special events during the home stand — and they seem to be a "must" for good attendance.

Also, it is thought, the long holiday and various graduations may have made considerable demands on fans' time and finances.

The next home stand — starting Sunday — should provide a good indication of what can be expected the rest of the year, according to General Manager Bob Willis.

At least, two booster games are planned (the St. Joseph - St. Therese Holy Name Night June 12 and the Dairy and 4-H Night June 15. If events such as these don't stimulate attendance, there could be some rough sailing ahead.

Actually, much of the 4,489 deficit — compared to last year — can be traced to the unfavorable weather that hampered the two biggest first-month promotions: Opening day and Northside Advancement Association night.

The "big 2" drew only an aggregate of 3,091 spectators this year. For the same two events, the total draw in other years was: 5,955 in 1960; 9,627 in 1959; and 8,859 in 1958.

Dykes ruled out the big pots to make sure the Tribe kept their minds on baseball, and the Indians have done just that. Out of the first division just one day this season, they've stacked the bullpen with aces and have come from seven games back by winning 19 of their last 23.

The three-man fireman brigade of right-handers Frank Funk and Barry Latman and lefty Bob Allen has a 13-3 record. With seven saves tacked on, those three have been in on 20 of Cleveland's 31 victories.

Seventh in Row
Latman, acquired in the Herb Score deal with the Chicago White Sox last year, nailed a 4-0 record and hung up the Indians' seventh in a row Monday night, breaking a 5-5 tie with a triple and blanking Washington in four innings of two-hit relief for a 7-5 victory over the Senators.

That put the Indians even with front-running Detroit in the decisive "lost" column as the White Sox knocked off the Tigers 8-0 behind the seven-bit pitching of Frank Baumann. Third-place New York drew within four games of the top with a 6-1 and 6-2 twin-night doubleheader sweep over the Minnesota Twins. The Los Angeles Angels dropped fourth-place Baltimore 3-0 on southpaw Ron Moeller's six-hitter.

Kansas City split a doubleheader at Boston, winning 10-6 after the Red Sox had won the opener 6-2.

Latman Triples
The Indians, after blowing 3-0 and 5-3 leads behind starter Johnny Antonelli and Bobby Locke, finally made it with two unearned runs in the seventh at Washington against losing reliever John Gabler (2-2). Latman's two-out triple triggered the rally and gave the bullpen three victories and three saves in the Tribe's seven-game streak.

Cleveland collected 15 hits — including a 4-for-4 show by the three pitchers — with Jimmy Pier-

Foxes Divide With Burlington, Lose Half-Game in Race

Liggett's Hit Wins Opener, 8-7; Scott Hurls Runless Relief Ball

BURLINGTON, Iowa — The second-place Fox Cities Foxes dropped 1½ games off Cedar Rapids' Three-T League pace Monday night by splitting a free-scoring doubleheader with Burlington.

The Foxes won the 7-inning opener, 8-7, on Jim Liggett's tie-breaking single in the fifth. The Bees swarmed back to take the 9-inning nightcap, 8-6.

Flashy fielding by Burlington in the ninth inning thwarted the Foxes' threat to pull out the second game. With the Foxes trailing, 8 - 6, Frank Montgomery walked and Joe Pulliam singled.

Zeegers Hurls 1-Hit Victory Over Green Bay

Appleton Legion '9' Opens Campaign With 11-0 Victory

Paul Zeegers hurls a 1-hitter Monday night as the Appleton Junior Legion baseball team opened its season with an 11-0 victory over 1960 state Junior League champion Green Bay at Goodland Field.

Zeegers yielded a lead-off single to Dick Schaut in the first inning and then hurled hitless ball the rest of the way. Zeegers struck out 13 and walked four. He also whacked three hits in four at-bats.

Appleton's next start is against Neenah at Goodland Field tonight, with Wayne Trindler starting for the hosts in the 6 p.m. contest. Appleton visits Green Bay Wednesday.

Appleton took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first when Bill Hopkins, who had three hits in five at-bats, scored on an error. The hosts added six runs in the fourth. Jim Woller's 3-run double was the big blow.

Monday's loser was Hollis Buell, who worked 3 and 2-3 innings, leaving in the 6-run fourth. Attendance was 152.

Detroit Obtains Woodeshick for Chuck Cottier

CHICAGO (AP) — The American League leading Detroit Tigers, pressed for pitching help, Monday acquired southpaw Hal Woodeshick from the Washington Senators for infielder Chuck Cottier.

Woodeshick, 29, had a 3-2 record for the new Senators this season, two of the victories coming over the New York Yankees.

Cottier, 25, has been used sparingly as a utility infielder with Detroit. He came to the Tigers during the winter from the Milwaukee Braves. Cottier was batting .286 in 10 games for Detroit.

Pick Jay NL's Top Player For May

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joey Jay, king of May, found June out of tune for a few moments Monday night.

The Cincinnati Reds' pitcher won six games without a defeat last month, and Monday was named the National League's player of the month for May.

May's first June start Monday and in the first inning, he old Milwaukee teammates Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock slammed Jay's offerings for home runs among four hits that got the Reds off to a 3-0 lead.

But Jay got back in gear then and yielded just one hit and no runs over the next six innings. The Reds eventually won 5-3 but Jay left for a pinch hitter in the seventh with his side still trailing.

In May, he worked 50 innings and allowed 32 hits while walking 14. His earned run average was 2.70 and he struck out 38 batters.

Braves Sign 'Dixie' Walker's Son to Cedar Rapids Contract

CINCINNATI (AP) — Notebook writers and enforcing Dressen's cuttings with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves have outbid several other major league clubs for Dave Cosgrove, a 18-year-old right-handed pitcher from Houston, Tex. Cosgrove was signed for a hefty bonus Monday to a contract with Milwaukee's Cedar Rapids farm club in the Class B Three-I League. He then was optioned to Wellsville in the Class D New York-Pennsylvania League.

Catcher Del Crandall was left at home to nurse his ailing right arm when the Braves left for Cincinnati. Crandall, who has been sidelined since April 20 and hasn't thrown a ball because of doctor's orders since May 19, may pick up the team this weekend in Chicago.

Left fielder Frank Thomas' single in the first inning of Monday night's game against the Reds extended his hitting streak to 11 games. He has hit 308 for the Braves since being acquired from the Chicago Cubs for Mel Roach.

The Braves have signed Fred (Dixie) Walker Jr., son of the former major league star now a scout in the Milwaukee system, to a contract with Cedar Rapids in the Class B Three-I League. A 24-year-old right-handed pitcher, the younger Walker originally signed with the St. Louis Cardinals for a sizeable bonus, but was released this year.

Manager Claims McNeeley Will Meet Patterson

BOSTON (AP)—Manager Peter Fuller is sure his unbeaten heavy weight Tom McNeeley will meet champion Floyd Patterson in September, probably in Boston Garden.

"The fight will be held regardless of the promoter," Fuller said Monday. "But Sam Silverman knows how to handle the promotional end. He worked hard to get this match. He's even working with Cus D'Amato. Patterson's manager to build up Jose Torres as a local attraction against Paul Pender."

Patterson and D'Amato want Silverman in on the deal, but Championship Sports Inc. has Patterson under contract. That outfit says the McNeeley fight in Boston is okay for September.

White Sox and Baumann Record Series of Firsts

CHICAGO (AP) — It took the Chicago White Sox and Frank Baumann a lot of time to record a series of "firsts" when they whipped the Detroit Tigers 8-0, Monday night.

It was the first shutout by a White Sox pitcher this season, the first Sox victory over Detroit in 1961 and the first time this year that a left-hander has gone the distance against the Tigers.

Baumann was not only a pitcher in limiting the Tigers to seven hits — one in the last four innings — he also turned out to be a hitter and base runner.

Baumann cracked out three hits, drove in three runs and also stole a base. Jim Landis rapped out four hits while Luis Aparicio and Minnie Minoso had two each. Aparicio also had two stolen bases to boost his total to 14 — tops in the majors.

Union Plans To Buy Stock In Transit Firm

$1 Million Expense Will Give Control In Bus Line Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—The Transport Workers Union plans to pay a big fare—one million dollars—in order to have a say on who sits in the driver's seat of the Fifth Avenue Coach Lines Inc.

TWU President Michael J. Quill announced Monday the union hopes to acquire voting control of $1 million of the company's stock through investment of union funds and stock purchases by union members.

Purpose of the move, Quill said, is to give the union a voice in a stockholders' battle for control of the company, largest privately owned transit system in the nation. It operates a number of routes in addition to those on Fifth Avenue.

Already Has Stock

The TWU already has bought some stock, the union president said. He declined to say how much.

Union members will be asked to buy stock at a "save your job" meeting of Fifth Avenue coach employees tonight.

Quill declared that no matter who wins the stockholder's fight "the layoff of one employee by any group of these greedy stock manipulators will force us to strike the entire system on the grounds of violation of contract."

The fiery Irish-born labor leader noted that, at present market prices, a million dollars of Fifth Avenue Coach stock would give the union voting rights to nearly 50,000 shares.

Challenging Control

A group headed by Harry Weinberg of Scranton, Pa., is challenging the present Fifth Avenue management for control in the courts. The group, through the Dal-Tran Service Co. of Dallas, claims the present management is "illegally perpetuating itself" in office.

Dal-Tran, which says it owns 50,000 shares of the company's stock, charges mismanagement and has sued in State Supreme Court to oust or curb the present officers.

Quill said his union is "not taking sides" in the stockholder's fight and does not plan to buy control of the company and its subsidiaries.

The object of the proposed stock purchase, he said, is to give the union a voice in stockholder's meetings.

Trend Uneven On Exchange

Averages Slightly On Upside During Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — A patchwork of small plus and minus signs left the stock market in an irregular pattern early this afternoon. If there was any trend either way, it was upward.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .30 at 252.40, just below its record closing high achieved last month. Industrials were up .20, rails up .30 and utilities up .20.

Steels were lower. Trading was moderately active. Wide movers were few and far between, although Woolworth moved up another 3% and Standard Oil of California rose 1%.

Chemicals were strong, with Air Reduction up 1 1/2 and other leading issues fractionally higher. Rubbers also moved up small amounts, but other industry groups were pretty well scrambled.

Boeing was off 2 1/4. U.S. Gypsum failed to rally from a 1 1/2 loss, International Harvester was down a point, Kennecott down a like amount and Sundstrand off 2 1/4.

Most electronics were fractionally higher. Small gains were numerous among rails and tobaccos. One-eighth changes up and down were the rule among motors.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.86 at 705.29. Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds advanced.

May Top Sales Month for New Car Dealers

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's auto dealers sold more new cars in May than in any previous month this year. The daily selling rate also was the highest of 1961.

The five automakers reported Monday that May sales totaled 537,825 cars with a daily sales rate of 20,686.

Last month's upturn failed to match the pace of May 1960 when sales totaled 566,650 and the daily rate was 22,665.

Sales had been lagging nearly 100,000 units per month below 1960, but the gap was cut to less than 30,000 in May.

American Motors reported sales of 33,515 compared with 31,006 in April. AMC said its daily selling rate in the last 10 days of May was the highest for any similar period since last June.

HOW I LICKED THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

By a Wall Street Journal Subscriber

High prices and taxes were keeping me broke. I simply had to earn more money or reduce expenses.

One day I picked up a copy of The Wall Street Journal. In the pages of that remarkable newspaper I found immediate help. An article on building supplies gave me ideas on remodeling my home and showed me how to save $900. Another article showed me a profit-making opportunity.

I sent for a Trial Subscription to The Journal. I heeded its warnings. I cashed in on the ideas it gave me. Articles on food and clothing helped me cut expenses. Articles on taxes guided me on what to do to keep my taxes down. Now I'm slowly forging ahead.

This experience is typical. The Journal is a wonderful aid to salaried men making $7,500 to $25,000. It is valuable to the owner of a small business. It can be of priceless benefit to young men who want to win advancement.

The Wall Street Journal is the complete business DAILY. Has largest staff of writers on business and finance. The only business paper served by all three big press associations. It costs $24 a year, but you can get a Trial Subscription for three months for $7. Just tear out this ad and attach check for $7 and mail. Or tell us to bill you.

Published daily right in the Midwest to bring you vital business and Washington news immediately. Address: The Wall Street Journal, 711 W. Monroe St., Chicago 6, Ill.

Local Schools Major Factor To Research

Corporations Rate Potential Locations
On School Systems

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — If your community wants to attract a research laboratory, look to the quality of your school system. That can rate higher even than tax concessions or special zoning grants when a corporation is seeking a location.

That's the finding of an industrial design and construction concern that also helps business firms find suitable building sites.

Valuable Assets

And many communities vie in seeking a research laboratory as a top drawer type of industrial construction. The buildings tend to be clean, neat and attractive. Equally important to the community, the employees are comparatively high salaried.

How do corporations choose a site for such facilities? What do they ask of the communities? Why have so many tended to cluster in suburbs of such centers as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco?

Schools Important

First consideration is a good local school system and nearness to a university where research personnel can keep in touch with progress in their fields. So says Frank L. Whitney, vice president of engineering for Walter Kidde Constructors Inc. of New York, which has designed research facilities for Sperry Rand, Warner-Lambert, Westinghouse Electric, Shell Chemical, Schering, General Electric, General Time, and the Atomic Energy Commission.

The Kidde organization has a point system for evaluating competing sites when scouting around for a client.

The most points for any of the 28 categories go to local education. That's because research personnel rates the school setup highest, and corporations have found they must offer these inducements to attract top scientists and engineers—and to hold them.

Point System

The system calls for a maximum of 1,000 points of which 550 can be earned by the community itself and the remaining 450 by the specific site. Topping the community rating is a maximum of 130 points for local education.

What makes a local school system look good under this judging method? First is how many pupils to one teacher. No points are given if there are more than 35 pupils to a teacher.

Next is how many dollars spent per pupil for teaching purposes; then the caliber of the school and college preparatory program, the percentage of the student body enrolled in that program, and the record of the schools in placing graduates in outstanding colleges and universities.

Other factors, but scoring less points, are the size of the school system, condition of the physical plant and number of private and parochial schools in the area.

As for the site itself, the most weighty factor is the cost of land and construction; then utility and shipping costs; and finally zoning regulations and tax and other inducements that reveal the community's attitude toward industry.

UW President Says U.S. Aid Tries Half-Hearted

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Dr. Conrad A. Elvehjem, president of the University of Wisconsin, said Sunday that attempts of the United States to assist underdeveloped countries are "half-hearted efforts, considering the magnitude of the need."

Elvehjem spoke to 450, 1961 graduates of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee during commencement exercises.

The idea of the Land Grant Act of 1861, which gave federal support to higher education, should be extended to the "far reaches of the world," Elvehjem told the graduates. He said the education made available through the land grant tradition "did much to make ours the rich, independent and free nation that it is today."

Caught in Crossfire

Citizens of the underdeveloped nations, Elvehjem said, are "caught in a crossfire of ideologies" with neither of the two sides offering the emerging peoples much help with "sustenance for the mind and spirit—education and individual recognition."

"Our own nation is broadening, to some extent, its educational exchanges, and proposes now to implement the peace corps," Elvehjem said. "But at best, these are half-hearted efforts considering the magnitude of the need."

Gov. Gaylord Nelson greeted the graduates on behalf of the state.
